GREEN'S APPEAL FOR TEST OF DRY LAW IS LAUDED

State's Rights Plea Wins Praise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—[Special.]—Legislators are still talking about the speech made by Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford in leading the fight for his anti-Volstead resolution which was passed by the house yesterday by a vote of 80 to 52.

LEROY M. GREEN.

Because of the racket in the chamber, due largely to the wets themselves rather than to the drys, the press gallery caught only the high spots of the forceful appeal for a counter attack upon congressional invasion of the state's rights under the cloak of the eighteenth amendment. But a stenographic report of a large part of the speech, which is considered one of the most memorable of this session, was obtained today.

The Green resolution, which still requires action by the senate where its chances are exceedingly slim, seeks to direct Attorney General Carlstrom to institute proceedings aimed to bring about a Supreme court decision that the states of the Union did not in ratifying the eighteenth amendment transfer to the federal congress their inherent police powers to regulate and control medicinal liquor, industrial alcohol, sacramental wine and nonintoxicating beverages. Congress has assumed jurisdiction over all of these.

Purpose Plainly Stated.

The available text of Representative Green's speech follows:

"Mr. Speaker and members of the house: The resolution which you have before you is plain to the understanding of those who have studied it. The gist of the resolution is embodied in the last section thereof, wherein it is stated that:

"'Be it resolved by the house of representatives of the state of Illinois, the senate concurring therein, that the attorney general of the state of Illinois be, and he hereby is, instructed to institute proceedings in the Supreme court of the United States or in such other tribunal as in his judgment may be proper, with a view of restoring to the state of Illinois, and to the people thereof, the exclusive exercise of the police power of said state as applied to the manufacture, sale and transportation in intrastate commerce of medicinal liquor, sacramental wine, industrial alcohol, and nonintoxicating beverages.'

Distribution of Powers Clear.

"For an interpretation of this resolution let us look first to the wording of the eighteenth amendment itself. Therein we find, after the preliminary statement in regard to the traffic in liquors, these words, which are the gist of the amendment itself: 'Beverage liquors which are intoxicating.'

"Now, gentlemen of the house, it is a well known fact from a constitutional standpoint that the federal government may exercise only such powers as may be granted to it by the states, and all such powers not granted, therefore, remain in the states.

"The second provision of the eighteenth amendment itself permits congress to provide for the enforcement of the amendment by appropriate legislation. Under that clause congress has seen fit to assume to itself the power not only to prohibit beverage liquors which are intoxicating in fact, but to regulate or prohibit also medicinal, sacramental, industrial liquors, and beverages not in fact intoxicating. It is our contention that this is a usurpation of the police power of the state.

Dred Scott Case Similar.

"It will be said by opponents of this resolution that the courts have passed upon this question and that we, therefore, are foreclosed from raising any objections thereto. Such argument is not new. It was raised by the supporters of the Dred Scott decision when that decision was challenged as political and not judicial.

"As showing our right to pursue the course suggested in this resolution, I desire to read to you from the speech of none other than the immortal Lincoln the comments which he made on the Dred Scott decision, which are directly in point upon this question. Mr. Lincoln said, in answer

GIANT AIRSHIP MAKES 600 MILE HOP IN 9 HOURS

Flight from France Uneventful.

Poised for Race

A French and an American plane last night were poised on the beach at Old Orchard, Me., waiting for favorable weather reports to start their Atlantic flights. The former's destination is Paris, while the American machine will head for Rome.

As both needed only fair weather to get under way a trans-Atlantic race was deemed a certainty.

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 24.—The Graf Zeppelin arrived at 4:36 a. m. today from Cuers-Pierrefeu, France. The giant dirigible took refuge there last week when compelled by motor trouble to turn back on her proposed trip to America.

With the light of a full moon illuminating her path, the Graf Zeppelin came home favored by wind and weather.

Merry Time on Board.

The stretch between Cuers and Geneva was covered in less than five hours. A merry time was spent on board, according to private messages radioed here, and the French officers who flew as Dr. Eckener's guests proclaimed the trip as the event of their lives.

Capt. Lehmann has promised them a jolly time in Germany. At 9:30 last evening the ship's cook served "hot dogs."

By 5:25 a. m. the giant dirigible had been safely berthed in its hangar. Mrs. Mary Pierce, who was the only woman on the Zeppelin when the dirigible started for Lakehurst last week and who was a passenger from Cuers, declared that she was ready to go again when the airship attempted another trip to America.

Frenchmen Enthusiastic.

The four French naval aviation officers who were aboard as the guests of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the commander, were most enthusiastic, saying that the flight up the Rhone valley and across to Friedrichshafen had been "excellent." Reichswehr officers gave them a welcome on their arrival.

The freight and mail was left on the dirigible while it was put in the hangar.

The Zeppelin officers announced that the ship had done 100 kilometers (62.1 miles) an hour on the night flight, with four motors. The rear motor gondola was empty.

Passengers Remain on Ship.

Most of the passengers refused to leave the field and go to bed, preferring to stay and see the sun rise and join in the merriment attending the safe arrival of the great silver airship.

The French officers are the private guests of the Zeppelin works, but no official program has been arranged for them yet. The police chief will take them on a motor boat trip around Lake Constance and permission will be sought to show them the Dornier airplane works.

PERFECT TAKEOFF

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CUERS-PIERREFEU, France, May 23.—The Graf Zeppelin got off without a hitch from Cuers airport at 8:15 p. m., with Dr. Hugo Eckener in command and twenty passengers aboard.

Skillfully led by Commandant Hamon, who was also a passenger, 700 soldiers and sailors hauled the dirigible out of the hangar and jockeyed it into position in less than a quarter of an hour. Despite their lack of experience in handling a ship of such dimensions they performed their duty perfectly after a morning rehearsal.

Dr. Eckener arrived at Toulon at 5 p. m., having driven by auto from Marseilles. After paying calls on the mayor, prefect, and other officials he hurried to the field, where the passengers were waiting. Among those on the ship is Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York.

Dumps Part of Water Supply.

As soon as he learned everything was shipshape, Dr. Eckener gave the order to start immediately after sunset. The passengers were weighed; then it was found necessary to dump part of the water supply. The mechanics then climbed into the side cars and warmed up the engines. When a general O. K. had been passed around

Death Takes Mrs. Julius Rosenwald

Mrs. Augusta Nusbaum Rosenwald, wife of Julius Rosenwald, Chicago capitalist, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in her home, 4901 Ellis avenue, after a serious illness of several months. For the last few days her condition had been so critical that a zone of quiet was maintained about the house by order of the health department. She was 60 years old.

For more than two years, ever since she underwent an operation in 1927 for the removal of a cancer, Mrs. Rosenwald had not enjoyed good health. During the last year she had been almost constantly under the care of Dr. Maurice L. Goodkind, who with Dr. Alfred Strauss was attending her at the time of her death.

Husband at Her Bedside.

At her bedside when she passed away were her husband, to whom she was married in Chicago in 1890, and three of her five children, William R. Rosenwald of Philadelphia, Mrs. David M. Levy of New York, and Mrs. Alfred K. Stern of Ravinia. Two other children, Mrs. Edgar B. Stern of New Orleans and Lessing Rosenwald of Philadelphia, were on their way to Chicago.

Lessing Rosenwald, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., arrived in Los Angeles, Cal., yesterday to visit his company's stores on the west coast. Two hours later, having received a telegram telling him of his mother's danger, he was returning to Chicago.

Born in Plattsburg, N. Y.

Mrs. Rosenwald was born in Plattsburg, N. Y. She was married to Mr. Rosenwald five years after he arrived in Chicago and started a mercantile business. Her life during the last thirty-nine years had been largely a reflection of the interests and enthusiasms of her husband. She was active in club work of a wide scope and shared her husband's interest in and frequently his trips to Tuskegee institute, of which he is a trustee.

Her philanthropies included the establishment of a fund to provide day nurseries for colored children.

Her chief interest, however, was the Girl Scout movement, which had her assistance and coöperation over a period of years. In this organization Mrs. Rosenwald held the office of national vice president.

Creates Industrial Workshops.

Mrs. Rosenwald created the Jewish industrial workshops which were later absorbed in the Jewish United Charities. In addition to her philanthropic enterprises she was known as a patron of the arts. She donated several prizes for paintings and other artistic works.

In a recent autobiographical sketch, Julius Rosenwald paid tribute to his wife in describing his attitude toward his great fortune. Explaining why he believed that such fortunes should be spent for the benefit of the present generation rather than tying them up in trust funds, he described the simplicity of his home life, which he declared had varied little since his marriage, and told of his contentment in his domestic arrangements, as controlled by Mrs. Rosenwald.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until the other members of the family arrive. The Rosenwalds are members of the Sinai congregation, so it is thought probable the services will be held there, with burial probably at Rosehill cemetery.

Young T. R. Accepts Post in Porto Rico

[Chicago Tribune News Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 23.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. has accepted the governorship of Porto Rico, according to his brother Kermit, who passed through here today aboard the Dollar line steamer President McKinley, en route to San Francisco, Cal.

Kermit declared he had had a cable today from young T. R., who with C. S. Cutting of New York is remaining in Indo-China another month in order to complete their collection of trophies with specimens of the animals, birds and reptiles of central Asia, in which he said he had been offered the post by President Hoover, and had accepted it.

(An Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D. C., last night confirmed the fact that Col. Roosevelt had been offered and had accepted the post. The offer was communicated to him in the wilds of Indo-China.)

Carries Panda's Skeleton.

Thus young Roosevelt advances another step along the path traveled by his famous parent, who before he became President was a colonel, a governor, and an assistant secretary of the navy.

Closely guarded in Kermit's baggage as he arrived here is the skin and skeleton of a giant panda, scheduled for presentation to the Field museum of Chicago.

The latter stated that the collection his brother and Cutting are now making will probably be presented to the Asiatic section of the Field museum. Kermit left before the rest of the expedition on account of business.

Is Seven Feet Long.

Tremendous interest was shown here in the specimen of the giant panda, which belong to the bear family and is classified under the scientific name "ailurupus melanoleucus." The animal is seven feet long, three feet high, and its fur is black and white, the saddle being white with additional white markings about the collar and eyes. It weighs more than 200 pounds.

2 High Soviet Officials Shot for Treason

MOSCOW, May 23.—(AP)—Three former aristocrats of the imperial and Kerensky régimes were executed today by a firing squad for obstructing communist operation of railways and the gold and platinum industry. This, under the soviet régime, constitutes counter revolutionary plotting for the restoration of capitalism.

The three men were Von Meck, former chairman and largest shareholder of the privately owned Moscow-Kazan railway; Velichko, former head of the transport department of the imperial staff during the world war; and Prof. Palchinsky, former assistant minister of trade and industry under Premier Alexander F. Kerensky and recently professor at the Leningrad Mining institute.

The first two were lately high officials of the soviet commissariat of communications. Prof. Palchinsky commanded the troops defending the winter palace in October, 1917.

Rykoff Resigns.

Other political events of more than passing importance to the future of the soviet union have transpired within the last few days.

Alexis Ivanovitch Rykoff has resigned his post as president of the council of people's commissars of the Russian socialist federal soviet republic, the principal soviet republic of the Russian soviet union.

M. Rykoff, however, still retains his post as president of the council of people's commissars of the union, or the union of socialist soviet republics.

This resignation has been announced at a time when the fifth all union congress of soviets was in session at the Grand theater, concerning itself with legislative measures and matters of future government policy. This congress, which meets annually, nominally is vested with the supreme power of the union.

Yesterday it instructed the government to take measures to strengthen the defenses of Russia while continuing its work in behalf of peace.

It unanimously approved the "government's policy" and its "unswerving struggle for peace which to some extent has removed the immediate danger of war."

Say Powers Build for War.

A resolution affirmed further that the rejection of the soviet disarmament proposals by the preparatory commission on disarmament at Geneva and the unwillingness of the governments there "to take even the smallest step in reduction of armaments confirms that these states, notwithstanding their obligations under the Kellogg pact, are really building their entire policy on preparation for a new war."

Samuel Rosoff, New York contractor, has left Moscow for Vienna and other European capitals to discuss the financing of municipal construction work, including subways and water works in Moscow on a big scale.

Executed by Firing Squad.

KOVNO, Lithuania, May 24.—(AP)—A student named Vosylius, sentenced to death yesterday for the recent attempt on the life of Premier Waldemaras, was executed by a firing squad at sunrise today. After sentence he confessed a share in the crime and implicated certain of his friends as accomplices, among them a student named Gudelis, who, he alleged, was the prime mover in the plot.

The premier and Mme. Waldemaras escaped injury when a fusillade of shots fired at them struck four of their party as they were entering a theater.

HARVARD CLUB MEMBER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Cincinnati, O., May 23.—[Special.]—The annual reünion of the Associated Harvard Clubs here was marred tonight by the apparent suicide of one of its members, Alfred Stern, 25, president of a realty company and a nephew of Mayor Seasongood, who was to have been toastmaster at the banquet.

Roumanian Banker Drops Dead Dining in College Inn

He was with Louis Kaufman, a banker at 134 North La Salle street, at a table, when he fell in a faint. Before a physician could arrive he was dead. Sigmund had been a guest at the Drake hotel since last Wednesday.

DRY ENFORCER AT NIAGARA IS FREED BY JURY

Shot Man Admitted to Be Innocent.

Rochester, N. Y., May 23.—[Special.]—The federal court jury trying Coast Guardsman Glenn Jennings for manslaughter in connection with the killing of Jacob D. Hanson on the early morning of May 6, 1928, brought in a verdict of not guilty late tonight after deliberating 12 hours.

The jury was given the case early this afternoon after Jennings had heard himself branded by Niagara County Prosecutor Raymond Knowles as a "thug who never gave his victim a chance for his life."

In handing its verdict to the court the jury also submitted the following in writing: "This jury recommends that greater care be exercised in the use of firearms in stopping of vehicles on the public highway."

Right to Stop Autos.

U. S. District Judge John R. Hazel, in charging the jury, declared that coast guardsmen and customs officials have a right to stop, search, and seize vessels on the high seas and vehicles on the land.

"That is," he added, "if such vehicles or vessels are suspected of carrying contraband merchandise. These officers may use all necessary force to make the pilot of a ship or the driver of a car comply with their signals.

"Hanson was not detected in the commission of a felony, but the defense wishes the jury to infer that by his failure to stop he created the impression he was smuggling contraband. It is not important why he did not stop. It is hard to understand why he did not, but it is claimed by the defense that the chief point at issue is the fact that he did so fail."

Richard H. Templeton, United States attorney, who conducted the defense, made a second summation today, reiterating his contention that the shot which ultimately killed Hanson was not a direct hit but a ricocheted bullet.

What Prosecutor Said.

Prosecutor Knowles in summing up said: "Jennings was and is a thug. He never gave Hanson a chance for his life. I don't give a rap whether Hanson was killed by a ricocheted bullet, a direct hit, or by any other kind of shot. That is not the issue.

"I don't care a tinker's rap what happens to Jennings after his conviction. I don't care if the court gives him a long term, a short term, a 30 day term, a $10 fine or a suspended sentence. I want the principle of this thing established.

"Jennings had absolutely no reason to suspect Hanson was a bootlegger or an agent for one, that he was an alien smuggler, a narcotic smuggler, a diamond smuggler or any other kind of criminal.

"All this defendant saw on the hill that night were Hanson's headlights. Then, without any warning, he fired five shots in Hanson's car. The first bullet struck the windshield, pierced Hanson's eye, blinding him, paralyzing him and finally killing him.

Might Have Been Children.

"Women and children might have been in that car without any chance for their lives. It was a trap. Dew, another coast guardsman at the bottom of the hill, fired four shots into the ground across the road. If he failed to stop a car Jennings was stationed near the top of the hill to halt it—with bullets.

"Jennings had no more right to hide behind the skirts of the United States government than any other thug. There has been a lot of flag waving by the defense, but Jennings is not the kind of man the government can be proud of. He did not personify the United States government when he stood in the road, as Mr. Templeton said in his summation, and fired into that car. He was merely a careless, reckless and culpably negligent man committing a careless, reckless, and culpably negligent act."

OF NATION-WIDE INTEREST

The Hanson case has been almost continually before the public since the shooting of the Buffalo business man in the early morning of May 6, 1928,

Jennings fired the shots which resulted in his victim's blindness and eventual death. Jennings was on highway patrol duty on the lookout for liquor runners backed by shoot to kill orders for cars which aroused his suspicions and failed to stop.

No Rum in Hanson Car.

Hanson, on his way back from Lewiston, where he had been attending a lodge meeting, encountered Jennings on lonely Lewiston hill, a favorite spot for highwaymen. He mistook Jennings and Chris Dew, another liquor patrol member, for highwaymen and sped on when they commanded him to stop. The shooting followed.

There was no liquor found in Hanson's car. Hanson, secretary of the Niagara Falls lodge of Elks, was not a drinking man and bore a sterling reputation in the community.

The highhanded methods of the coast guardsmen and their apparent disregard for lives of travelers on the public highway aroused intense indignation in Buffalo and throughout the nation.

The federal government immediately came to the defense of the coast guardsmen.

Transferred back to U. S. Court.

The first step of the government was to transfer the case to the federal courts over the vigorous protest of the state.

The first trial of Jennings was held at Elmira, N. Y., last January. It resulted in a disagreement.

Jennings admitted shooting Hanson. The state prosecutor maintained it was an ambuscade. Jennings testified he thought Hanson was a bootlegger. Testimony disclosed that the coast guardsman had fired a shot point blank at the car as it approached him, two more shots as it passed, and two more after it passed.

Had Uniforms Hidden.

State's Attorney Knowles put in evidence to the effect that Jennings shot into Hanson's car recklessly and without justification. He showed, by statements from Jennings and his partner, Christ Dew, that both men had their uniforms hidden. He contended Hanson was justified in believing the coast guardsmen robbers, and he showed Hanson had not a drop of liquor in his car.

The theory propounded by the defense, through United States Attorney Templeton, was that Jennings was required by law to do the shooting. "It was actually required of Jennings and Dew by congress to do what they did."

Lieut. Clifford D. Feak, assistant intelligence officer of the United States coast guard at Washington, who was put on the stand as an expert witness, testified that dry agents are not justified in shooting citizens they suspect of bootlegging or smuggling, but they legally may shoot into an automobile to disable or stop it, and if they happen to kill the driver it is "unfortunate."

A Regrettable Incident.

In Washington a similar attitude was taken by Dr. James Doran, commissioner of prohibition, who spoke of Hanson's killing as "a regrettable incident" and said Jennings was doing only what the law directs.

After the jury disagreement Prosecutor Knowles endeavored to have the retrial of the case set for Buffalo. The government insisted, however, that a fair trial could not be had in that city and succeeded in having it set for Rochester.

Only as Last Resort.

During the first trial of the case last January Judge Hazel called attention to a previous federal court decision in a New York case in which a federal agent killed a man in an automobile under practically the same conditions as those under which Hanson was shot. It was as follows:

"Before the use of firearms is justified, these things should obtain: The customs officer should plainly see or have excellent reason to believe that the automobile contains goods brought by it over the border. He should be sure that the operator of the automobile knows the official character of the officer and sees his signal to stop.

"It should be clear that the motorist willfully and definitely refuses to stop and seeks to escape, regardless of the officer in uniform or his signal to stop. There must be no other means available of stopping the automobile, arresting the operator, and seizing the smuggled goods."

Spain Asks Death for 7 Officers Who Mutinied

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 23.—The king's prosecutor in the court martial at Ciudad Real of 37 officers of the 1st artillery regiment, which mutinied on Jan. 30, has asked for seven executions, life imprisonment in fourteen cases, and prison terms varying in length from ten to twenty years for the rest.

U. S. Dodges State Courts in Fish Rum Search Suit

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—Customs officials here revealed this afternoon they were afraid to take a chance in a state court. The suit for $3,000 damages brought by Stuyvesant Fish, owner of the yacht Restless, which was raided by liquor snoopers on March 30 under the lights of the Statue of Liberty, has been transferred from New York Supreme court to the United States District court by Presidential order.

An armful of papers, including the transcript of Mr. Fish's statement that the men held up the yacht and its occupants at the point of a pistol and cursed them as they searched, and that of United States Customs Inspector Louis M. Brophy, in command of the customs patrol launch Liberty, declaring there was no gun play nor profanity during the raid, were filed in the federal building.

Trial Due in Fall.

Carruthers Ewing, attorney for Mr. Fish, had no comment to make on the switch to federal jurisdiction.

"Yes, I have been advised of the change," said Mr. Ewing, "but it is not likely the case will be brought to trial before autumn."

The order directing the transfer begins with the mandate of "the President of the United States of America" and bears the words: "Witness, William H. Taft, chief justice, United States Supreme court."

The only federal official whose signature appears on the transfer order is Alexander Gilchrist, federal court clerk for the southern district of New York.

At United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle's office it was explained that under the federal law damage suits brought against government employés for acts in the performance of official duties shall be transferred to the United States court upon application of the defendant.

Brophy Asks Transfer.

In the Fish suit, it was learned at Mr. Tuttle's office, Samuel C. Coleman, chief of the civil division in this district, filed Brophy's petition for a transfer several weeks ago.

Mr. Fish in his complaint alleged that Brophy and several of his associates held up his yacht Restless in upper New York bay, boarded the vessel, and placed Mr. Fish and women members of his family under restraint at pistol point. Mr. Fish further alleged the searchers were abusive, even after they found there was no liquor on the yacht.

Brophy in his answer denies all the allegations save that the Restless was boarded in New York bay.

JONES LAW OFFENDER IS GIVEN 30 DAYS IN JAIL AND FINED $100

Instead of five years in the penitentiary and a $10,000 fine, the first Jones law offender in this district to be found guilty by a jury was given 30 days in jail and a $100 fine by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday.

The defendant, Michael Cesareno, 1314 South Talman avenue, had a still in his home, according to Assistant United States District Attorney Joseph A. Struett, who prosecuted. It was shown by the defense that the man was a widower and the father of nine children, the oldest of whom is 14.

JUDGE HUMBLES GOLDING, TOUGH U. S. DRY ACE

"Hard Boiled One" Gets Sharp Setback.

Providence, R. I., May 23.—[Special.]—Characterizing the conduct of prohibition agents under the government's prohibition ace, Capt. George E. [Hardboiled] Golding, as "an exhibition of lawlessness on the part of agents which will not be tolerated in this district," Federal Judge Ira Lloyd Letts this afternoon dismissed charges of illegal possession and transportation of liquor against Israel H. Luber of Pawtucket. Judge Letts also granted the motion of Luber's attorney, Daniel T. Hagen, to suppress evidence which Golding had gathered in the search of Luber's automobile. Golding was formerly a dry agent at Chicago.

Holds Search Illegal.

Lack of proper search warrant to stop and search Luber's automobile, cellar, and garage was the reason given by the court for granting the motion to dismiss. Golding appeared as a witness at the hearing under a subpoena, the first that has ever been issued against a federal prohibition agent so far as federal officials recall. After Golding had told of the search of Luber's automobile, Judge Letts said:

"The premises had been forcefully entered and the car searched when there was no odor of alcohol to be detected."

Court Grills Golding.

Judge Letts said the agent had no warrant to justify a search of the Luber premises. The court asked Golding if he did not know the law.

Golding testified he had searched Luber's automobile as it was backing out from the driveway and that upon finding alcohol in the car he had entered the garage, which is in the cellar of the house, and there found more liquor and a cutting plant.

He denied the testimony of Luber that he had searched the defendant's person and taken a bunch of keys through which he gained entrance to the house. Golding testified that the garage door was unlocked and the use of a key unnecessary.

RUN SALOON AFTER OWNER IS KILLED; JAILED

Because they continued to operate a saloon after the owner had died, turning the profits minus their salaries over to the owner's widow each week, August Wiechen and Edward Malloy were sent to the county jail to serve thirty days yesterday by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

The two explained that when Charles R. Rice was slain in his saloon at 5031 South Halsted street several months ago they remained in the business as bartenders and dispensed what they termed "an excellent stock of liquor," turning the profits over to Mrs. Rice. The saloon was raided a short time ago.

START BATTLE ON DOG TRACKS IN COURT TODAY

State Seeks to Dissolve Protecting Injunction.

Attorneys for the "dog track trust" will stage a fight today before Master in Chancery Max Korshak against attempts of the state to dissolve a Circuit court injunction protecting the business, which yields profits of approximately $4,500,000 yearly to the Al Capone, Bugs Moran, J. H. Ellis, and allied interests.

How the seven dog race tracks in the Chicago area have been reduced to three in two years by deft "muscling out" of certain owners by gangsters; how the tracks have worked a hardship on business men in certain areas; how money is bet by workingmen, steel workers, housewives, and young people out for a thrill; how the "take" is so high at some tracks that the bettors' chances are small—all this is expected to be told to the master in chancery by investigators for the state.

Injunction Over Year Old.

The injunction protecting the tracks from raids by the state's attorney or sheriff was issued more than a year ago by Judge Harry Fisher. It was allowed to rest in obscurity, although it was only a temporary order, after the case had been referred to the master. Today's hearing will be the first attempt made by the state to dissolve the injunction. Master Korshak will report his findings to Judge Fisher, who has the power to use his own discretion in deciding the matter.

Owners of the tracks will put up a bitter struggle to keep alive the profitable dog race business, it was predicted. Their investments in property total almost $1,000,000, it was revealed, and the daily "take" at each track averages $10,000 throughout a 100 day season, it is reported.

The operators, through their counsel, have taken the position that betting on the results of the races is no more gambling than betting on horse races, which is legalized by Illinois law. The betting is conducted under the same conditions. Large signs carrying the legend "No Betting" are posted at the tracks, but any one may step up to a window and bet from $2 up.

Roach Represents Tracks.

Attorney Joseph R. Roach will represent the tracks. He recently supplanted the law firm of Litsinger, Healy and Reid, of which Edward R. Litsinger, a leader in the Deneen faction and a member of the board of review, is head. Roach is now counsel for Health Commissioner Kegel and Virgil Litzinger.

Assistant State's Attorney Lee La Rochelle will act for the state. When questioned recently about the dog track injunction, Mr. La Rochelle said he didn't know anything about it and that State's Attorney Swanson would have to be seen. Mr. Swanson then declared that his men had been gathering evidence and would present it today.

These investigators found the Laramie Kennel club, 35th street and 52d avenue, and the Thornton track, 175th and Halsted streets, in full operation, with crowds of from 3,000 to 10,000 in nightly attendance. The Fairview track at Mannheim road and Irving Park boulevard will have an opening tomorrow night, it was announced.

Patrons from Poorer Classes.

The investigators found that the patrons of the tracks were drawn mainly from poorer class families. They heard stories about how the odds on the dogs are posted. Those acquainted at the tracks said that from 10 to 15 per cent of the total money bet was first deducted and that the odds on winning dogs were then adjusted to suit the track owners and that on some occasions the "take" runs much higher than the 15 per cent figure.

The Laramie club, controlled by the Capone gang, was said to be the most profitable of the tracks. The Thornton track is controlled by J. H. Ellis, brother of the Ellis known as the "Chicago Heights king," in whose garage 300 slot machines were found last winter.

Two years ago there were seven dog tracks in Chicago—at Riverview Park, Lyons, in the Lawndale district, and elsewhere. The gangsters soon discovered the big profits to be gained from this racket, it was revealed, and in approved methods frightened competitors out until the business is now a monopoly, with one track for the south, one for the west, and one for the north side.

LET CONGRESS FIX ITS RECESS DAY, PRESIDENT SAYS

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—President Hoover has informed congressional leaders he will be guided by their decision on the matter of a recess after the house passes the tariff bill and while it is before the senate finance committee for study.

The recess adjournment was discussed along with the general legislative situation by the President and Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader today at a breakfast conference.

Senator Watson said later the senate probably would recess for a month to six weeks. However, there is a growing movement in the senate for adjournment until September.

Senate and house conferees on the farm relief bill postponed their meeting today to allow house members to attend the Republican caucus on the tariff measure. This caucus adjourned without passing on a rule to govern consideration of the bill on the floor but a number of amendments were placed before the membership.

Diplomas for Nurses

Seventy-six women, students of the school of nursing at the Presbyterian hospital, were presented with diplomas yesterday at the annual spring commencement exercises at Sprague home, 1750 West Congress street. The presentation was made by Robert McDougal, president, following the commencement address by Miss Jane Addams of Hull house. Many of the graduates were holders of bachelor of arts degrees in universities or colleges.

Police last night were investigating a double explosion, believed to have been a powerful bomb, which wrecked two motor trucks early yesterday in the plant of the Good Humor Ice Cream company at 4649-51 Armitage avenue. The owners of the plant, T. L. Brimer and Thomas J. Brimer, said they had had no labor trouble and knew no reason why the plant would be bombed. The damage was estimated at $2,000.

GUNMEN KIDNAP HIS PASSENGER, CHAUFFEUR SAYS

Melville Oliver, a De Luxe taxicab driver of 9147 South Ashland avenue, rushed into the Grand Crossing police station early this morning and declared he had been pursued by machine gunners who kidnaped his passenger.

The passenger, apparently an Italian, hailed Oliver's cab at 63d street and Western avenue. In an excited voice he ordered Oliver to drive south.

At 74th street, as Oliver swerved east, he observed four men pursuing him in an expensive sedan, the cab driver said. He dodged south again on Champlain avenue, but at 75th court the sedan crowded him to the curb and three men got out. One held a machine gun and the other two had pistols, Oliver declared.

"For God's sake don't kill me, Ernie," Oliver heard his passenger plead.

The three men shouldered the passenger into the sedan, swung east on 76th street to Cottage Grove avenue, and from that corner south.

CO-ED'S CAPERS ON WORLD U. TOUR STIR FACULTY

Blame Management for Lax Discipline.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 23.—None of the mutinous students of the Greenbie floating university will be made to walk the plank after all, it developed today, when some additional light was shed on the management of the cruise.

So it is probable that the deep sea institute will keep its keel in the water, though perhaps not an even keel, until it reaches New York the second week in June aboard the steamer President Wilson.

Although desirous of expelling James Oliver Curwood Jr. and others who had the temerity to charge that they were gypped on the costly trip around the world, Sydney Greenbie of Amherst, Mass., and manager of the cruise, decided otherwise today. But his decision came too late to avoid something close to a knockdown and dragout fight in the Paris hotel across the street from THE TRIBUNE office, where the itinerant college is installed.

Students Back Curwood.

Fifty-seven out of ninety students signed a statement backing up Curwood's claim that the trip was badly managed. Some of the others threatened the president with rough treatment if he failed to show speed in indicating that they were not among the "contemptible guttersnipes who sought inspiration in liquor instead of the milk of human kindness," a phrase in which he classes the malcontents.

It developed today that the faculty of the floating university got together in Bangkok after a couple of riotous student celebrations in Canton and other oriental cities and drew up a long list of indictments against the management of the cruise, including Mrs. Greenbie's insistence on full freedom for the students.

Co-ed Cuts Gay Capers.

This policy had dire results, the faculty members say, and the memorandum drawn up by them in Bangkok told of a party in a bachelor's room in Canton where two members of the cruise smoked opium, and where, according to the report reaching faculty ears, one young co-ed cut gay capers.

The faculty complained because Mrs. Greenbie refused to restrict the liberty of the students.

So the faculty mutinied at Bangkok and tried to depose the president's wife. Somehow the matter was smoothed over, but a copy of their red hot report was acknowledged by Dr. E. A. Ross, professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. David Grey of Stanford to be a "rough memorandum" the faculty drew up anent the cruise management. Later they had decided to file it for future reference.

KEEP HOME LOCKED UP WHILE AWAY ON TRIP, POLICE CHIEF ADVISES

Fasten every door and window securely, Commissioner of Police Russell yesterday warned Chicagoans who are contemplating trips during the vacation season. His warning with suggestions for safeguarding property while away were contained in the weekly police bulletin which read as follows:

"Be sure that every door and window of your home is secured with strong locks. Try every door and window before you leave. Keep your shades up. Drawn shades advertise your absence. The outward appearance of your home or apartment should be the same as if you are at home.

"Valuables should not be left in the house when going away. Ask your neighbor to keep an occasional watch over your premises. Be sure to notify the policeman in your neighborhood that you are going away.

"Notify your newspaper carrier, milk man, or anybody that may deliver articles to withhold deliveries until you return. Accumulated newspapers or packages is an invitation for a thief to enter your home."

Japanese Woman Robbed of $1,250 Life Savings

For eight years Mrs. Kaka Matsahori, a Japanese, saved the money she earned on her boarding house at 1132 Bryn Mawr avenue. Her savings amounted to $1,250, she told Summerdale police last night, in reporting that on leaving her boarding house for a few minutes she returned to find the money and David Dale, a cook, both missing.

ETTELSON SOLVES PUZZLE: 40 DAYS' SALARY IN MONTH

It's for Lawyer on Five Hour Day Basis.

How a city employé can be paid for working forty days during a month which contains only thirty days was explained yesterday by Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson. The answer to the riddle was that the employé is a lawyer and that "some lawyers charge on a basis of a five hour working day." Thus ten hours of legal work would equal two days' pay.

The matter arose in connection with expenses incurred by the city in litigation against the Illinois Bell Telephone company. The expenses for April include a $4,000 item representing forty days' work by Special Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein. The item appears in a detailed statement of costs charged against one of the $50,000 appropriations to the council committee on gas-oil to be used in telephone matters.

The item read as follows: "Benjamin F. Goldstein, special counsel, $4,000 (for) April, 1929—40 days at $100 per day."

Works for 203 Hours.

An examination of the bill presented by Attorney Goldstein, which appears under the heading "Bills on hand not paid and not yet approved," revealed that he had worked 203 hours for the city during April. Some days the work continued for only three and one-half hours and on other days it ran as high as fourteen. However, on a five hour basis Mr. Goldstein could have demanded $60 more than he did, it was said.

One $50,000 appropriation to the gas-oil committee has been expended mainly for the services of attorneys and engineers in the federal court case by direction of Mr. Ettelson and Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the committee. The council later appropriated $150,000 to the committee to finance the litigation and gave another $50,000 to be used in negotiating a new franchise.

Lists Unpaid Claims.

Before the aldermen voted the $150,000 appropriation they were told that the $50,000 fund would be practically deleted by May 15. The books in the controller's office yesterday showed expenditures of only $14,655.15 and to explain the discrepancy Mr. Ettelson listed unpaid and unapproved bills of $26,040.85, bringing the expenses up to a total of $40,696 for the period ending May 1.

Payments to those employed in the litigation, according to the statement, are as follows:

George I. Haight and Edmund D. Adcock, special counsel	12,450.85
W. H. Crumb, telephone engineer	3,700.00
J. G. Wray & Co., appraisers	4,399.00
David T. Alexander, special counsel	937.48
Investigators	2,700.00
Smith & Hulse, stenographic services	199.75

Four vouchers and one unpaid bill are noted on the list for Attorney Goldstein. Two of the vouchers are dated Feb. 14, 1929, and are for services of July and October, 1928. Another voucher is for 22 days in February this year and the fourth is for 21 days in March and two days' traveling expenses between Cambridge, Mass., and Chicago. The fifth is the "40 days" in April.

One distinction between the collections of Attorney Goldstein and Attorneys Haight and Adcock was brought to light. The amount listed for the latter included the services of other members of their law office, it was said, while Attorney Goldstein was the sole recipient of the sums vouchered to him.

Arrangements were completed last night for the opening of the eighth annual convention of the Illinois members of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, which will convene this morning at the Hotel Sherman for a two days' session.

Today's session will be opened by the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Chicago Federation of Musicians' band. The executive board of the organization met last night at a dinner at hotel headquarters and it was predicted that the Chicago meeting will be the largest in the history of the organization, with the attendance close to the 1,200 mark.

For entertainment the wounded men will be guests at a banquet, two theater parties, and guests at the Aragon ballroom.

COLORED BAILIFF FOUND GUILTY OF POLL TERRORISM

William Waltham, colored Municipal court bailiff, was found guilty of assault with intent to commit murder yesterday by a jury in Judge G. Fred Rush's criminal court. The case is an outgrowth of the investigation of crime and political alliances carried on by Frank J. Loesch and his special grand juries.

Waltham was charged with pulling a pistol on H. C. Smith, a Deneen precinct worker in the Second ward, during the primary battle on April 10, 1928, between the Thompson-Crowe America First ticket and Deneen forces. The prosecution was carried on by Special Assistant State's Attorneys William Haynes and C. E. Lounsberry.

Unlike the recent trials of the Eller henchmen, the trial of Waltham was conducted in quick time. He was tried and convicted in one day while it took months to acquit the Ellerites.

PARK PLATFORM, USED 30 YEARS, NOW SUBMERGED

For thirty years a brick landing platform has served as the base of operations for the fleet of rowboats operated in the Jackson park lagoon each summer. This year it has been necessary to construct a wooden platform two feet higher than the old one, due to the rise in the level of Lake Michigan.

According to John Kennedy, boat attendant at the landing, the lagoon, which leads directly into the lake, has averaged from one to two and a half feet above normal this year.

COUNTY BOARD TO BORROW $6,000,000 UNDER NEW LAW

The county board at a special meeting yesterday voted to borrow $6,000,000 on tax anticipation warrants under the new state law recently passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Emmerson on Wednesday. The board voted to issue $5,000,000 in notes for corporate purposes and $1,000,000 for the highway fund. The measure was sponsored before the legislature by County Treasurer George F. Harding.

A. J. Cermak, president of the board, said that under this plan the county will save thousands of dollars. He said contractors have increased their bids on county work because of uncertain payments. Now with the assurance that the county can handle its affairs on an equitable basis, the bids will decrease on future work, Cermak declared.

LAWYERS STRIKE AT CRITICS OF TRANSIT BILLS

Declare Public Need Not Fear for Rights.

BY CARL WARREN.

[Chicago Tribune News Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—[Special.] Attorneys for the Wilkerson-Simpson citizens' transit settlement committee today struck back at critics of the Chicago transit bills who have sought to persuade legislators that the bills make way for a huge, unified company, operating without a city permit and charging a ten cent fare. Both contentions, the lawyers said, are contrary to the facts and apparently have been conjured up by enemies of the program as eleventh hour bugaboos in the hope of stopping the bills in the senate. Each of the bills, they declared, will do exactly what it purports to do and nothing more.

Sidney S. Gorham, chief counsel for the citizens' committee, and Allen T. Gilbert, who is associated with him, were the two attorneys answering the criticisms.

Dozen Amendments.

Their statements followed the submission of a dozen amendments to the bills when they reached second reading amending stage on the senate calendar this morning.

All of them were ordered printed with a view to giving the senators an opportunity to study them before they are considered next Tuesday, when it is planned to push the program to third and final reading.

Most important of the amendments were those to house bills 510 and 511, the home rule and terminable permit bills, drafted by John Maynard Harlan, attorney for the Lisman plan, providing that the value of the properties of the new company for rate making purposes shall not exceed the city purchase price, and further that the company may not obtain a permit from the Illinois commerce commission without a city franchise. Mr. Harlan is one of those who levelled the criticisms answered by Mr. Gorham and Mr. Gilbert.

Deals with Fares.

In answering the opposition arguments against the program, Attorney Gilbert dealt in particular with the rate of fare question, pointing out the fears of a 10 cent fare on the surface lines and two fares for a quarter on the elevated are without foundation.

"As a matter of fact," Mr. Gilbert asserted, "the question of fare is not one for decision under enabling legislation at all but one which will be decided when an ordinance is considered. Do those who suggest that 10 and 13 cent fares are possible, desire to fix now and for all time a 7 cent fare?

"We have seen the devastating results of fixing a rate of fare. A five cent fare in New York has cost the citizens millions of dollars in taxation. If Chicago had enforced the 5 cent fare under the 1907 ordinance, the companies would have lost upwards of $50,000,000, which would have been reflected in poorer service or actual confiscation of property.

"To our knowledge, there has not appeared one person, who has advocated the fixing of the elevated or surface line fares.

"The ten cent or two for a quarter fare is just as possible today as it will be after the passage of these bills and will be possible in years to come unless we should revert to the ancient practice of inelastic, fixed contracts whereby neither the city nor the company could be relieved from an injustice. Under the proposed enabling legislation, however, there will be a modern, service at cost plan, assuring both good service and reasonable fares."

Replying to the fear expressed by Mr. Harlan and others that the consolidated company may ignore the city and obtain a permit from the commerce commission, Attorney Gorham, with painstaking detail, analyzed the bills to show that such a procedure would be impossible. His major point was that the company never would be able to finance itself without first securing a city franchise.

Must Have Franchise.

"No lawyer for any prospective purchaser of all or any portion of securities of an aggregate value of upwards of $150,000,000 would approve their purchase nor would any lawyer for the owners of the present outstanding securities of the existing lines approve the exchange of these securities for those of the new company unless the new company has a franchise from the city," Mr. Gorham asserted.

Mr. Gorham cited the following provision in the Illinois constitution:

"No law shall be passed by the general assembly granting the right to construct and operate a street railway within a city—without acquiring the consent of the local authorities."

Mr. Gorham also took a slap at the demands for an inviolable contract which, he declared, would upset the entire structure of the proposed legislation and probably work havoc if placed in an ordinance.

"The fundamental question involved," he stated, "is whether the well settled law of this state, as indicated by numerous Supreme court decisions, shall be set aside and a new basis of public utility regulation set up in Illinois."

EMOTIONS MAY CAUSE DISEASE, DOCTORS TOLD

Mystery of Endocrine Glands Debated.

Sudden emotions, such as fear, anger, sorrow, and even great joy, may cause reactions upon the endocrine glands which will result in chronic diseases, Dr. Frank Branen of Chicago yesterday told members of the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association at the final meeting of the 74th annual convention of the association in the Congress hotel.

The endocrine or ductless gland, however, is the unsolved mystery of the human body, Dr. Branen declared, and little is known about its wondrous effect upon the workings of the system. He told also how certain medicinal substances have a disturbing influence upon these glands.

Cites Cases as Examples.

"It is well known," Dr. Branen said, "that when a person experiences a sudden fright, his mouth becomes dry because the secretions of the salivary glands are suspended. There is reason to believe that such a great emotion affects other glands of the body and chronic conditions may be produced.

"For example, a sudden fit of anger may cause a person to become jaundiced. The effect of protracted worry upon a person is well known; he may become diabetic. There are even cases in medical history which tend to prove that great happiness has affected the endocrine glands so that ill effects have been the result."

Endocrine remedies have not yet been proved to be dependable curative agents, Dr. Branen warned. With the exception of thyroxin, insulin, and a few others, the effect of such extracts is still problematical.

Sepia Affects Glands.

The strange effect of sepia, a substance found in the ink bag of the cuttle fish, was told by the physician. This fluid, when administered in a potentized form, has a particular action on the suprarenal glands and the gonads, he declared, and is often curative of diseased conditions in those glands.

Thyroid secretions have a strong effect upon the body, Dr. Branen said. These secretions make teeth white, are responsible for the distribution of hair and fat, and for the stability of the mind. Too little thyroid may cause melancholia.

Dr. W. F. Spencer of Geneseo, Ill., was elected president of the association for the coming year.

ORDERED TO PAY FOR TAXICAB.

Charles Bowles, 2415 West Congress street, and Joseph McNamara, 5548 South Union avenue, were placed on a year's probation and ordered to pay for a Checker taxicab which they had stolen and wrecked a week ago, by Judge Edgar A. Jones in the Felony court yesterday.

STATE COW TEST COST HIGH AFTER SMALL'S DEFEAT

Figures Show Increase in Flow of Funds.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—[Special.]—Increased generosity in the disbursement of state funds followed the defeat of Gov. Len Small for renomination on April 10, 1928, according to disclosures made on the floor of the house of representatives today.

The Tice bill putting on a state-wide basis the former county testing of cattle for tuberculosis, passed today by a vote of 98 to 23, was under consideration when Representative John P. Devine of Dixon, attacking the measure bitterly, produced figures showing how previous appropriations for the tuberculin test have been expended.

Farmers on Short End.

His charges were that far more of the $2,000,000 voted by the last session went for salaries, wages and expenses than to dairy farmers to indemnify them for loss of cattle condemned as tubercular and slaughtered by the state. In support of this allegation he produced figures furnished him by the department of finance.

Those that he cited on the floor sustained his contention, but a more complete survey of the expenditures of this work showed an even greater discrepancy than he charged.

Each of the last two sessions has appropriated $2,000,000 for the tuberculin test, and the contrast in the Small expenditure methods is provided by a study of how each of those two sums was disbursed.

The expenditures for the 1925-'27 biennium amounted to $1,637,580. Those for the 22 months of the 1927-'29 biennium, which had passed up to April 8 last, came to $1,139,210.

Indemnities	$1,465,354	$502,957
Salaries and wages..	125,098	390,233
Expenses	47,127	237,019

In other words, the combined salaries, wages and expenses for administering the test law in the first biennium was only $172,225, or less than 12 per cent of the amount paid out in indemnities. During 22 months of the second two year period—which included more than two months of Small's administration after his defeat—the combined costs of enforcing the law came to $646,252, or more than 128 per cent of the disbursements to the farmers for their slaughtered cattle.

In his general attack on the pending bill, in addition to his condemnation of the appropriation of a third $2,000,000 at this session, Devine quoted authorities who hold that there is no danger of human beings contracting tuberculosis from infected cattle, and declared that the condemnation and slaughter of cattle would mean ruin and bankruptcy to many small farmers.

Opposing Views Cited.

He recalled the first attempt to pass a tuberculin test bill when Judge Edward Shurtleff, later speaker of the house, headed a commission that declared the need for the test a small one. He then read a telegram from Shurtleff holding that the law "is unnecessary, destructive, and will break a lot of dairymen."

Tice and others quoted authorities who hold views contrary to those cited by Devine.

"If Illinois is not going to be a dumping ground for tubercular cattle, this bill must be passed," declared Tice.

The bill now goes to the senate, where its enactment is considered certain. It was defeated in the house a week ago by the silent vote and today's action was taken upon a reconsideration.

The Day in Springfield

General assembly adjourned over week-end, both houses to meet at 4 p. m. Monday.

Attorneys for citizens' committee replied to critics of Chicago transit bills, pending in senate.

SENATE.

Passed: Durso house bill for referendum on $9,000,000 Lincoln park bond issue; Cheney house bill for commission to study revision of election laws; Weeks house bill to permit city of Chicago to issue water bonds up to $12,000,000; McCarthy house bill for 300 state highway police with full police powers.

Advanced to final reading: Elrod house bills for referendum on woman jurors; Ickes house bill to repeal 1927 Crowe law limiting appointment of special state's attorneys.

HOUSE.

Passed: Sullivan bill to eliminate quack dentists; Holten bill to permit establishment of migratory bird preserves in Illinois by federal government.

Killed: Propper bill to allow downstate cities and park districts to vote on removal of 2.5 per cent bonding limit; Kane bill to permit girls 18 to 21 years old to be notary publics.

Called "Cow," She Sues Fannie Ward for $50,000

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Fannie Ward, 60 year old "perennial flapper," is defendant in a $50,000 slander suit brought in Supreme court today by Mrs. Laura C. Wilson, 55, who alleges the actress called her a cow and added unprintable remarks. The remarks were made at various times in 1927 in the beauty shop which Miss Ward conducted here, the complaint says.

LINCOLN PARK 9 MILLION BILL UP TO GOVERNOR

House Speeds West Side Elevated Highway Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—Two bills, paving the way for big park improvement projects in Chicago, one on the north side and the other on the west side, were moved on their way to enactment in the state legislature today.

By a unanimous vote the senate passed the Durso bill to permit the commissioners of Lincoln park to submit to a referendum a new $9,000,000 bond issue, the money to be spent during the next three years for extension of the lake front improvement from Montrose to Foster avenues. The measure already had been passed by the house and now goes to the governor for signature.

Extend Outer Drive.

Under the Lincoln park development plank, the outer drive will be extended for a mile, carrying traffic around the congested Wilson avenue district. The proposed bond issue also will construct a new breakwater, bathing beaches, and recreation grounds for the uptown area.

While the senate was adopting the Durso bill, the house moved to third and final reading on its calendar the Mendel senate bill to permit a referendum on a $20,000,000 bond issue by the west park board for an elevated superhighway across the west side. This bill probably will come up for final passage in the house next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Several other bills of significance to Chicago occupied the attention of the two houses today, among them the controversial Weeks water bond bills, which were finally passed by the senate after a hectic struggle over amendments.

Limited to $12,000,000.

As a result of a single handed fight by Senator Thomas J. Courtney the most important bill, that allowing issuance of water bonds by the city without a referendum, was amended to limit the amount to $13,000,000. The second bill validates $12,000,000 worth of old outstanding water certificates which the new bonds will replace.

Both bills have been passed by the house and the limitation amendment now will go back to the house for concurrence. The other goes directly to Gov. Emmerson.

Another move of interest to Chicagoans was passage in the house of the Illinois Dental society bill defining the qualifications of a dentist and providing a penalty for advertising by any person not conforming to the qualifications. The bill is designed to put out of business several hundred quack dentists recently found to be practicing in Chicago.

SAYS SCOTCH HUSBAND MADE OWN FIREWORKS BY HITTING HER JULY 4

A Scotch Fourth of July celebration, with a too vivid reproduction of fireworks, figures, with other charges of cruelty, in the cross-bill for divorce of Mrs. Helen Johnson, 22 years old, 6720 South Marshfield avenue, against Arthur Johnson, department manager for Armour and company. The cross-bill was filed yesterday in the Superior court by Attorney Victor Frohlich.

Johnson boasted continually of his Scotch ancestry, the bill states, and gave evidence of it by refusing to permit his wife to use a vacuum cleaner, because of the cost and the wear on rugs. She charges he saved time and money by borrowing an alarm clock daily from his mother, who lived in the same apartment building, and returning it to her after he awoke.

Last Fourth of July he refused to buy fireworks, the wife charges. His vocal reproduction of noises made by various fireworks were patiently borne by her, she continues, but when he reproduced shooting stars by hitting her in the eye, she left him.

Thirteen Die of Various Illnesses on Ocean Liner

ASSESSORS OPEN WAR ON DODGERS OF REALTY TAXES

Complete List to Force Back Payments.

The board of assessors indicated yesterday that it will seek to collect back taxes from buildings that heretofore have escaped the assessment rolls. Harry S. Cutmore, director of the realty revaluation, was instructed to compile a list of the tax dodging property. The list will be turned over to the board of review, whose duty it is to levy taxes due for former years.

The number of buildings in the dodger class will not be known until the reassessment is completed, but Mr. Cutmore estimates the total at hundreds and includes four factories. Although some were erected years ago, they are being placed on the tax rolls for the first time. They were discovered, as far as taxing officials are concerned, by the appraisers who are completing the field work of the revaluation. New tax bills after the revaluation is completed will probably not be ready to mail before November.

Conroy Suggests Move.

"Let's insist on all back taxes being paid on these properties," suggested Assessor John E. Conroy. "We don't want any one to suspect that the property was intentionally left off the rolls in former years.

"Mistakes were bound to happen," Mr. Cutmore explained, "when you didn't have a field force to check the buildings. In perpetuating this scientific appraisal system I suggest that we ask the coöperation of public utilities and the city by reporting to the assessors the new building permits, water installment permits, and new connections of gas and electricity."

The next important step in the reassessment is to compute the percentage of real value that will be used for assessment values. The board has not decided whether it will be guided by the average percentage throughout the state or whether it will adopt for Cook county a percentage that will give the same aggregate assessment value as the 1927 quadrennial total.

Malone Threatens Veto.

Chairman William H. Malone of the state tax commission has declared that he will veto a tax roll giving the spending bodies more money than they would have received under the old assessment.

The board invited three tax statisticians to attend its next meeting on Tuesday morning. They are Dr. Herbert D. Simpson of Northwestern university, George Miller of the Chicago and North Western Railroad company, and John Watson of the Illinois Agricultural association.

Plan to Make Comparison.

After receiving all available evidence regarding assessments in counties other than Cook, the assessors will send a crew of appraisers into other counties to compare results under Cook county's evaluation methods with figures of the various local assessors.

After the percentage is announced for Cook county, property owners will be notified through the press when they can visit the county building and learn their individual assessments. They will be furnished with a form for filing complaints and they will receive a hearing on these complaints before the tax books are forwarded to the board of review for further complaint hearings in the nature of appeals from the assessors.

NEARLY 96, SHE GETS HER OWN DEGREE FROM NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—A little woman, soon to be 96, had a university commencement of her own today in her Park avenue apartment. New York university conferred the degree of master of humane letters on Mrs. Emma Baker Kennedy, widow of John Stewart Kennedy, philanthropist, and herself eminent among American humanitarians. The ceremony was private, for Mrs. Kennedy wanted no frills or fuss in the simple life she leads.

CITY, ATTACKS ELEVATED VALUE ON STEEL WORK

The statement of James Walker, consulting engineer, that structural steel work in the properties of the Chicago Rapid Transit company had depreciated only $6,220,739 during the thirty-six years of the elevated road's existence, was attacked by Congressman Frank R. Reid yesterday at the elevated fare hearing before Master in Chancery Roswell B. Mason. It was the 57th session since the hearings started last July. The 58th is scheduled for next Monday.

Mr. Walker insisted that steel, "if properly taken care of," would deteriorate scarcely at all within a thirty-six year period. Mr. Reid, who represents the city at the hearings, took the position that corrosion would cause greater depreciation. Mr. Walker has estimated the total value of the elevated properties at more than $188,000,000, and the city is attacking this estimate as being too high. The company has asked the federal court to accept Walker's figure as the actual value of the elevated lines to sustain its plea for a straight 10 cent fare.

CHAIR ROCKS ON GAS HOSE; THREE ARE OVERCOME

Since Frank Pukala, 1348 Blanche street, lost his job, his wife, Mary, has been the wage earner while he kept house and looked after the children, Valedia, 5, and Theodore, 3 years old. The mother was at the factory yesterday; Frank was rocking in his easy chair near the kitchen range, refreshing himself with an occasional swig of moonshine.

He fell asleep, failing to notice that the rocker squeezed a rubber hose connecting the gas stove to a feed pipe and cut off the flame. Frank and his children were unconscious when Frank Kroll, 1501 Noble street, called. Kroll dashed inside, opened all the doors and windows, and called the police.

Inhalator squad No. 7 revived Pukala and the two children. All three were still in serious condition at the county hospital last night.

BUYS TONIC FOR SICK WIFE; FACES JONES LAW PERIL

Because he loaded into his automobile five cases of malt tonic, a beverage obtainable at drug stores without a prescription, and started home with it, Claude Logan, 2901 Grace street, will be liable to the penalties of the Jones 5 and 10 law if the prohibition department is successful in having him held to the federal grand jury at a hearing before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker this morning.

Even though a physician recommended it as a stimulant for his sick wife, Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley maintains that Logan may have intended using the tonic as a beverage and not for medicinal purposes, and thus he is charged with transporting intoxicating liquors. Druggists are not required to have a permit to sell the malt which is labeled as containing "not more than 2 per cent alcohol," nor must a citizen have medical permission to purchase it. Under the law the druggist need only satisfy himself that the product is to be used as a medicine, not a drink.

U. S. Attorney Doubtful.

Although Mr. Yellowley and his assistant, William D. Kennedy, intend going ahead with the matter, it was indicated yesterday that the district attorney's office is lukewarm on the prosecution of such a case.

Assistant United States District Attorney Edward A. Fisher, who handled liquor cases before Commissioner Walker, said:

"I don't see how we can convict a man of transporting a tonic whose manufacture is authorized by the prohibition department. In the case of permit whisky, stringent rules and regulations are laid down making a prescription necessary. In the sale of this product the druggist has no means of knowing whether it is to be used as a medicine or a beverage. In order to charge druggists with a criminal violation of the prohibition law, some prescription regulation should be adopted as in the case of whisky, otherwise malt tonic should be withdrawn from the market."

Recommended by Doctor.

According to Logan, he purchased the tonic for his wife after Dr. Max Wilson, 7439 Cottage Grove avenue, had recommended that she take another malt product as a stimulant. Logan could not find that product, so he purchased the tonic and reported to the physician that his wife seemed improved after using it. Dr. Wilson advised the further use of it, the physician said yesterday, and Logan continued to buy it in small lots. To avoid frequent trips to the drug store he asked for five cases at the Stoeffhaas & Moss pharmacy, 3965 Lincoln avenue, on May 15 and started home with it.

On the way two policemen stopped him and he was turned over to the prohibition authorities. Commissioner Walker set his bond at $1,000 and the case will be heard this morning.

Although Administrator Yellowley refused to reveal the evidence he has against Logan, he intimated he has information to show that the tonic was purchased with a view of selling it as a beverage. "This procedure is nothing new," he said, "we have obtained convictions in hundreds of similar cases involving the sale of products intended for medicine but purchased for a different purpose."

Logan denied that he intended selling the tonic.

600 Boys and Girls Enter Roller Skating Contests

More than 600 boys and girls have entered the annual roller skating contests of the Chicago Playground council, to be held in Grant park north of Soldiers' field tomorrow morning, according to Irwin R. Hazen Jr., chairman of the meet. Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded to the winners in each class.

WARDEN FOGARTY HAS BREAKDOWN FROM OVERWORK

Warden Edward J. Fogarty of the county jail was taken to the Washington Park hospital yesterday, suffering from a nervous breakdown caused by overwork in moving prisoners from the old jail to the new structure. The warden felt that because of insufficient employés his presence was needed constantly at the new jail, and he spent most of his time there living in one of the spare jury rooms.

The Circuit court judges, who agreed that the jail needs at least 48 more employés so that the present jail officials could have a day off once in awhile, started an investigation to find out why the judicial order has not been obeyed. Since April 1, when the new jail opened, the employés have not had a day off.

Dr. Constantine Theodore, the jail physician, said that the warden's condition is not serious.

GRAF ZEPPELIN HOME; 600 MILE HOP IN 9 HOURS

the great doors of the hangar were pulled open by a tractor and the ship was glided out on to the field.

As the great silver tube slowly rose from the ground with its motors barking like machine guns there were enthusiastic cheers from thousands of soldiers, sailors, and citizens of Toulon, who were scattered through the nearby fields.

Ascending to a low altitude above the hangar, where it desperately sought haven nearly a week ago, the Zeppelin headed eastward and soon became invisible against the dusky sky.

TWO POISED FOR SEA HOP

Old Orchard, Me., May 23.—[Special.]—Jean Assolant and Rene Lefevre, French aviators, set their Paris bound plane, the Yellow Bird, down on the sands of Old Orchard beach at 6:20 this evening, and a trans-Atlantic air race was practically assured.

Assolant and Lefevre flew here from Roosevelt field, New York, today on the first hop of their flight after their backer, Armand Lotti Jr., had inspected the two and a half mile stretch of beach here and pronounced it in better condition for a takeoff than the rain soaked surface of Roosevelt field.

Await Fair Weather.

Meanwhile the American plane, Green Flash, sat in its hangar here with its flyers, Roger Q. Williams and Capt. Lewis Yancey, ready to take off for Rome as soon as ocean weather forecasts are favorable.

The two planes will probably take off together when the word that all is favorable comes from the weather bureau, but the start will not be made until Saturday at the earliest. The weather here was clear this evening, but cold, with a strong east wind, while forecasts indicated that the "thousand mile stretch of clouds with easterly squalls" which has held up the Green Flash for two days was still much in evidence out at sea.

Escort Is Announced.

It was learned tonight from the coast guard base at Gloucester, Mass., that a coast guard amphibian plane will be sent here to act as an escort for the Yellow Bird and Green Flash when they hop off. The coast guard plane, piloted by Lieut. Leonard M. Melka, will fly eastward with the two trans-Atlantic planes to Cape Sable or beyond for two hours before turning back.

The escort plane will carry a radio and the operator, J. R. Hurley, will flash news of the flight back to America. Neither the Yellow Bird nor the Green Flash is equipped with radio.

In Air 108 Hours, Fly On.

Fort Worth, Tex., May 23.—(AP)—The four and a half day mark was reached by the Ryan monoplane Fort Worth at 11:33 o'clock tonight as Pilot R. L. Robbins and his mechanic, James Kelly, tired but undaunted, kept the endurance craft circling smoothly through the air lanes above this city. The 108 hour grind had brought no indication to ground observers of strain on the ship's mechanism.

Crew Land Arguing.

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—After a little more than 22 hours in the air, in a second attempt in two days at the world's endurance flight record, Lieut. H. B. Clarke brought the Bellanca plane, Three Musketeers, down at Roosevelt field shortly after 6 o'clock tonight. Clarke's decision to land did not please his flying companions, Martin Jensen and William Ulbrich.

Clarke claimed that several small holes in the fuselage, caused by the hook from the reel in the fuselage by means of which fuel was hauled aboard, would have become larger during the long flight, necessitating a landing before the record could be attained.

Jensen appeared angry after the plane landed. He said he could have repaired the holes in flight. He was inclined to quit the experiment tonight, but after a conference with Clarke it was announced that another attempt would be made. This time Jensen said he instead of Clarke would be in charge.

DEFERS RULING ON CONSERVATOR FOR S. R. McCORMICK

Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday took under advisement the petition of Mrs. Stanley R. McCormick for the appointment of a conservator for the person of her husband, a brother of Harold F. McCormick and of Cyrus McCormick of the International Harvester company. She is appealing a decision of Probate Judge Henry Horner, who last February refused to appoint her, because California courts had already established a joint conservatorship of herself, Harold F. McCormick, and a sister, Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine. Mrs. McCormick is opposed by the brother and sister. The differences between the wife and the brother and sister hinge on methods of medical treatment of Stanley McCormick's mental ailment.

Legionnaires Plan Concert to Aid Disabled Veterans

U. S. PROSPERITY UNPRECEDENTED, LAMONT ASSERTS

First 4 Months of 1929 Set New Industry Mark.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—The first four months of 1929 were described in a statement today by Secretary Lamont as showing greater industrial and commercial activity than has ever been registered in a similar period.

"Practically all the records of production, trade and finance thus far made public," he said, "agree in showing decided increases over the same first four months of 1928 and most of them reached record totals."

"The output of steel ingots, which reflects demand for materials in many industries, aggregated for the four months almost 19,000,000 tons, a gain of 12 per cent over the corresponding period of 1928 and a record figure for all time.

Auto Increase Is 50 Per Cent.

"Automobile production, which furnishes a valuable indicator of the general buying power of the community, was more than 50 per cent greater than during the first four months of last year, over 2,000,000 cars and trucks being turned out.

"A still broader measure in the expansion of industry is furnished by the fact that the number of employés in factories was 5 per cent greater during the first four months of 1929 than in the same period of the year before, while the increase in the amount of pay rolls, by reason of more continuous employment and perhaps also of higher wage rates, was much greater still, amounting to 9 per cent.

Less Residential Building.

"The only important field in which decline in activity has thus far been reported is that of residential construction, by reason of which the total value of new building contracts of all classes was 11 per cent less than last year.

"On the other hand, new contracts for commercial and industrial buildings and for public works and utilities were considerably larger than last year."

BILL PROVIDING NEW STATE ELECTION CODE IS PASSED BY SENATE

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—[Special.]—Creation of a commission to study the Illinois election laws and draft a modern, comprehensive election code was believed assured today when the senate passed without opposition the Cheney bill providing for such a commission.

The late Representative Flora Cheney of Chicago introduced the bill before her death several weeks ago at the request of Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and other Chicago election officials. It now has been approved by both houses.

If Gov. Emmerson signs the bill he will appoint three persons to make the inquiry and report to the 1931 session of the legislature. They will be given $15,000 for expenses.

Three bills sponsored by Mrs. Rena Elrod went to third reading on the senate calendar today with indications they will pass. These are the women jury bills, amended to permit a referendum on the question of women serving on juries.

HELD BY POLICE FOR SHOWUP.

Peter Shkuda, 32 years old, who answers the description of a man who has recently passed many worthless checks in the Maxwell police district, was arrested on suspicion yesterday near his home at 1311 West 14th place and held for a police showup.

PASTOR ON JURY FREEING WOMAN IN LIQUOR CASE

Knows Now Why Dry Law Fails, He Says.

Beatrice, Neb., May 23.—(AP)—A District court jury, including among its members a Congregational minister and the acting pastor of another church, acquitted Mrs. Lizzie Wright, Beatrice widow, of charges of sale and possession of intoxicating liquor late today. Conviction was refused despite no effort by the defense to refute testimony by police officers that a little less than a pint of liquor had been found in Mrs. Wright's flat.

The case had been appealed after Mrs. Wright had been found guilty in police court and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve 60 days in jail.

Only One Ballot Taken.

The Rev. Isaac Casteel of the Pilgrim Congregational church at Cortland, Neb., who was performing his first jury service, said only one ballot was taken on each of the two charges. Serving with him was J. W. Gish, a veteran elder and acting minister of the Brethren church of Beatrice, and a group of farmers and business men.

"I am thankful to have had this jury experience in a liquor care," said the Rev. Mr. Casteel. "It has given me a better understanding of why juries often refuse to convict in cases that appear to the outsider to be wholly against the defendant.

"There was no definite evidence of liquor sale in this case and I don't believe a conviction would have been justifiable on the basis of the finding of this small amount of liquor, even though the defendant may have been technically guilty under the Nebraska prohibition laws.

Gets Different View.

"The verdict was the only right one under the evidence. You get a different viewpoint on these cases from the inside."

This was not the viewpoint, however, of County Attorney H. F. Mattoon, who prosecuted the case.

"It seems impossible to convince jurors that the Nebraska law does not countenance possession of even a small amount of liquor," he said. "After this experience with a jury of this type I'm convinced there isn't much prospect of getting convictions in private possession cases."

BILL PROVIDES FOR GREAT NETWORK OF FEDERAL HIGHWAYS

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—A great federal highway system, linking the Atlantic and Pacific and the north and south, and built from funds derived from an issue by the treasury of two billion dollars in paper money, was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Brookhart [Rep., Ia.]

The system would include the following routes:

From Portland, Me., to Seattle, Wash., by way of Chicago.

From Boston, Mass., to San Francisco, Cal., by way of St. Louis.

From New York to Los Angeles, Cal.

From Washington by way of Richmond, Va., through Tennessee and Arkansas to a point in Oklahoma.

From New York to Jacksonville, Fla., following the coast, and from a point on that route near Jacksonville to Brownsville, Tex., following the coast of the Gulf of Mexico.

LINEMAN AT WORK ON POLE IN RAIN IS ELECTROCUTED

The heavy rain which drenched thousands of homebound Chicagoans late yesterday after an interval of high temperatures and humidity had more serious consequences along the north shore.

Ward Starr, a lineman for the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, came in contact with 2,300 volts of current while working on a rain soaked pole at Telegraph road and Five Points, two miles west of North Chicago. Starr was killed instantly. He leaves a widow and a small son at 35 South Elmwood road, Waukegan. He was 31 years old.

Fair and cooler weather was predicted for today, a forecast that gladdened the Women's Self-Government association at Northwestern university. The May pole dance and crowning of the May Queen will be held this afternoon if the skies are bright.

HEAD OF COLLEGE IS PROMOTED BY THE LUTHERANS

Dr. R. N. G. Wickey has resigned as president of Carthage college, Carthage, Ill., a Lutheran institution, to become executive secretary of the board of education of the United Lutheran Churches in America, headquarters in New York, it was made known today at the tenth annual convention of the Illinois synod of the United Lutheran Church in America. His resignation was accepted by the Illinois synod.

An indebtedness of $25,000 on the college was paid off last year and the endowment fund increased $213,000, Dr. Wickey reported.

The Illinois synod voted to launch a $200,000 campaign in 1930 to endow the Chicago Theological Lutheran seminary at Maywood, Ill. A fund of $6,000 was voted for student work at the University of Illinois.

to the statements that the decision was final:

"'They denounce all who question the correctness of the decision as offering violent resistance to it, but who resist it. Who has, in spite of the decision declaring Dred Scott free, resisted the authority of his master over him?

"'We believe as much as Judge Douglas, perhaps more, in obedience to and respect for the judicial department of the government. We think its decision on constitutional questions, when fully settled, should control, not only the particular cases decided, but the general policy of the country, to be disturbed only by amendments to the constitution as provided in that instrument itself. More than this would be revolutionary but we think the Dred Scott decision is erroneous. We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decisions and we shall do what we can to overrule this. We offer no resistance to it.'

Suit by State, Not Individual.

"So now, under this present resolution, gentlemen, this is a proceeding to be instituted for the purpose of securing a different opinion on the interpretation of the eighteenth amendment.

"In the final case of Lambert vs. Yellowley, which upheld the power of congress to regulate or prohibit liquors not included in the eighteenth amendment, such decision was arrived at in a suit of private individuals directed against the federal government or an officer thereof. This, my friends, will be a decidedly different proposition, where the objections are raised by a state itself and the contention is set forth that the state never granted this authority claimed by congress and demands that it be returned to the state.

"The opinion of the Supreme court itself upon this matter was rendered by a divided court. Let me quote to you from the dissenting opinion of Justices Sutherland, McReynolds, Butler and Stone, four of the nine judges that constitute that court. They said:

"'The general design of the federal constitution is to give to the federal government control over national and international matters, leaving to the several states the control of local affair. Prior to the adoption of the eighteenth amendment, accordingly, the manufacture, sale and use of intoxicating liquors for all purposes was exclusively under the police power of the state and there it still remains save insofar as it has been taken away by the words of the amendment.'

Grant Is Specific.

"'These words are perfectly plain and cannot be extended beyond their import without violating the fundamental rule that the government of the United States is one of delegated powers only, and that the powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people. The pertinent words of the amendment are 'the manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.'

"'Plainly congress in submitting the amendment and the various states in ratifying the amendment left the question of prohibition of intoxicating liquor for other than beverage purposes to the determination of the states, where it has always been. The limiting words of the amendment are not susceptible of any other meaning and to extend them beyond the scope of that meaning really is to substitute words of another and different import.

"'A grant of powers to prohibit for specific purposes does not include the power to prohibit for other and different purposes.'

"Gentlemen, this is the opinion of four of nine judges of the Supreme court of the United States.

"It is our duty, not only to pass this resolution and institute this suit to secure to the state the police power which it never granted under the eighteenth amendment, but also to maintain and bear out inviolate the principles of the constitution as laid down by our forefathers, for if we fail to protect that constitution in every particular we are derelict in our duties.

"This is an association of states, sovereign states, if you will, under a general authority. The matter of state rights is as important, yea, more so, than the rights of the federal government itself, for state rights come closer to the habits and customs and hopes and lives of the people.

Both Parties Called Upon.

"No Democrat on the floor of this house who reveres the founder of his party, Jefferson, should vote against this resolution. No Republican who has a proper conception of the relation existing under the constitution between the state and federal government ought to oppose this resolution.

"Lincoln said, and history justifies him in his statement, that the Dred Scott decision was a political and not a judicial decision. I say to you that the original decision of the Supreme court of the United States, in which they sustained the validity of the adoption of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act thereunder, was a political decision and not a judicial decision. The Supreme court at that time believed from the propaganda and the publicity thrown out by the organized dry forces that almost one hundred per cent of the people of this nation were back of the eighteenth amendment, and therefore they rendered a decision in response to what they supposed to be a public demand sustaining that amendment.

Action Is Unusual.

"It is indeed a peculiar circumstance that in a matter of such tremendous import, presented by probably the greatest constitutional authority in this nation, Elihu Root, in which numerous questions were raised, that the Supreme court failed to write an opinion. If you will look at the decision you will find that it is set out about half of one page in length, and it states that the justices intend to establish a precedent by handing down the decision without argument and discussion or stating their reasons therefor.

"It is a peculiar fact that since the rendition of that decision the court has failed to follow the precedent which it said it would establish, but has continued the precedent which existed from the foundation of this government of handing down reasoned opinions setting forth their reasons for their conclusions.

White Expressed Regret.

"You do not have to take my criticism from a personal standpoint on this, as I will read to you from the opinion of Chief Justice White of the Supreme court itself, in which he said in regard to this decision:

"'I profoundly regret that in a case of this magnitude, affecting as it does, an amendment to the constitution, dealing with the powers and duties of the national and state governments, and intimately concerning the welfare of the whole people, the court has deemed it proper to state only ultimate conclusions without an exposition of the reasoning by which they have been reached.'

"Gentlemen of the house, as I have said before, the Dred Scott decision was a political decision. It directly led to other events which produced the civil war between the states. That decision, political in its nature, was finally blotted from the records by the blood of men of this nation after nearly five years of suffering and sorrow.

"This political decision sustaining the eighteenth amendment has also been followed by bloodshed and suffering throughout the length and breadth of the nation.

"I warn the drys on the floor of this house and in the gallery that if the lawless methods of enforcement which have existed throughout the length and breadth of this land continue that they need not be surprised at what may happen.

"The liberty loving people of this nation will not submit for all time to tyranny. The outrageous killing of Hanson at Niagara, the murder of Mrs. De King at Aurora, which we are now investigating, are only two of a series of killings throughout the length and breadth of this land.

"As we look back over the history of this nation, to Massachusetts, to Salem, if you will, and read that our ancestors of that day and age burned men and women at the stake, it fills us with shame and horror.

Raps Illinois Congressman.

"I tell you now that our descendants to come will look back with equal shame and horror on the proceedings in the congress of the United States very recently when that congress, in answer to a speech of a congressman from Illinois, in which he sang the praises and the hallelujahs of the police who killed an innocent 21 year old boy in prohibition enforcement, applauded that death, and read the same into the record.

"I blush with shame to think that those words were spoken by a congressman from Illinois. I know that congressman, I have seen him frequently in Springfield, and when I tell you that it takes two to make a bootlegger, my experience in observing him here was that he was always willing to furnish one. It is due to just such hypocrites who sit on the floor of this house, such hypocrites who sit in the legislatures of every other state, and in the congress of the United States, that these things are permitted to happen.

"It is because we desire to proceed in an orderly method through the courts to stop this orgy of bloodshed, to prevent the thing that followed the Dred Scot decision, that we have brought this resolution before this house. Let us by an orderly method, through the medium of the courts, secure from the Supreme court of the United States a well seasoned opinion, setting forth the judges' reasons for their conclusion. When we stop to consider that the Eighteenth amendment itself was submitted by only two-thirds of a quorum in the house, and that the Volstead act was passed over the President's veto by only two-thirds of a quorum, in the face of the plain provision of the Constitution that two-thirds of the full membership is required for such action, then you can see why there is consternation among the politically dry element when a real attack is leveled by a state at the adoption or the interpretation of said amendment.

"I submit to you, gentlemen, that this resolution ought if right to be adopted."

PUBLISHER GIVES 233 ACRE PARK TO CITY OF DANVILLE

Danville, Ill., May 23.—[Special.]—John H. Harrison, publisher of the Danville [Ill.] Commercial News, saw the realization today of his ideal that "every man should put something back into his home town," in the dedication of Harrison park, his gift to the city of Danville.

Roy O. West, former secretary of the interior, and Col. George T. Buckingham, Chicago attorney, were the principal speakers tonight at a dinner tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harrison as part of the dedicatory ceremony and attended by 400 persons. Mr. West and Mr. Harrison were fellow students at De Pauw university.

Mayor Henry Hulce of Danville served as chairman. The Danville Kiwanis club also marked the occasion with a Harrison luncheon in the Elks' grillroom and Danville's school children, dismissed for the afternoon, took part in the ceremonies, which included a flag raising in the park.

The tract of land which Mr. Harrison presented to the city includes 233 acres, to be forever used as a public recreation ground. The land contains ideal facilities for golf, baseball, football, tennis, and other outdoor sports.

The Danville Country club occupies sixty-four acres of the land, which will be available to the public upon the expiration of the club's lease in the near future. The clubhouse will be used as a park pavilion, with restaurant facilities, a dance hall, and locker rooms.

SALOON SLAYING OF POLICEMAN TRACED TO FEUD

Stege Hunts Two Men in Sullivan Murder.

Three weeks ago Detective Joseph J. Sullivan, who was slain in "Red" Bolton's saloon early last Wednesday morning, incurred the enmity of Elmo Clark, manager of the place, the police revealed last night. Clark and James Coyne are being sought as the two men responsible for the murder. Coyne is described by the police as a minor leader in the west side underworld who took part in the gun battle in which Sullivan was killed.

According to the information given to Deputy Commissioner Stege, Sullivan was a guest at a party given by Clark for the latter's sister when the two men first clashed. A week later, Stege said he learned, Sullivan went to the Bolton saloon, which he often visited in search of evidence. While there he encountered Clark, and the quarrel was renewed. Sullivan was accompanied by Lieut. Daniel A. O'Hara and trouble arose because the doorkeeper, not knowing O'Hara, tried to keep the lieutenant out.

Slain on Kidnaper Hunt.

Stege said that Sullivan's visit to the saloon early Wednesday was made in the hope of obtaining information about the kidnaping for ransom of Philip Blumenthal, former bootlegger. This kidnaping led to the killing of Detective Ray Martin, presumably by the kidnapers whom Martin was trying to capture.

According to Stege, when Sullivan entered the saloon the last time Clark accused him of "hanging around looking for stool pigeons." This started a quarrel between Sullivan, Clark, and Coyne, the deputy commissioner said. Clark's taunt was supposed to refer to the friendliness between Sullivan and Dinky Quan, bartender, who also is sought.

"Sullivan finally took off his coat and the three, and perhaps others also present, went to the back room to fight it out," said Stege. "Coyne was beaten in the fist fight, and so he backed away and grabbed one of Sullivan's two guns and shot Sullivan. Clark got hold of a gun and also shot Sullivan."

Tries to Surrender Clark."

Sullivan's body was found in his automobile the next morning in front of 3133 Polk street. A post-mortem examination showed that he had not been drinking.

A lawyer made at attempt last night to surrender Clark, but was informed by Stege that "we don't want him that way." Clark's real name is said to be Norris. He is reported to have once been a bartender in the notorious "Bucket of Blood" saloon on West Madison street.

Stege refused to divulge the source of his information linking Clark and Coyne with the shooting. Among those questioned during the day were Lake Gross, colored porter; Barney O'Brien, said to have operated a handbook at the saloon, and Bolton. Gross said he found Clark plugging up bullet holes in the wall of the saloon when he arrived for work at 7 o'clock on the morning of the shooting. Bolton refused to talk and was ordered booked as an accessory. He was later released under $10,000 bond.

Deputy Stege last night directed that search be renewed for the following in connection with the Blumenthal kidnaping and the Martin murder: Dago Lawrence Mangano, Fred Fisher, Martin O'Leary, Ernest Rossi, and Dave Miller. The kidnaping plot, Stege said, was laid in Mangano's Minerva Athletic club, 522 South Halsted street. Another of those sought, Adolph Anzoni, notified the police that he would surrender for questioning this morning.

Moses Blumenthal, brother of Philip, has abandoned his home on North Dearborn street and moved 200 miles away from Chicago in fear of his life, the police learned. It was Moses who produced the $15,000 demanded by Philip's kidnapers. Later, when $10,000 more was demanded, Blumenthal appealed to the police. Detective Martin was slain while posing as Moses Blumenthal in a police trap laid for the kidnapers.

Jack McGurn, indicted for the St. Valentine's day massacre of the seven Moran gangsters, and Louise Rolfe, who were held on statutory charges sworn to by the slain Detective Sullivan, appeared in Municipal court yesterday, thus saving forfeiture of their $6,500 bonds.

YOUNGSTER OF 50 IS SOUTH PARKS MARBLES CHAMP

Judd Speer, 50 year old master mechanic of the south parks, won the adult marble championship of the system yesterday afternoon on the enclosed gravel path of Soldiers' field. There were fifty contestants, all employés of the park board. All were over 30 years old and some came close to the 75 year mark. A. R. Lyden, director of Soldiers' field, refereed. After the matches he said that another contest in which the adult winner must compete with a boy champion, will be held in two weeks.

The winner of second place was Sam Friedman, structural engineer. Others making high scores by knuckling down on the six rings established were Harry Richards, assistant general superintendent; V. B. Brown, superintendent of playgrounds; Frank Killberry, superintendent of Grant park, and Harry Selders, ground foreman.

HOUSE INQUIRY IN DE KING CASE ON AGAIN TODAY

Members of the state legislative committee investigating the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King at Aurora are to convene there today. Representative Frederick W. Rennick chairman, said they may go today to take testimony in the hospital from Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who killed Mrs. De King, and who was shot by 12 year old Gerald De King. Assistant State's Attorney Carleton Shults, who sent the raiders to the De King home and who has been ill since then, may also be quizzed.

Representative Rennick had subpoenas served upon the so-called mystery witnesses who appeared at the grand jury investigation—which is undergoing scrutiny—and testified to drink purchases at the De King home. At the hearing last week Representative Leroy Green of Rockford said the purpose of calling those witnesses was "to divert attention from the shooting and to prejudice the grand jurors against the De Kings."

Representative Green said that after other witnesses are heard he will ask that State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county be recalled for additional questioning.

HELD ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

Earl Grey, former bookkeeper for Swarts Bros., a jewelry firm at 156 North State street, was held to the grand jury in $7,500 bond yesterday in Felony court by Judge Edgar A. Jonas on a charge of embezzling $14,000 by juggling his accounts.

PERHAPS YOU HAVE HEARD IT CALLED "A Rich Man's Plaything"

Of course you will find among Rolls-Royce owners a few ultra-wealthy men to whom "money is no object." But we could show you in five minutes' time that the vast majority of Rolls-Royce owners are the keenest judges of value in the country.

Mostly, they are self-made men—the active, working heads of businesses they themselves have created and built. They have struggled hard for such wealth as they have won—they do not spend it carelessly. Nor could you pin the label "Waster" on the 163 leading bankers who own Rolls-Royces. Conservative by nature and training, they are America's most prudent investors.

Why have these shrewd, money-minded men invested their motoring dollars in Rolls-Royces? For just one reason. Because it offers them a value they can get in no other car!

To begin with, Rolls-Royce is guaranteed against the failure of any mechanical part for three years—nine times longer than any other car! And Rolls-Royce will last 20 years, and give better service throughout its entire 20 years than other cars do at any period of their shorter-lived careers.

But you may feel that you do not wish to keep a car twenty years because of changes in body styles. Very well. Change the coachwork of your Rolls-Royce every few years—you are still spending no more, and probably far less, than you would for ordinary "fine" cars.

And you are getting advantages no other car offers! . . . Super-safety! . . . A supreme driving thrill! . . . The quietest, most comfortable transportation in the world!

For Rolls-Royce was created as a protest against noise—against not only obvious squeaks and rattles, but even those tiny quavers and quivers which, seemingly negligible, gradually tire you out. You can ride for hours in a Rolls-Royce without fatigue!

Can you, a business man, afford to overlook such quiet and comfort—such protection to your health and nerves and efficiency?

Think how often the end of a business day finds you desperate for peace and quiet. Fatigue tugging like a weight at your shoulders. Nerves screaming from the day-long rush and roar.

Suppose a Rolls-Royce is waiting at your office door. You step in and sink back in the cushions—a wave of comfort envelops you. Let the miles ahead be a chaos of shrieking traffic—you ride in a well of silence. Let the road be rough as a mountain trail—Rolls-Royce will sheathe it in velvet. Caressed by quiet, cradled in ease, you'll be asleep before you're half-way home!

And then, when a blue-and-gold day beckons you out for a cross-country drive, take the wheel yourself—and thrill! See how this car takes curves and flattens hills. Then open the throttle and watch the scenery fly! Yet even though you drive like the wind, there's not a murmur from the motor, scarcely a tremor from the car.

And you drive in safety! No mechanical part on which the safety of the occupants depends has ever failed in a Rolls-Royce. It commands lower collision insurance rates than any other car.

Do these statements sound too good to be true? 163 leading bankers will vouch for them. Thousands of prominent business men will add their endorsement. And you yourself, after a 100-mile trial trip in a Rolls-Royce, will say they are not half strong enough!

RULE TO LIMIT TARIFF FIGHTS ON FLOOR WINS

House Ways Committee Holds Club.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—[Special.]—After six hours of acrimonious controversy behind barred doors, Republican members of the house late today approved a plan under which no paragraphs of the tariff bill will be open for separate action on the floor, except those to which the ways and means committee proposes amendments.

The vote on approval of a special rule which will be offered in the house tomorrow was 206 to 24. It provides for consideration of such amendments as may be presented by the committee, including nearly 100 made public today, followed by final passage of the bill next Tuesday.

The rule, approved by the rules committee, 8 to 3, is similar to that under which the Fordney-McCumber bill was considered for amendment seven years ago.

Trades Prove Effective.

The trades made by the various tariff-seeking groups proved effective. Proposals to permit action in the house on the increased duty on sugar and on the imposition of duties on cement, brick, shingles and lumber, heretofore on the free list, were voted down.

Members favoring high duties on sugar and on building materials stood together and also had support from certain of the farm members who were taken care of in increased rates recommended by the committee.

Other agricultural members who were left out of the combination made a bitter fight for an opportunity to open up the building materials schedules for amendment in the house but to no avail.

Kills Reduced Sugar Duty.

The Republican members not only rejected a motion to permit the offering of an amendment for a reduction in the proposed increased duty on sugar but also voted down a proposal by Representative J. Franklin Fort [Rep., N. J.] for a sliding scale of sugar rates dependent upon fluctuating prices. Representative James A. Frear [Rep., Wis.] led the attack on increased sugar duties.

The amendments to the original Hawley bill, which were announced during the day by the Republican members of the ways and means committee and were presented to the house conference, included a number of increases in agricultural duties and also some increases in industrial rates.

Refuses Casein Increase.

While the committee recommended a duty on hides and higher rates on cattle, butter, dried skimmed milk, potatoes, onions, and canned tomatoes, it failed to approve an increase in the duty on casein, which had been urged by dairy interests, and refused to favor a further boost in the duty on flaxseed. Numerous other requests of the farm groups for higher rates also were rejected.

One of the principal disappointments of the agricultural members was action by the committee restoring the duty on blackstrap molasses used for the manufacture of alcohol to one-sixth of a cent per gallon as in the present law.

The Hawley bill, as originally introduced, carried a rate of a trifle more than 2 cents per gallon on such blackstrap as is used for this purpose, other blackstrap, including that used in cattle feed, being subject to the one-sixth of a cent per gallon rate.

The Illinois and Iowa corn growers had sought a duty of 8 cents per gallon as a means of stimulating the use of corn in the manufacture of alcohol. The automobile and drug manufacturers opposed a rate as high as two cents.

Can Carry Fight to Floor.

Under the terms of the rule it will be in order for any member of the house to offer amendments on the floor to such amendments as are presented from the ways and means committee. This means it will be possible for the corn growers of the central states to carry their plea for a higher duty on blackstrap molasses to the floor of the house.

Representative W. E. Hull [Rep., Ill.] announced his intention of offering an amendment providing a duty of 8 cents per gallon on blackstrap molasses used for distilling purposes as a substitute for the committee amendment reducing the rate.

Farm members also will offer amendments on the floor to such other agricultural tariff paragraphs of the bill as are opened up for separate action through the offering of committee amendments.

Increased Farm Tariffs.

Increased protection proposed by the ways and means committee on farm commodities included the following:

Imposition of a duty of 10 per cent on hides, with resulting duties of from 12½ to 30 per cent on leather and 20 per cent on shoes, all of which have been on the free list.

Cattle from 1½ to 2 cents and from 2 to 2½ cents per pound, with the weight limit separating the two classes reduced from 1,050 to 800 pounds.

Butter and egg substitutes from 12 to 14 cents per pound.

Dried skimmed milk from 1½ to 2½ cents per pound.

Potatoes from 50 to 75 cents per 100 pounds.

Onions from 1¾ to 2 cents per pound.

Canned tomatoes from 25 to 40 per cent ad valorem.

Fresh figs from 2 to 4 cent per pound and on preserved figs from 35 to 40 per cent.

Pecans from 3 to 5 cents per pound, unshelled, and from 6 to 10 cents per pound, shelled.

Blue grass and tall oat seed from 2 to 5 cents per pound.

Increased Industrial Levies.

Increased protection proposed by the committee on industrial products included the following:

Imposition of a duty of 60 per cent on women's cotton sueded gloves, which were transferred to the free list in the original bill on the theory that the domestic industry could not compete with Germany. Cotton clothing from 35 to 37½ per cent and cotton collars and cuffs to 10 cents per dozen pieces and 10 per cent ad valorem.

An upward revision of rayon rates to restore rates applying before rayon was separated from the silk schedule.

Spun silk and yarn from 45 to 50 per cent.

Cotton belting from 30 to 40 per cent.

Matches from 11 to 20 cents per gross.

An increase in duties on several items in the chemical schedule, including oleic acid, stearic acid, chalk, and menthol.

Transfer of dynamite and other explosives from the free list and imposition of duties ranging from 1¼ to 12½ cents per pound.

Invites Chicago "Ad" Men to Exposition in Germany

Dr. Rudolph Krohne, minister of transportation of the German republic, yesterday, in the name of President von Hindenburg, extended to advertising men of Chicago an invitation to attend the 25th anniversary celebration and exposition of the International Advertising association in Berlin during August. Dr. Krohne, who is touring this country for the purpose, spoke at the luncheon meeting of the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Hotel La Salle. Last night Dr. Krohne left for Milwaukee, where he will make two addresses today.

THE RESERVE BOARD YIELDS.

The federal reserve advisory council has succeeded in forcing its disagreement with the federal reserve board into the open. The advisory council, chosen from among the ablest financiers in the country, has favored a policy of permitting the individual reserve banks to raise rediscount rates as their directors now find increases advisable. The council submitted its recommendation to the reserve board a month ago, but the recommendation was kept secret and no action was taken upon it. A few days ago the advisory council met again, renewed its recommendation and accompanied it with a request that the recommendation be made public, whether adopted or not.

It is easy to understand why the board wanted to suppress the advice. It has been able to withstand the criticism of its policies or lack of them by seeming to ignore what was said, as if those who differed from the reserve board were such small potatoes as not to be worth the boiling. It is to be hoped that the publication of the council's recommendation is an evidence of a changed outlook on the part of the board.

The advisory council and the semi-independent reserve banks scattered about the country were created to prevent the financial power of the nation from being too closely concentrated in one relatively irresponsible board. The reserve districts were formed in recognition of the varying economic conditions which must be expected in a nation extending from ocean to ocean, and the advisory council was to be made up of men of wide financial experience who were to suggest and criticize reserve policies. The framers of the bill knew what had happened when public suspicion was aroused by previous concentrations of credit control in this country and they devised a machine which they thought would earn and hold public confidence.

In spite of these checks, in recent months the reserve board has nearly succeeded in alienating public opinion. It has dictated rediscount rates to the reserve banks, though its legal power to do so is at least open to question; and it has suppressed the suggestions of its advisory council. Evidence is accumulating that its policies have been dictated in no small part by a preoccupation for European conditions or with financial interests involved in them, and sometimes the board's policies appear to have run counter to America's best interests. When the board forced the Chicago bank to lower its rate, despite the opposition of our bankers, a period of cheap money and stock market inflation was assured. Subsequent efforts to curb speculation have been tempered by a desire to protect foreign industry and commerce from high money. Many of the embarrassments and difficulties which the board has had to face are of its own making, and they might have been avoided if the board had listened to its advisers earlier in the proceedings.

YES, YES, GO ON, SENATOR.

Senator C. A. Swanson of Virginia protested against any reduction of the penalty for fraud in the taking of the census. "The penalty for such an offense," said Senator Swanson of Virginia, "especially when it affects the representation in congress and in the electoral college, ought to be severe."

Senator W. F. George of Georgia also was stirred by the thought that anything might happen to affect constitutional representation in congress and in the electoral college. "It ought to include imprisonment as well as a fine," said Senator George of Georgia.

Louder; not funnier; just louder.

THE LAND OF THE ADULT URCHIN.

The latest addition to the United States treasury department index librorum prohibitorum is Voltaire's "Candide." Thirteen copies consigned to a Boston bookseller have been seized by the collector of the port on a department ruling in Washington that parts of the text make its importation a violation of the moral features of the tariff law. The United States has no index expurgatorius. Its treasury officials do not order elision but only suppression.

Presumably these officials would say that they did not word the law and that they cannot escape the words it has. The Bible itself would be barred from the United States by a strictly bureaucratic opinion on parts of the text of the Old Testament. The idea that public morals would be injured by the importation of copies of "Candide" or any of the other books of great literature which have been prohibited is, of course, not entertained. A censorship law which permits no administrative discretion and cannot rely upon any official common sense must operate from time to time to make fools of its administrators.

The federal theory of government as revealed in this and other instances is that the adult citizens of the United States are irresponsible and wayward urchins. There is a lot of money wasted in this country on so-called institutions of higher learning. There is nothing to show in the government of the land that they produce any results or, indeed, that they have any existence.

CATCHING BOMBERS.

Bombings in Chicago recently have been scarcely less numerous than murders. The latest victim of a bombing outrage was an ice cream concern on the northwest side. Two of the company's trucks were demolished, windows in the neighborhood were smashed and residents shocked, and telephone and light wires in the vicinity were torn down.

The solving of bombing crimes and their prevention should be one of the easiest jobs on the police program. Invariably the motive points to the offender and the discovery of the motive does not demand exceptional detective ability. But the instances of competent and ambitious search for bombers in Chicago are rare. Perhaps the police are not interested because usually only property damage is involved. If that is true they have an improper set of values, for nothing is more destructive of the security of organized society than the danger of terrorization by bombings.

The fiction that bombings are destined to remain mysteries is, of course, productive of more bombings. Consequently a situation may develop wherein the public may be forced to recognize the crime as inevitable and tolerable. Even now the news of bombings is not featured as it would be in a community fully sensitive to the enormity of the crime.

From Mr. Swanson's statements during his campaign we expected that a principal part of his program as state's attorney would be a crusade for the extinction of bombing in Chicago. Therefore his neglect of or unsuccess with measures against this crime has been disappointing. A crusade, properly conducted, would undoubtedly give relief, but if the authorities are not disposed to approach the problems with such fervor they can at least intelligently work for the solution of each crime as it is committed, so that bombers will not feel that they have a license to operate. Bombings can be solved and further bombings discouraged if not completely stopped.

THE NEW CENSUS.

A new census is about to be taken. A census ought to serve a diversity of purposes. In addition to showing how many people there are in the United States and where they live it ought to provide a mass of factual material about them. The census ought to provide as much material as can be accurately and conveniently obtained for the enlightenment of business men, economists, and sociologists as well as lawmakers.

Each new census is likely to be different from its predecessors because of changing conditions of life. This year it is proposed to obtain data on unemployment because of the growing importance which steady employment is seen to have upon the prosperity of the nation at large. Our present figures on unemployment are admitted even by those who have compiled them to be inaccurate quantitatively, though they do serve to show in a broad way the changes from month to month. The question of the extent of unemployment in this country was raised in the last presidential campaign. The Republicans said the country was prosperous. Mr. Smith replied by saying that there were four millions in this country who had no jobs. Mr. Hoover said Mr. Smith was exaggerating, and he probably was, but the figures to prove him wrong were not obtainable. They ought to be collected for the guidance of business men and statesmen.

In addition to covering a broad range of data, the census ought to be honestly and accurately taken. The last census included some scandalous padding of the figures of population in the real estate belt. There should be no repetition of the scandal. The census should be as unbiased by political and personal interest as it is possible to make it.

Editorial of the Day

[Manchester Guardian.]

If the United States customs officers had set out to add to Mr. Hoover's early embarrassments as President they could hardly have done so better than by the present excesses, serious and ridiculous, of their zeal. Compared with sinking a foreign ship on the high seas or heaving to a millionaire's yacht by firing across its bows, it is no doubt a small matter to impound a copy of Rabelais that is being taken ashore by a book collector well known on both sides of the Atlantic. But absurd though the incident is, it serves to remind Americans that a great deal of arbitrary power is wielded at the ports by a staff that has little capacity to exercise it wisely. It is not long since the American customs held up 600 copies of "The Arabian Nights" and another 600 of "The Decameron." They can, in fact, seize anything that is deemed to be "obscene" by officers who are quite incompetent to judge, and though appeal may be made to the higher officials of the department it so rarely succeeds that it is seldom thought worth while. Our own system of unofficial censorship has lately come in for some well deserved criticism, but at its worst it is not so irksome as this. More exasperaing, however, than the loss of a Rabelais to a collector who can lay hold of another tomorrow in his own country is the raid made on the crew's quarters of the Belgenland and the carrying off of the souvenirs the men had collected in various of the world's ports because they had been omitted from the ship's manifest. The mistake was ungraciously made and more ungraciously amended, for when ordered to return the trinkets the customs dumped them, damaged and incomplete, on the ship's deck while the crew were on shore. The knowledge that Americans themselves are as impatient as are their visitors of these absurdities helps to soothe the tempers of the victims, but it is clearly high time that some one in authority took in hand the curbing of the misplaced and often arrogant officiousness of this department of state.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

It was her birthday and her husband had gone off to the office without so much as wishing her many happy returns of the day.

When he returned that evening, however, she was overjoyed to notice that he carried a small parcel under his arm. As he put the little package down on the hall table and kissed her more tenderly than usual she realized that she had done him an injustice.

"I thought you'd forgotten all about it," she said.

"Pipe cleaners!" gasped the woman, peering over his shoulder. "My stars! Pipe cleaners!"

"Yes, pet," was the virtuous answer. "I knew you'd be pleased. You never did like me using your hairpins, did you?"—London Answers.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SPREADING OF DISEASE.

Day by day in every way harder and more hazardous becomes the path of those who carelessly spread disease. Twenty years ago a milk dealer told a farmer to continue shipping him milk even though he knew the product was infected with typhoid. He said he would assume the responsibility. The assurance seemed safe enough since it was not then the style to sue for damages.

Soon thereafter men who had contracted typhoid as the result of the negligence of a milk dealer began to ask for damages. Then a Minnesota court decided that when a municipality sold water which caused typhoid it could be sued. There began a series of suits in some of which damage was proved, negligence was shown and damages were awarded.

The Health News announces that in March of this year the third award of damages was made against Albany, the result of typhoid due to leaks in the aqueduct.

Olean, N. Y., has a typhoid epidemic due to a polluted water supply. So great was the amount of damages awarded that Olean could not pay the bill out of current revenues raised by taxes. It had to issue bonds. For the next twenty years Olean will be paying off these bonds. The next generation will be penalized for a mistake made by the parents.

But these are only the steps in a progression. The Paris correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association adds this morsel to the gayety of nations: "As a result of the conclusions reached by the experts chosen to examine the pipes of the water company that furnished water to the communes in the suburbs of Lyons, where a grave epidemic of typhoid broke out, the courts have fastened the guilt on the local director of the company, it having been established that the bad condition of the pipes that brought water to the city from the springs allowed the infiltration of infected fluids from the cesspools of the region. The courts hold that a grave toll lies against the local director, justifying the charge of homicide due to imprudence and entitling the injured parties to reparation for the damage caused."

The new hazard is the charge of homicide. We may yet have the manager of some American water company or the superintendent of some municipal water works plant arrested, charged with homicide, because of some fatal case of typhoid and sentenced to a few years in the penitentiary.

CAREFUL CONTROL OF DIET.

Mrs. J. R. L. writes: Could you put something in your column about albumin?

I was pregnant about a year ago and lost my baby because my blood pressure went up to 240 and I had albumin.

I seem to be well now outside of having a backache now and then. Would I have that trouble if I became pregnant again? If so, could I diet before or any time to prevent the trouble? I was put on a diet for a month, but that did not seem to clear up my kidneys.

REPLY.

Very careful control of your diet and other matters of hygiene might carry you through another pregnancy safely. Such control should start early and be intelligently and faithfully carried out.

BIBLE AND NERVOUSNESS.

A Friend writes: I am writing about a remedy for nervousness. A lady went to a physician for treatment for her nervous trouble. The doctor told her what she needed was not medical aid but advised her to go home and read her Bible an hour each day for a month and then return and let him know how she was doing. She did so, and came back with a smiling face and happy over her recovery from nervousness. This remedy has proved a true blessing for others.

PAYING DOUBLE.

Chicago, May 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.] — I bought an automobile from a party and got a bill of sale for it. I later sold this auto to another party and gave a bill of sale for it. First party that sold me the car owed $25 on it to a finance company, but did not tell me about it. Finance company cannot locate first party, but located me. Do I have to pay that balance of $25? F. S.

Not unless the original papers were so worded as to give them a lien upon the automobile.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT A CITIZEN.

Chicago, May 20.—[Friend of the People.]—I was born in October, 1903, in Germany and came to Canada when 6 months old. My father became a Canadian citizen, which also made me a Canadian, and in 1921 I came to the United States with my parents. My father has been a citizen of the United States since 1928 and my name is on his papers. I would therefore like to know whether I am a citizen although I came to the United States when I was 18 years old? H. L.

Under the facts stated the applicant was over 21 years of age at the time his father was naturalized. Therefore if his name appears on the certificate it was an error on the part of the clerk of the court or because there were some misstatements. It will be necessary for the writer to proceed toward naturalization by filing a declaration of intention and two years thereafter he may apply for naturalization.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT.
District Director of Naturalization.

SECRET WEDDING.

Chicago, May 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A young couple eloped and married at Crown Point, Ind.

1. Can they later obtain a marriage license in Chicago and be remarried in a church?
2. Can they do this without disclosing the fact of their previous marriage?

G. O. C.

1. Yes.
2. If they make untruthful answers to such questions as the county clerk chooses to ask, they will be subject to prosecution for perjury.

SONGS FOR LYNN.

I.

One's lips linger over it.
Imagination plays with it,
Fancifully striking it again and again
For the strange sounds it evokes.
Yet . . . spoken sharply,
It can go
Swifter than an arrow from the bow.

Written,
The letters look like
Nesting places for fairies and elves,
On top of the "L"
And in the "Y"
They hang themselves.

A man's name,
With hidden connotations
Of delicacy, sympathy, and understanding.
. . . Your name. . . .

LYNNETTE.

We Have with Us Tonight— (Lykell, Lykell!)

Secretary of Commerce Lamont says that the biggest difficulty he finds in his new position is thinking up excuses to get out of making speeches. That must be pretty hard for a member of the cabinet. We always say we've just fallen off the roof and broken a leg and three ribs, but if Mr. Lamont said that, the next day the newspapers would have a picture of him walking with the President. Pleading that you have another engagement doesn't do much good, for the answer to that one is, "Well, what day can you come?" Really, now, Mr. Lamont, about the best thing to do is to carry a bright red lipstick in your left-hand vest pocket and before the speaking committee comes in make little dots all over your face. Then when they ask you to make a speech you say: "Oh, impossible! I'm coming down with either the measles or the smallpox, and I wouldn't think of exposing an audience to the danger of catching it." By this time the committee will have jumped through the window, and there's one speech you won't have to make.

A Lead Pipe Cinch.

Bofferty Bogg, a Cleveland plumber, has been enthusiastically proposed by old Jazbo of Old Dubuque for president of our Academy of Immortals, to be elected at the annual election in June. Old Jazbo says Otto Gurgle of North Freedom, Wis., has been president long enough and that it is time to make a change. "With Bofferty Bogg, plumber, as our candidate," says Jazbo, "it's a pipe. Hurrah!"

For Bofferty Bogg, let's go the whole hog,
And roll Otto Gurgle out like a log;
Let's be all agog, and jump like a frog,
For the plumber from Cleveland, Bofferty Bogg.

Stop, You're Breaking Our Heart!

And, there is the sad story, peddled by Variety, of Charley Samuels, reporter on the Brooklyn Standard News Association. Charley was out patrolling the Brownsville sector when a big poison-and-suicide story broke. At least, Charley was supposed to be out doing that. Instead, Charley was pleasantly occupied signing a talkie-dialogue contract with Pathé for about ten times as much money a week as he had before thought anybody in the world ever got. Meantime, the biggest story of the week broke and every paper in town scooped the Standard on it. About 5 o'clock Charley nonchalantly called his office. The verbal explosion that greeted him was something to expurgate before sending through the mails.

"New York," lied Charley cheerfully.

"Jeremy Christmas Allah!" The windows of the Standard News shook with the editor's rage. "You're FIRED!"

Charley collapsed against the booth. His light and happy heart sank to leaden depths. The world that had indeed seemed the best of all possible worlds that afternoon turned to acrid dust and bitter ashes.

"And to think," he moaned, as he walked sadly and disconsolately homeward, "that I been waiting years to tell that goddam editor to go to hell and now I get the chance, he fires me before I can do it."

ELEGY.

Written in a Public Library.

The dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear"—
Till Book o' Month Clubs come upon the scene,
And deep-sea critics give to them the air.

A female Conrad, or a she McFee
Joan, the flapper Skipper might appear,
So well debunked is her biography,—
So full of cuss-words, skittles, brine and beer,

The applause of fiction readers to command;
But as a craftsman of the Story True,
With chroniclers ingenuous to stand,
I fear the ingenious Joan won't do.

EOLUS.

Lagniappe.

"LET US ARRANGE Your Trip to Europe," said a big fat folder in many colors that came to us yesterday. That's all right with us, go ahead and arrange it. Then arrange to get the money to pay for it. We always have more trouble arranging that than we do deciding whether we'll go to Heidelberg and drink beer or to Treves and live on wine.

THE WAY the case stands now is that England will consent to America's plan for naval disarmament if the U. S. will make Helen Wills wear socks when Queen Mary is in the grandstand.

THE CUSTODIANS of our morals have barred Voltaire's masterpiece, "Candide," from coming into the country. It's darned lucky for us that Shakespeare's already in; he'd never get by these days.

THE GIRLS now are painting their faces a warm, rich saddle color. And time was when the highest prize we could give a gal was that she had such a pretty pink and white complexion. Now, it seems if a flapper thought people wouldn't take her for a mandarin's daughter or a Malay flower girl she'd cry her eyes out. The Yellow Peril has got us at last.

AND today's walterwinchell is that a contract is an admission of mutual doubt.

FARMERS out in Iowah said to be forwarding $6,000 every month to England to cut in on the estate left by Sir Francis Drake. They think they descended from that Drake, the poor geese.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 24, 1864.

THE NEWS.—From Gen. Grant's army in Virginia we have nothing later than was printed yesterday. There is something on the tapis which it is desirable the rebels shall be the first to find out, and loyal men can wait patiently, assured from all the tokens that this time "no news is good news."

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Stanton announced that he had received dispatches from Gen. Sherman in Georgia stating that he would be ready by this morning to resume operations in the direction of Atlanta.

NEW YORK.—A Washington dispatch says that upward of 20,000 sick and wounded have been transferred from the field in Virginia to Washington hospitals. More than 8,000 prisoners have been brought in from the field. Many thousand veteran troops have been sent to reinforce Gen. Grant.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Maj. Gen. R. J. Oglesby arrived in the city for the Union state convention, and has his headquarters at the St. Nicholas hotel. Delegates from all parts of the state are arriving and prospects are the convention will be unusually large.

CHICAGO.—John E. Watkins and Eliza Baker were married on May 7 by the Rev. E. W. Hager. T. D. Cleveland and Miss Jennie E. Vaughan were married on May 19 by the Rev. R. L. Collier of the Wabash Avenue Methodist church.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 24, 1899.

PARIS.—Everybody connected with the Dreyfus affair seems now to be in a communicative frame of mind. Esterhazy publishes today over his signature his revision of the document known as the "Faux Otto," which formed a part of the Dreyfus secret dossier. "Faux Otto," he affirms, was a false document fabricated in the war office with the object of letting the Dreyfusards get possession of it, then proving its falsity.

WASHINGTON.—According to current belief here Admiral Dewey's departure from Manila was hastened by the serious differences of opinion between the civil and military members of the Philippine commission. It is understood that Gen. Otis and Dewey have been repeatedly outvoted by the civilians, and it is whispered that a disagreeable clash impended when Dewey left.

CHICAGO.—Mr. Samuel Insull, 49 Delaware place, and Miss Margaret Anna Bird [Gladys Wallis] were married last night at the residence of the bride's mother in New York. Mr. Insull telegraphed the news to Mr. William G. Beale and requested him to announce it.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 24, 1919.

BERLIN.—[By Richard Henry Little.]—The greatest demonstration I have ever seen was staged in Berlin on May 21 when hundreds of thousands of people paraded the streets demanding that the government sign the peace terms at once.

PARIS.—It was announced that the treaty to be presented to Austria will be considered at a plenary session on May 27, and be laid before the Austrian delegation probably the next day. Under the terms Austria's formidable army of upward of a million men, and second only to that of Germany, is reduced to 15,000 men.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Johnson opened the battle in the senate against the league of nations when during four hours of furious debate the Republicans demanded the complete text of the peace treaty, now locked up in the state department. Senator Hitchcock denied that the treaty has been published in Germany as charged.

CHICAGO.—This city is called upon to produce 2,000 good, substantial, living wage jobs—her real and permanent welcome to heroes of the Prairie division. Nine thousand one hundred native sons are coming home with the state's own division, and 7,100 of them are returning to their old jobs.

CHICAGO.—The "Gold Star Mothers" bazaar opens in the Coliseum today with Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, honorary chairman, presiding at the opening exercises. Among its patronesses are Mrs. George M. Reynolds, Mrs. Edward Morris, Mrs. Frederick Countiss, Mrs. William Wrigley Jr., Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mrs. E. J. Lehmann, Mrs. Russell Tyson, and Mrs. Clara Fort.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 to 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

CASTE AT THE BALL PARK.

Berwyn, Ill., May 20.—Can anybody tell me why the bleacher section in a ball park is uncovered? Is it a class distinction between a poor baseball fan and a rich one?

A matter of 50 cents in price might have saved a young girl and an aged man from a very distressing death—crushed—in New York yesterday.

ART STUART.

THE FREAK EIGHTEENTH.

San Francisco, Cal., May 14.—In your issue of May 11 "B. F. C." states that he has been endeavoring to justify the position taken by President Hoover, through his attorney general, that he is not called upon to enforce the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments "because congress has not seen fit to pass enforcement legislation."

If congress has not seen fit to pass enforcement legislation for those amendments, then, according to the attorney general, it follows conclusively, without possible opening for contradicting, that no other amendment lacking such congressional action need be enforced.

In this connection it might be recalled that congress has not seen fit to pass legislation for the first ten amendments to the constitution, nor has congress seen fit to pass enforcement legislation for the thirteenth amendment, nor the sixteenth, nor the seventeenth, nor the nineteenth, because there is no objection or opposition to them. Everybody is satisfied because they are the law; the fourteenth and fifteenth being generally observed in the north without question while disregarded in the south.

As there is, according to the attorney general, no requirement for the President to see that any of these amendments are executed or enforced, then how can there be any reason for anybody else obeying them in any way? That is as plain as daylight. No enforcement legislation passed by congress, then, no amendment to be obeyed or enforced or paid any attention to except the eighteenth, and to enforce that one it is permissible to violate about every other law in the land and the ten commandments as well.

FRANKLIN FOWLER.

ONE EVIL FOR ANOTHER.

Evanston, Ill., May 12.—In further reference to the question one of your readers asked about the number of young women introduced to a life of prostitution by dry agents, may I suggest that the inquiry be broadened to a review of the facts in the case of young women introduced to the same sort of life by the saloon? A fairly good start on this inquiry can be gained from perusing the report of the Chicago vice commission.

EARL GODWIN.

REFORMATORIES AND HARD ROADS.

Toluca, Ill., May 15.—Occasionally we hear an outburst that Chicago has outgrown the rest of the state and should be a state itself. It builds and maintains most of the paved road system and its problems are so different that it is unbearable to be ruled by a downstate majority which is always passing laws favorable to the downstate residents.

While Cook county has done much for the Illinois road system, why so much ado about it? We see Chicago car licenses every day in almost every town in the state, so they are using their own property to advantage. The rest of the state balances this by building and through taxation maintaining the penal institutions that are needed to take care of the criminals that come almost entirely from the big cities. I estimate that the one hundred and one counties outside of Cook have an average of five prisoners to the county in Joliet, Chester and Pontiac, which would be five hundred and five prisoners.

I have seen truck loads of boys from Cook county transferred from the station at Pontiac to the reformatory. I don't know of a boy in the reformatory from this county, Marshall, at this time.

B. H.

FOR EXPOSURE OF QUACK D. O.

Chicago, May 21.—By all means have THE TRIBUNE conduct a course of action that shall clean our city of all types of medical quackery. In the winter issue, 1929, of the classified telephone directory, under the listing of osteopathic physicians there are printed 122 names. Precisely 44 are quack osteopathic physicians. They are not associated and never have been associated with organized osteopathy in this state in any manner other than having their names listed in the telephone directories with the qualified osteopathic physicians.

Official records show that only 4 of this group of 44 quack osteopaths ever matriculated or attended classes in an osteopathic college recognized by the American Osteopathic association. They did not graduate. Official records also show that most of this group of 44 are chiropractors and naprapaths and nondescripts trading on the prestige of osteopathy.

Let these 44 individuals practice whatever they were taught in the schools they attended and leave osteopathy to those who are qualified to practice it by attending a recognized osteopathy college for four years of professional training and the real degree of doctor of osteopathy.

WARNS CHURCH NOT TO MEDDLE WITH POLITICS

Dean Mathews Calls City to Fight Lawlessness.

An admonition against the danger of ecclesiastical meddling in political affairs was issued last night by Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago Divinity school. The warning was given in a message to the Chicago Church federation, of which he is president.

Massmeetings will be held in all parts of Chicago next Sunday night as the climax of the federation's drive to stir its 800 affiliated congregations to action against crime and lawlessness. The message of Dean Mathews who was formerly president of the Federal Council of Churches, will be read at all meetings and he will address several of them.

Warns Against Impatience.

"If the churches are to help set up political and moral decency they must not be impatient or censorious," declared Dean Mathews' message. "They must realize that they are dealing with perverse human nature.

"More than that, the churches must realize that the administration of law is not their affair. That belongs to men who have been elected to enforce the law. Nothing would be more dangerous than to have political life organized on ecclesiastical lines.

"The churches of Chicago have as much interest in its welfare as has business. A municipality that is being abused by its officials; that dares not allow investigation of the use of funds voted by citizens; that permits gunmen and gamblers to escape arrest, or if arrested to escape punishment, certainly needs the sense of decency that churches represent.

Like Chicago, Like U. S.

"The situation in Chicago is symptomatic of the situation in the country, but we expose our sins more frankly. Whatever other charges have been brought against Chicago, no one ever said that either its newspapers or its reformers have been hypocrites.

"The purpose of these community meetings to which this message is addressed is to arouse the churches to a sense of the crisis that the city faces; to help them realize their duty to produce moral vigor and to adopt methods that will educate young and old to the moral responsibilities of citizenship."

HOOVER, TAFT, AND OTHERS DISCUSS CRIME IN GEORGIA PAPER

Atlanta, Ga., May 23.—[Special.]—Fundamentals in the vital problems of crime and the observance of law are discussed by President Hoover, Chief Justice Taft, United States Senators W. J. Harris and Walter F. George, and other notables in the current issue of the Christian Index, a Georgia Baptist weekly. One hundred articles on the growing problem of criminality are carried in the issue.

President Hoover's statement, which is given to the front page, reads as follows:

"What we are facing today is the possibility that respect for law, as law, is fading from the sensibilities of our people. The duty to enforce the laws rests upon every citizen. The very essence of freedom is obedience to law; liberty itself has but one foundation, and that in the law."

Chief Justice Taft is quoted as follows:

"I am greatly encouraged with the response coming from our people in all sections of the country for the enforcement of our laws. I believe better days are ahead. And when our already good laws are supported by a united and enlightened public opinion based on the fundamental doctrines of democracy and the fear of Almighty God we shall realize what we must all now desire to see, the law in its majesty."

YOUNG OUTLAW BEATS WOMAN, 84, IN HOME HOLDUP

Lake county authorities and Waukegan police are searching for a young robber who yesterday held up Mrs. Emily Moulton, 84 years old, in her Waukegan home and beat her with a blackjack in an effort to force her to give him money which he believed was concealed in the house. The bandit gained entrance by posing as a telephone repair man. When Mrs. Moulton refused his demand for $1,000 he struck her with the blackjack. She fled, attempting to escape through a rear door, and fell on the steps. Her assailant brought her back in the house, ransacked the place and fled. Mrs. Moulton is a cousin of Mayor L. J. Yager of Waukegan.

LOTS OF ADVICE TO HOOVER'S LAW ENFORCING BODY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—[Special.]—Much volunteer advice on how to get the best results from his new law enforcement commission has been received by the President in the last two days.

Drys and wets alike have advised Mr. Hoover by letter and by personal interview as to how the commission's work should be conducted.

Drys especially have urged Mr. Hoover to cripple the value of the enforcement body by limiting its investigation of the prohibition question to methods of making the eighteenth amendment effective. Bishop James Cannon Jr., Anti-Saloon league director and militant dry, expressed the views of the reform organizations yesterday when he lunched with President Hoover.

"Of Course, Let Dry Law Alone."

"Of necessity," Bishop Cannon said in commenting on the scope of the commission, "prohibition law enforcement will be included in this study, not to determine whether the 18th amendment is a mistake and should be repealed, but to determine what educative and enforcement methods, including statutory legislation, will secure the best results in fighting the liquor traffic."

Others Say, "Seek Faults."

Other advisers have urged Mr. Hoover to have the commission conduct a thorough investigation into all phases of prohibition enforcement, including the 18th amendment and the laws enacted for its enforcement. Their contention has been that if prohibition is the cause of much of the "lawlessness," spoken of by the President in his New York address before the Associated Press, then the commission should make recommendations which would remedy this situation.

Throws Roomer Out, Sets Dog on Him; Is Fined $25

Hershel Felte, 21 years old, kept his landlady, Mrs. Anne McDonald, 50 years old, 1112 North Dearborn street, awake with his nocturnal gambols, so she threw him out of the house, she told Judge McCarthy in the Chicago avenue court yesterday. But the youth added that when he returned the next day, May 17, to get his clothes, Mrs. McDonald again threw him out bodily and then set her dog on him. Judge McCarthy fined the landlady $25 and costs.

TWO SUSPECTS IN CRIMINAL CASES FORFEIT BONDS

Two defendants in Criminal courts decided yesterday that it was easier to forfeit their bonds than to take a chance on being sent to the penitentiary. This move is becoming prevalent in the courts and an order has been issued that every effort be made to hold the bondsmen liable.

John Loring, 22 years old, skipped his $5,000 bond in Judge William J. Lindsay's court. The judge forfeited the bond, ordered a capias and raised the bond to $25,000. Fred Butler, 18 years old, a co-defendant with Loring on a burglary charge, was given 1 to 20 years in prison on his plea of guilty.

Nick Visco, 30 years old, fled from the courtroom of Judge D. J. Normoyle where he was to be tried for assault to rob William A. Saracino, 4007 Oakdale avenue. He did a similar trick last September. Judge Normoyle forfeited the bond and raised it to $50,000.

FRANCE DECIDES TO LET RANK OF MARSHAL DIE OUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 23.—The title of Marshal of France will be allowed to die out, the French cabinet decided today.

In order to make sure the prestige of the marshals of the world war will remain unclouded by later appointments to the exalted post the government decided to let it die out with the present holders, Joseph Joffre, Louis Felix Marie Francois Franchet d'Esperey, Henri Philippe Petain and Louis Hubert Lyautey.

The decision comes as a shock to friends of Gen. Guillaumat, commander of the armies on the Rhine, and Gen. Debeney, announcement of whose appointment was expected momentarily.

CARS HIT IN COVERED BRIDGE.

Petersburg, Ind., May 23.—[Special.]—Dello Barnett, 32 years old, was seriously injured, and William Booth sustained severe bruises when a car in which they were riding collided with one driven by Robert Houchins in the covered bridge across Patoka river, just south of Winslow, last night.

T'S WAR RECORD VS. JAIL CAREER N EDITOR'S CASE

rmy Service Is Verified; Leniency Sought.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

An indelible jail record and a tem- rarily elusive war record gave Rob- Elliot Burns, Chicago magazine tor and escaped Georgia chain gang vict, several bad hours yesterday. siness friends, mainly prominent lty operators, were deep in plans his release when a wire from shington announced that there was record of war service by a man of t name. Proceedings slowed up ptly, but the atmosphere cleared night as another message arrived firming his claim to overseas vice.

Claude Niles, a vice president of G. Stone & Co., yesterday posted personal, certified check for $5,000, bond required by Judge Joseph David, and Burns was given his eedom. Indications were that his erty would be short lived, for Gov. G. Hardman of Georgia telegraphed t he could do nothing toward cle- ncy in Burns' case until the prison- had returned and actually begun serve out his sentence.

War Record Verified.

Burns, whose claim that he served four fronts in France with the th New York railway engineers was stantiated by war department rec- s at Washington, explains that he sentenced to serve six to ten years participation in a robbery netting out $5, perpetrated when he was ving after his return from France. accuses his wife, Mrs. Emily rns, of having betrayed his secret ough jealousy of Miss Lillian Salo, younger woman with whom he had len in love.

Washington reported last night that veteran had enlisted under the e of Elliot Burns April 18, 1917, was discharged at Camp Devens, ss., May 2, 1919. He participated the Somme, Aisne-Marne, Meuse- gonne, and Chateau-Thierry engage- nts, but there is no record that was wounded or decorated as he d, the report stated.

Confirmation of his war service, wever, is expected to start again machinery set in motion largely ough the efforts of Axel Lonnquist, l estate man, who has had his own orneys prepare a petition to be mitted to Gov. Hardman on behalf Burns.

Emmerson Promises Hearing.

Gov. Emmerson has already been titioned to give him a hearing when extradition papers arrive today tomorrow from Georgia, and has icated a willingness to do so, either sonally or through a delegated offi- . It is within the Illinois execu- 's power to refuse to grant the radition, but it is considered im- able that this move will be made. Emmerson refused to make a ement until he has heard the de- of the case.

J. C. Bentley, chief of police of pbell county, Ga., and F. H. Red- , county commissioner, were in ago yesterday to escort Burns to finish his term. They will ain here until his extradition has n arranged.

Officials of the American Legion terday issued a statement to the ct that no official action had been en by the organization in the ns case nor would be until the in- tigation under way has been com- ed, and then only if the merits of situation justify it in the opin- of members of the executive com- ttee.

YOUTHS HELD FOR EXTORTION.

hn Kubica, 18 years old, 2016 West h street, and Frank Barta, 27 years old, 8 Millard avenue, were held to the grand y in bonds of $2,500 each in Boy's court terday on a charge of extortion.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON 44 PROJECTS WILL BE STARTED TODAY

Public hearings on 44 improvements, involving an expenditure of nearly $5,000,000, will be started by the board of local improvements this morning in the city council chambers. The largest item is the Rogers Park sewer to be constructed at a cost of $3,598,000. It will drain the territory between Lawrence avenue and the city limits on the north, Clark street and the lake. The sewer, six miles in length, has the approval of the sanitary district, according to officials of the board. Resurfacing of the streets between Crawford avenue and Kostner, 26th and 31st streets, at an estimated cost of $353,000 will be decided upon today also.

PULLMAN MAIDS AND PORTERS ASK NEW WAGE SCALE

Representatives of the porters and maids employed by the Pullman company are in Chicago to negotiate a new working agreement with the company. They were selected at elections held under the terms of the Pullman company employé representation plan, and are not connected with the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, which the company does not recognize.

"We expect a wage increase to be announced as the outcome of the negotiations," said E. Phillips Randolph, national organizer of the porters' brotherhood.

"We shall regard such concessions as an attempt to undermine us, but nevertheless an indirect result of our fight for higher wages and better working conditions for Pullman porters and maids."

Ford Guest of 2,000 Jews at a Dinner in New York

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Henry Ford tonight was one of the guests at a dinner given by more than 2,000 Jews in honor of David A. Brown, Jewish philanthropist of Detroit and New York. Mr. Ford did not speak, but issued a statement in which he praised Mr. Brown as "a shining example of the great benevolence of the Jewish people, their philanthropy, their eagerness to make this world better, to educate the untutored, to heal the sick, to care for the orphans; their intent and intelligent participation in all that makes for civic righteousness and social justice stamps them a great people."

Speakers included Mayor James J. Walker, Judge Alfred J. Murphy, former mayor of Detroit and dean of the Circuit court of Michigan, and Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish committee.

GOOD PROMISES BILL TO DRAFT WEALTH IN WAR

Drops Man Power Act Till Next Session.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Legislation providing for the drafting of industry as well as man power in war will be asked of regular session of congress when it meets in December, Secretary of War Good asserted today. A bill calling for conscription of man power only was introduced a few days ago, but will not be pressed for action at the special session. Secretary Good said today that the war department has been preparing comprehensive plans for the drafting of men and industry for several months and that he expected they will be ready within three months. The bill introduced in congress a few days ago is just a part of this plan, he said.

"The war department favors the drafting of the industrial groups the same as men, and is on record as considering both classes on the same footing," Mr. Good said. "Studies of universal draft of men and industries have been in progress for years. There is at present a permanent committee of industrial leaders which confers with the war department on this subject at stated intervals."

The James bill to conscript man power, which was endorsed by Secretary Good, was denounced on the floor of the senate because it failed to call for the drafting of wealth as well as man power.

Many senators and representatives have opposed conscription legislation because they do not believe it would be to the best interests of the nation to give such dictatorial power to the President for possible use in peace time.

BERLIN REJECTS REVISED ALLIED DEBT PROPOSAL

Says Plan Is Distortion of Young Scheme.

BY GEOFFREY FRASER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 23.—Germany refuses to accept the latest allied reparations proposal. This is the result of today's conferences between Chancellor Herman Mueller, leading members of the cabinet, and prominent lights of finance and industry.

The foreign office takes the view that the proposal is a pure distortion of Owen D. Young's plan and merely a camouflaged repetition of the allies' original plan, which Owen D. Young and J. Pierpont Morgan, the American delegates, refused to indorse. The government considers the proposals much worse than the Dawes plan and sees no reason for Germany to accept a plan which deprives it of the protection afforded by the Dawes plan without giving an equivalent protection.

Will Heed America's Advice.

At the same time the cabinet is resolved to do everything possible to keep the door open, especially in view of American advice tendered privately some days ago that it would not be wise on Germany's part to run the risk of being accused of responsibility for making the Paris conference a fiasco. America's attitude all through the conference is felt here to have been most fair and warrants every consideration possible being given the American advice.

The foreign office tonight denied a story, persistent in political circles, that the last attempt to snatch a settlement in Paris will consist of telling the allies, "We are prepared to accept the latest proposals provided you agree to an immediate or very early evacuation of the Rhineland and Saar districts."

Stresemann Favors Adjournment.

Whether or not the government intends to resort to this desperate step, Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, personally is understood to be convinced that it is not likely to meet acceptance by the Quai d'Orsay, so he favors proceeding straightaway to what will be the next step—namely: to ask the conference to adjourn until autumn. The foreign minister takes the view that Germany cannot lose anything by this course.

In the meantime it can go on paying the full Dawes payments, which it would have to do anyway under the latest allied proposals until the end of the year. The Wilhelmstrasse hopes that by the time the conference reassembles the allies will have come to realize that Germany's reply to the Young compromise suggestion represents the utmost limit to which it can go.

Fear Conference Is Doomed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 23.—Advices tonight from Berlin deflated some of the optimism of the reparations experts, who had seen an eventual accord inevitable since the points of disagreement between the Germans and their creditors had been reduced so far.

The German delegation exuded pessimism, letting it be known it thought the conference doomed. In allied quarters the opinion is expressed that the difficulties are being exaggerated in order to cover up the real obstacle, which is the attitude of German industrial circles, which Dr. Albert Voegler, second German delegate, represented. Dr. Voegler resigned today and his place has been taken by Dr. Ludwig Kastl. Dr. Schacht and Dr. Voegler called on the American and allied delegations today, but arrived at no results.

STRIKING STUDENTS AND BOARD TO CONFER OVER SUPERINTENDENT

Urbana, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—A committee of students will meet with members of the local school board at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to iron out difficulties following a strike of students of both high school and grade school today in protest against the removal of Michael L. Flaningam, superintendent of schools.

Flaningam resigned last week following filing of charges against him by members of his teaching staff, alleging that he had talked to them too familiarly on sex questions.

More than 400 high school students opened the strike following the first period class this morning and they were joined this afternoon by students of Thornburn Junior High school. A parade through the business and residence sections of the city was held, with cries of "Strike for Mike!" filling the air.

Leaders of the walkout hope to obtain the return of Flaningam, who resigned when reports following a secret meeting of the board of education said he would be discharged.

FLEE UNHURT FROM FLAMES.

PLUMBERS LOSE TEN YEAR BATTLE TO STEAMFITTERS

National Group Settles Union Controversy.

The headquarters of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters at Washington yesterday made a decision which will end a ten year struggle between Chicago steamfitters and plumbers over jurisdictional claims.

The decision of the association formed by the national organization of the two unions, refuses recognition to claims of the plumbers to some of the work performed for years by members of the steamfitters' trade. Disputes between the two unions, known as the "pipe trades," have halted and threatened to stop some of the largest Chicago projects during the last ten years.

Win Praise of Builders.

"Chicago builders are interested mainly in the continuation of construction, and this can only be accomplished with complete elimination of jurisdictional disputes between building trades," said Oscar W. Rosenthal, president of the Builders' association of Chicago, last night.

"Both steamfitters and plumbers are to be commended for the round table procedure they adopted to settle their differences."

Three weeks ago the steamfitters sent Charles M. Rau and Martin Durkin, two union representatives, to headquarters at Washington to present the steamfitters' side of the dispute. The plumbers sent Charles Mulcahy and Patrick Egan. The decision is hailed as a sweeping victory for the steamfitters.

Threaten Sanitary District.

Organized labor took a hand in the affairs of the sanitary district yesterday when representatives from the International Union of Operating Engineers challenged the district's right to drop union workmen from the pay roll in the readjustment of political patronage under the régime of Howard W. Elmore as president. Anton J. Imhahn, business agent for the union, threatened to call a strike of operating engineers in the district's employ as a result of the dismissal of Carl Rathert, a stationary engineer at the north side treatment plant.

In the course of a clash with Trustee Henry A. Berger, Imhahn declared that Rathert was efficient and was being dropped for political reasons. After a conference with Trustee Frank J. Link, chairman of the employment committee, Trustee Berger agreed to postpone action on Rathert's case pending an investigation into the engineer's efficiency.

1928 AUTO TOLL IN U. S. IS 27,500; UP 6.3 PER CENT

National Safety Council Publishes Survey.

Of 96,000 persons killed in accidents in the United States last year, 27,500 met death in automobile accidents, the National Safety council announced yesterday in its annual report of "accident facts." The survey shows that motor deaths are on the increase, while the general trend of all other accidents is downward.

The accident total is 3.1 per cent higher than the 1927 figure of 93,078, set by the United States census bureau. It is 30 per cent higher than the low year of 1921 and 16 per cent above that in 1913. In the last 15 years the trend has been downward, but the decline is offset by the alarming increase of auto fatalities.

Increase in Country Areas.

The 1928 auto toll is 6.3 per cent higher than for 1927 and five times as high as in 1913 per 100,000 population. The survey points out that the country areas experienced a greater proportionate increase than city districts. It establishes a definite seasonal trend for auto deaths, with the peak in the fall months, beginning in September.

Of the auto total, 15,950, or 58 per cent, were pedestrians. Collisions of motor vehicles caused 16 per cent, with railroad trains contributing 5 per cent and electric cars 3 per cent. Between the ages of 5 and 64 years autos cause more deaths than any other type of accidents.

The survey places the United States accident death rate much higher than that of any other country of importance. The six major accidental death causes in the order of their numerical importance are: Automotive, exclusive of railroad accidents; falls, railroad accidents, drowning, burns, conflagrations excepted, and street car accidents.

24,000 Die in Homes.

There were 24,000 fatal home accidents and approximately the same number in industry, the report states, pointing out that the industrial worker is as safe as the housewife and children. Nearly 40 per cent of the home tragedies occurred as the result of falls. There were 5,240 deaths from burns, scalds and explosions; 4,320 from asphyxiation and suffocation, and 1,920 from poison in the home. Infections from cuts and scratches took 480 lives.

There were 20,500 fatalities in public places not involving autos, such as drowning, firearms and railroads. Civil aviation had a toll of 368, an increase of 125 per cent over 1927. Passengers killed outnumbered pilots by 40 per cent.

Woman Killed, Two Hurt.

Mrs. Florence Truesdale, 55 years old, 585 West 57th street, was killed and two men were possibly fatally injured when an automobile collided with a Hammond, Whiting, and East Chicago street car in Hammond. The injured men are Fred G. Williams, 55 years old, 2835 East 76th street, and Wilson Stevenson, 54 years old, 8547 Green street, the motorman of the car.

With one death reported in Cook county yesterday the 1929 motor toll rose to 291.

Michael Doyle, 70 years old, 5617 South Bishop street, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Henry S. Lenzing, 1208 West 83d street, at Ashland avenue and 56th street. Doyle died at the Southwest General hospital.

CHARGED WITH ABUSING BOY.

Robert E. Barnard, 41 years old, owner of a bicycle shop at 1110 North boulevard, Oak Park, will be arraigned today on a charge of abusing Henry Johannsen, 13 years old, Elmhurst.

"CHICAGO MAY," ILL, TO WED EX-CONVICT IN HOSPITAL ON MONDAY

Philadelphia, Pa., May 23.—[Special.]—May Vivienne Churchill, known to the police of three continents as "Chicago May," blackmailer and underworld queen of a generation ago, is to be married here next Monday to Charles Smith, who served time with her for the attempted assassination of Eddie Guerin, according to Henry J. Nelson, lawyer, who said he is counsel for the couple.

"Chicago May" is reported to be a patient in a Philadelphia hospital, where she probably will undergo a serious operation.

It was intimated the marriage ceremony will be performed in a hospital room. Nelson would not say how long "Chicago May" has been in Philadelphia nor whether Charlie Smith is in the city.

Missing Collector Is Believed Holdup Victim

Eugene Clutz, 30 years old, 3343 Monroe street, a collector for the Prudential Life Insurance company, 4750 Washington boulevard, who has been missing from his home since Wednesday, is being sought by police. His brief case was found at Monroe street and Laramie avenue Wednesday, leading company officials to believe he had been attacked and robbed. He had $350 of the company's funds with him when he disappeared.

Police Arrest 16 Boys in Bicycle Theft Roundup

What appeared to Austin police as a well organized juvenile bicycle theft ring was uncovered last night through the arrest of John Jensen, 15 years old, 4320 Kinzie street, and John Schultz, 12 years old, 454 North Hamlin avenue. The lads named 18 other boys as their accomplices, fourteen of whom were taken into custody by the police. The police recovered 30 bicycles they allege the boys had stolen. They are being held at the juvenile detention home.

is not unknown to Wall Street . . . in fact, we should say he is a rather potent figure there. One seems to recall it was the news of his entering the Board of International Gas which urged the public to flock to that stock and send it kiting. But quite aside from all such froth, it is said that when he steps from his motor, of a morning, the crease in Mr. Fleet's trousers is never too dull nor too sharp, his boots too shiny, his hat too angular . . . rather, he appears charmingly careless. His jacket of correct London length is graced with shoulders of seemly width, and trifling sleeve-head puffs suggest the touch of a quite expert cutter. In the slight space above his waistcoat a deftly knotted Spitalfield abides in consummate contrast with the pure white or subdued colour of a custom shirt; indeed, everything about the man might well inflate the hopes of tailor, clothier, haberdasher or bootmaker, for Mr. Fleet is impressive, splendid and opulent . . . fine raiment appears a quite serious part of his life. And how can this style-conscious individual be touched . . . his sartorial desires stirred? How can he be made aware of the retailer or manufacturer of clothes, and the various incidentals of dress? How can his tastes and needs cause ledgers to expand? And then, suddenly, we know . . . we have always known . . . this gentleman and all his type read The Sun vigorously . . . not everything in it, perhaps, but much about sports, markets, shipping . . . authentic current news . . . and the advertisements, of course.

BOY OF 6 GIVEN 14-YR. TERM IN REFORM SCHOOL

Tried by Kentucky Jury for Killing Playmate.

Paintsville, Ky., May 23.—(AP)—A small boy who prattled unconcernedly with playmates while a jury tried him on a manslaughter charge tonight faced a sentence of almost fifteen years in reform school for slaying an 8 year old child following an altercation over a piece of scrap iron which the two sought to sell to a junk dealer.

The boy, Carl Newton Mahan, 6½ years old, was sentenced by a jury in County court today to serve until he is 21 years old in the reformatory at Greendale, Ky., for the killing of his playmate, Cecil van Hoose, son of Albert van Hoose, a railroad fireman.

Defense Demands Jury.

Although juvenile cases usually are tried without jury, counsel for the defense had demanded a venire and the case was tried by a jury which deliberated thirty-five minutes before bringing in a verdict. Judge John W. Butcher pronounced sentence.

John Wheeler of defense counsel announced he would file motion for a new trial.

Paul C. Hager, a witness, testified that the boy had told him he shot his playmate because the Van Hoose youngster had struck him and that he meant to kill Van Hoose.

Mrs. Manuel Fitzpatrick, a neighbor, testified she heard a quarrel, but that the sounds ceased and she decided matters had been patched up.

Climbs Chair to Get Gun.

Testimony was that Carl, who is of average size for his age, ran into the house following the quarrel, climbed on a chair, took his father's shotgun from the wall, and short his erstwhile playmate in the chest.

Mrs. John Mahan, mother of the defendant, testified her son told her he did not know the gun was loaded. She heard the boy threaten to kill his playmate, she said, but thought the threats were idle.

That a question of law will be raised tomorrow appeared almost certain tonight. The defense will contend there is no law in Kentucky by which a child under 10 years old can be sent to reform school.

He Leaps to Death, Crying "Good-by and Good Luck"

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—With a bright "Good-by, good luck and God bless you," a man thought to be Paul Liunce, a civil engineer of Brooklyn, leaped to his death from the promenade of the Manhattan bridge early today into East river, 155 feet below. His valedictory was addressed to James Albracht, who was returning home across the bridge after an unsuccessful search for a job in Brooklyn.

ECONOMICS MUST FILL THE SKIES

EVERY CRACKER advertisement you see helps put a cracker between two jaws. Every airplane advertisement you see helps put an airplane in the sky.

TIME, current issue, publishes 21 aeronautical advertisements—more than have ever before appeared in a single issue of any general publication. Take a look—and think.

Think that when Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic he paid no fare, carried no cargo, not even a cat. He flew entirely on goodwill, the result of his own heroism and the trail-blazing enthusiasm of friends.

You cannot fill the sky with trail-blazing Lindberghs, for the trails are now blazed. Now the inexorable play of economics must fill the skies. Now airplanes are bought and paid for—for your or your neighbor's pleasure—for your or your neighbor's business profit. Every ship must have a master and a cargo and a port. What is true of ships is now true of airplanes. The enthusiasm of pioneering plus the stern practical necessity of going further, faster, has civilized the air.

This is aviation's first big economic year. The industry commands the labors of 75,000 workmen. They are turning out 30 planes each and every day—over 10,000 a year. Success attracts more capital to build more planes. Millions of private money for thousands of private planes. The U. S. Government, unlike European governments, subsidizes no aviation projects. Today U. S. aviation soars on its own wings, self-reliant, self-supporting.

Part of this success is successful advertising. Sound advertising. Thoroughly informative advertising. Advertising in TIME, the one and only Newsmagazine. And why TIME?

Because TIME goes each week to 220,000 influential, modern-minded subscribers, who set the pace of progress throughout the land and in the sky. Because they include the principal aviation officials of the U. S. Government, the founders of Aviation Country Clubs, officers and directors of thousands of corporations and tens of thousands of young Executive-Sportsmen who buy planes for business, for sport.

Because, in short, TIME is an economic buy.

This week TIME readers will read more aviation advertising than they have ever read before. And—economics will fill the skies.

In TIME pages you will see advertised:

¶ Waco, produced by Advance Aircraft, proud of "manoeuverability . . . in and out of the smallest field:" "WACO! WACO!" shouts one war ace to another when surnames are forgotten.

¶ That potent monoplane, the Bellanca, holder of many a record. Just finished for one customer is a great bird with silver wings, black fusilage, streamline of mandarin red, and an interior fit for kings.

¶ Command-Aire's craft, advertised for their "uncanny stability," in which many a pilot has learned to fly.

¶ Consolidated, makers of the U. S. pursuit "Husky," and "The Fleet," its counterpart for private pilots, and "The Commodore," sister ship to many a U. S. Navy amphibian.

¶ Great Lakes Aircraft, makers of commercial and military planes and seaplanes—a unit of Allied Motor Industries, Inc.

¶ Mahoney-Ryan, from the makers who gave the world The Spirit of St. Louis. They concentrate now on a six place dual control Brougham.

¶ Wasp and Hornet motors, made by Pratt & Whitney, and so active that they have a whole magazine to themselves. The Bee Hive, of course.

¶ The tiny Moth which you can pack in a good-sized garage when you are not flying economically where your fancy dictates. It has Handley-Page wing slots.

¶ The Stearman (made by young Lloyd Stearman in Wichita, Kansas aviation center) which many a TIME subscriber is proud to own. It's "tough."

¶ Whittelsey's Avian, with Handley-Page wing slots. England's famous Avro Avian, holder of many records, makes its American début.

¶ Besides these and other planes, the advertisements will tell about The Austin Company of Cleveland, alert airport engineers and builders. Roth-Downs Airways, Inc., tell about their aviation textbook, "The Modern Airplane." The Sportsman Pilot, high grade magazine of aviation, solicits your subscription. And tires? Goodrich makes the most for airplanes.

¶ Your adventures will also be financial, for three houses famed for aviation securities tell their story—K. D. Johnson & Co., Inc., Pynchon & Co., J. C. Willson & Co. Likewise McNeel Financial Service of Boston offers information and advice regarding aviation securities.

SENATE DEFIED BY LA FOLLETTE IN LENROOT LEAK

Dares His Colleagues to Expel Him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—[Special.]—"Young Bob" La Follette today openly challenged the senate rules committee and the senate itself to institute expulsion proceedings against him for revealing how he has voted on presidential nominations in executive sessions.

His defiance climaxed a speech in which, to the delight of crowded galleries, he heaped ridicule and sarcasm upon the rules committee, whose action yesterday to discipline one of the newspapermen who secured and published the secret roll call vote on the appointment of ex-Senator Lenroot to a federal judgeship resulted in expulsion of all press association representatives from the senate floor.

Directs Shafts at Reed.

Singling out Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], one of the rules committee, Senator La Follette read at length from newspaper articles purporting to quote the Pennsylvanian's version of the executive session which resulted in senate refusal to confirm the reappointment of Interstate Commerce Commissioner John J. Esch about a year ago.

The article, which appeared in a Pittsburgh paper, was written by Theodore Huntley, who is now Senator Reed's private secretary. Coming down to the Lenroot case, Senator La Follette read articles from Baltimore, Washington, and New York newspapers reviewing the executive session proceedings and describing in detail the progress of the nine hour battle behind closed doors.

Says Leak Is in Senate.

Commenting on the accuracy of the stories and the positions attributed to various senators for or against Lenroot, Senator La Follette insisted that the stories could not have been written unless some senator or senate employés had violated the secrecy rule.

"The committee starts at the wrong end of the skein in attempting to unravel this mystery when it summons Paul Mallon, the United Press correspondent, for interrogation," declared Senator La Follette. "The place to start house cleaning is in our household. The press takes no oath to support the rules of the senate. It is here as the eyes and ears of the public, observing and reporting on the action of the chosen representatives of the public on this floor.

"This is a legislative chamber, and not a club or a secret organization of some kind. The question is whether a senator is more solemnly obligated to his constituency or to a senate rule.

Defies Senate to Expel Him.

"As for me," continued the youthful senator, "I take the position assumed by my distinguished predecessor [his father] who was the first in recent times to assert a senator's right to tell his constituency how he voted on any and every issue arising here. If that is ground for expulsion, I welcome submission of the issue to the people of Wisconsin, and I await the action of the rules committee or the senate itself."

Senator La Follette insisted that if one newspaperman was to be grilled by the rules committee in an attempt to discover the Lenroot "leak," every other reporter who wrote stories of the executive session should be "subjected to the rack or broken on the wheel."

"The newspapermen accredited to the senate," he continued, "perform a public service when they inform the public of what the senate does, whether in open or executive session, and there is no obligation upon them to help the senate uphold a rule which the senate itself can not enforce upon its own members. Are we to make the press the scapegoat for the senate's honor? The honorable thing to do would be to investigate ourselves and our employés before undertaking an investigation of the press, which has committed no breach of ethics or honor."

Reed Takes a Hand.

Senator Reed, who, on Tuesday, flayed "the so-called ethics of a so-called profession," in denouncing publication of the Lenroot roll call, interrupted to assert that "while I don't think there is anything ethical or very admirable in a newspaperman joining with a senator to violate a senate rule, the real culprit is the senator who reveals a secret session proceeding and then hides behind the newspaper man."

Senator G. H. Moses [Rep., N. H.], chairman of the committee, asserted his confidence that Mallon, subpoenaed to appear before the committee Monday, will decline to disclose the name of his informant, and intimated that the committee has already discussed the necessity of summoning every member of the senate for questioning.

When the letter of Byron Price, manager of the Washington bureau of the Associated Press, to Vice President Curtis, protesting against the expulsion of Associated Press representatives from the floor, was read, Senator G. W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], moved, in the interest of accuracy, to make the official Lenroot roll call public. Senator F. M. Sackett [Rep., Ky.] objected.

Price, in his letter, insisted that the Associated Press should not be penalized because of the publication by another service of an offensive or inaccurate story, but at the same time asserted the right of the press to publish accurate accounts of executive session proceedings if they can be obtained.

"I invite attention to the fact," said Price, "that the Washington bureau of the Associated Press never has, and does not now, subscribe to any theory that publication of secret proceedings, if the publication is accurate, is in anywise beyond the legitimate functions of a free press."

Put Good, Solid Flesh on "Skinny" Body. Round Out Bony Limbs. Fill Up Ugly Hollows. Gain New Energy; Better Nerves. Banish Pinched, Haggard Appearance Which Makes You Look Old. Look and Feel Years Younger.

12 Sacks of Raw, Live Yeast Make Only ½ Sack of Yeast Concentrate Used in IRONIZED YEAST

While Brewer's Malt Yeast, the kind used in IRONIZED YEAST, has been prescribed for years by physicians to build weight and clear the skin, we have improved on it. We concentrate it so that 12 one-hundred-pound sacks of Raw Yeast make only ½ sack of IRONIZED YEAST concentrate! Thus each IRONIZED YEAST tablet contains TWENTY-FOUR TIMES as much of this weight-building concentrate as it would if the Yeast were used in its ordinary state. In a daily treatment of this remarkable medicated food, therefore, you get all the Yeast you need for the quickest possible weight-building. No wonder people ask "Why does IRONIZED YEAST build weight so quickly?"

50 Batches Thrown Away to Get ONE That Suits Us

European Scientist Tells Why IRONIZED YEAST is the Best and Quickest Weight-Builder

After testing Brewer's Yeast from all civilized countries for many years, we found that the best Yeast for weight-building comes from Denmark.

However, even that doesn't satisfy us. We will accept only the VERY BEST of this superior Yeast. It is prepared for us under the personal supervision of a famous European Scientist, Dr. E. T. Halland of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Our tests are so severe that we usually discard 50 sacks of this Yeast in order to get ONE sack that satisfies us.

Dr. Halland says: "Your standards are so high that grades of Yeast which would be perfectly satisfactory under ordinary conditions will not meet your requirements. You are certainly giving thin, underweight, weak, run-down nervous people the best Yeast in the world for putting on flesh."—Dr. E. T. Halland, Copenhagen, Denmark.

VIOLET RAYS Add "Sun Energy"

Everybody knows of the benefits of the Violet Rays of the sun in the treatment of certain diseases which cause debility, weakness and underweight.

The benefits of this latest scientific discovery are used in the manufacture of IRONIZED YEAST. It is Violet Rayed in order to increase its activity and thus increase its energizing, weight-building powers.

We are the World's largest producers of this specially concentrated, weight-building YEAST. That is why you can get IRONIZED YEAST at such a low price.

The best brains and ability of the profession were used in perfecting this concentrated, medicated food. So don't accept any substitutes.

DAILY the letters pour in telling how IRONIZED YEAST has quickly made REAL MEN out of "skinny" weaklings. They gained 5 to 15 pounds in a few short weeks. Their muscles rounded out. They gained new strength and energy; a manly color and a clear, robust skin.

Sunken cheeks, which always age one, filled out so that many write: "I now look 10 years younger." Results are guaranteed by your own druggist—or pay nothing.

How and Why IRONIZED YEAST Adds Weight and Vigor So Quickly

IRONIZED YEAST is two great tonics in one. Weight-building YEAST and strengthening, blood-enriching IRON. The Yeast is the kind used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial.

It is concentrated for quick, weight-building results. It takes a whole ton—2000 pounds—of Brewer's Malt Yeast to make less than 3 bushels of the concentrate used in IRONIZED YEAST. Think what remarkable weight-building power is given IRONIZED YEAST by this extraordinary concentration!

This Yeast is treated with two kinds of Iron used for years by the highest medical authorities. Iron enriches the blood; tones up nerves and muscles.

The Yeast is further treated with Violet Rays, the latest scientific discovery, which increases its energizing and weight-building qualities.

Only when Yeast is thus Ironized is it most effective. Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast.

By this special formula, IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by Yeast or Iron taken separately.

"DYNAMITE" DAM IN MIMIC WAR ON COLUMBUS, O.

Red Army, Defending City, Driven Back Half Mile.

Wright Field, Dayton, O., May 23.—(AP)—All was quiet along the Ohio front tonight after the blue army, attacking Columbus crossed Darby creek and beat the red advance army back for more than a mile and reached the red main line of resistance, but was in turn forced back in a counter attack shortly before dusk. Meanwhile planes roared over the war zone as the red and blue fliers engaged each other in combat and the city of Columbus, capital of the red nation, was in a theoretical state of pandemonium after artillery and airplanes played imaginary havoc during the day.

Hope to End War Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will see what is believed to be the biggest movement so far in the United States army air-ground maneuvers, which have been going on for more than a week, when the blues attempts to capture Columbus and end the war at noon Saturday.

When the war game is over, the army aviators will give a display of what they can actually do when bombs are used instead of flares and real machine guns instead of imaginary ones. The display of the air crafts' devastating power will be made at the Fairfield air depot, adjoining Wright field, and 45 airplanes will be equipped with real death dealing equipment.

27 Planes to Attack.

Twenty-seven attack ships will swoop down from a height of 500 feet on the cardboard soldiers and wagons, blazing away with real machine guns. They will be followed by 15 bombers that will drop bombs—practice bombs but bombs none the less—on an imaginary ammunition dump.

Columbus went about its business today blissfully unmindful of the state of ruin it was supposed to be in. More than 2,000,000 gallons of water, released when blue bombs struck Griggs dam, north of the city, plunged down the streets in imaginary torrents.

ILLINOIS TRAVELERS MEET.

Jacksonville, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—Members of the Illinois council of the United Commercial Travelers gathered here today for their thirty-third annual convention. More than 400 are in attendance. They will meet through Saturday.

AVIATION NOTES

Forty Chicago sales managers took off in five airplanes during a drizzling rain yesterday and flew from Chicago to Milwaukee to attend a joint meeting with the Milwaukee sales managers' association. Four tri-motored ships and a single motored cabin plane, which made up the fleet, left the Universal hangars at 1:30 p. m. and arrived at Milwaukee airport at 2:15. One of the passengers on the trip was Judge Joseph Burke of the Municipal court.

Experiments are being conducted in London with a new type of plane in which the pilot is enclosed in a cockpit of unsplinterable glass which eliminates the blind spots and permits fighting at high altitudes, according to a dispatch from The Tribune London bureau. The enclosed cockpit is electrically heated, for experts believe that the next war will see fighting at tremendous altitudes. The glass is treated to prevent frosting and an oxygen apparatus is provided. The glass enclosed cockpit is probably a partial application of the idea of a transparent all-glass plane which was described exclusively in The Tribune, but which is still unannounced in London.

Movement of the night air mail from the Municipal field was hampered last night by fog and rain. Mail movements during the day were made on schedule despite frequent showers and low hanging clouds.

Well known authorities on aviation from Europe and America will attend the third national aeronautic meeting to be held in St. Louis May 27 to 30 under the auspices of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The meeting will commemorate the second anniversary of Lindberg's trans-Atlantic flight. Among those to address the meeting are William P. MacCracken Jr., assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics. Dr. Hugo Junkers, German manufacturer of airplanes; C. E. Rosendahl of the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J.; Daniel Guggenheim of the Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics; and Jimmy Doolittle, army flyer. The Gardner trophy air races will be held in connection with the meeting.

Members of a subcommittee of the council committee on railway terminals will meet today with representatives of the south park board and the Illinois Central to determine if an agreement can be reached on the lake front airport project. If a working agreement is reached construction of the breakwater to surround the landing field can begin by July 1, according to Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, who has proposed to build the field with the city's ashes.

DRIVER OF TRUCK IS ROBBED.

Three armed men held up George Massino, driver for the Globe Laundry company, 1234 West Monroe street, as he made a delivery at 1537 Edgemont avenue yesterday and robbed him of $97 in collections.

CHECKER DRIVERS
Never Take Chances

A FEW frank facts:

The man who has a financial interest in his own Company is always more careful than the paid employee.

Checker drivers do own their Company; they are careful. And every Checker driver sees to it that his brother drivers wearing the Checker emblem are careful.

These 2,809 driver-owners formed this Company for cooperative strength. As individual owners, they would merely be free lance cab drivers; as members of the world's largest cooperative Cab Company, they are individual business men.

And safety is just plain good business.

You see the sound sense of every truth here stated.

And you see it proved—daily —when you watch Checker Taxis on the street.

The best test of all, of course, is to ride in Checkers as a habit, if you like our habit of safe driving.

Checker drivers never take chances. Would you if you were in in their position? We think not.

U. S. 'BEER ORGY' PLAN ANGERS WINDSOR PASTOR

Demands Apology from Chamber Visitors.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 23.—(AP)—Convention plans of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which include a visit to Windsor breweries and wineries, "where we can drink as much as we can possibly hold," according to a letter to delegates by W. Allen Bean of Flint, Mich., transportation chairman of the convention, have engendered open warfare between the border city's chamber of commerce and the Rev. J. W. Magwood, pastor of the Lincoln Road United church, here.

The convention is to be held in Flint from June 12 to 15. The Windsor excursion would be in the nature of an added attraction.

Pastor Denounces Plan.

Justus Miller, manager of the Border City's Chamber of Commerce, replied formally today that Mr. Magwood had been "misleading" and termed the invitation "the stunt of a swift thinking press agent."

The minister had the last word tonight by producing a letter written by Bean.

Ministers Demand Apology.

"After a short sightseeing tour," it said, "we are to visit one, two, three, or as many breweries as are needed, where we will be allowed to watch beer being made and drink as much as we possibly can hold. After that we are to visit a few wineries, where the same invitation holds good."

Other ministers have joined with Mr. Magwood in announcing a determination to "demand an explanation or apology of the United States delegates," when, and if, they visit Windsor.

DOCTORS INSTALL FREDERICKSON, THEN ADJOURN

Peoria, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—Installation of officers and the selection of the president elect marked the closing sessions today of the Illinois State Medical society's convention here.

Dr. F. O. Frederickson, Chicago, was installed as president for this year, and Dr. Wilam D. Chapman, Silvis, was named president elect for the next term. Other officers selected include: Dr. R. L. Green, Peoria, first vice president; Dr. Henry R. Krasnow, Chicago, second vice president; Dr. A. J. Markey, Belvidere, treasurer, and Dr. Harold M. Camp, secretary.

The society voted to ask Attorney General Carlstrom to review a decision handed down several years ago by which the present system of reporting deaths is permitted.

CARAVEO, MEXICO REBEL CHIEFTAIN, FLEES INTO U. S.

Tells of Hot Pursuit by Federal Troops.

El Paso, Tex., May 23.—(AP)—Haggard and worn from the privations endured in his flight through the Mexican federal lines to the United States, Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, former governor of the state of Chihuahua and a leader in the recent unsuccessful Mexican revolution, today appeared at the offices of the United States immigration service to report his entrance into the United States.

With Gen. Caraveo was his attorney, Tom Lea, Gen. Augustin de La Verga and Col. José Chavez. Every member of the party showed signs of weary travel on foot to reach the border.

Gen. Caraveo said his party had eluded the federal soldiers south of Juarez with great difficulty and had crossed the international boundary five miles west of El Paso Tuesday night. They had made their way through the federal lines at night under constant danger of capture, he said.

Gen. Rabatte Surrenders.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—Gen. Leopoldo Rabatte, the last of the major leaders of the recent revolution, surrendered today at Quelite, state of Sinaloa. He marched into the station with only thirty men out of the large contingent which followed him when the rebels broke up nearby.

Gen. Rabatte has been credited with several attacks on towns since the end of the revolution, but apparently he was charged with deeds done by local guerrilla leaders. Today, even a few hours before his surrender was announced, the war department was furnished with a statement from Gen. Jaimie Carrillo, commander of the troops in the state of Sinaloa, that Gen. Rabatte had just attacked and plundered the town of Dimas, on the Southern Pacific railway, at the moment that Gen. Rabatte was on his way to surrender.

Will Leave Mexico.

It is understood that Gen. Rabatte will be allowed to leave Mexico.

Two rebel guerrilla leaders, Lopez and Arellano, have been making war on agrarians in the state of Guanajuato, whom they accuse of having deserted the cause of the masses, which, incidentally, means the said guerrilla leaders. It has been the custom of Arellano to enter unguarded villages, hunt out agrarian leaders, and wreak vengeance on them.

His name has spread terror throughout the state of Guanajuato and even into adjoining territory, into which he occasionally makes incursions when the hunt by federal troops becomes too hot. Scores of agrarians have been hanged by Arellano.

Agrarian Leader Hanged.

Imitating Arellano yesterday, "Mayor" Jose Guadalupe Lopez entered San Pedro and seized, among other agrarians, Celso Reveles, local agrarian leader, and carried him outside the town. After a mock trial, in which Reveles was accused of betraying the interests of the people by accepting lands from the government and bringing outside political wire pullers into the community, Reveles was hanged to a mesquite tree.

BIRTH OF PAPER TO BACK POWER GROUP RELATED

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—While declaring the Alabama Power company had made no investments in the Mobile, Ala., Press, Thomas M. Stevens, a Mobile attorney, testified today before the federal trade commission that the idea for the establishment of the Press originated in a conversation between himself and Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power company.

Stevens drafted the incorporation plans for the Press which started publication last April 15, and is one of its stockholders.

The conversation occurred, Stevens testified, after a conference last October between executives and engineers of the International Paper company and the Alabama Power company on a proposed $8,000,000 industrial development plan of the two concerns in Mobile. Stevens said the creation of a new Mobile newspaper was suggested after he and Martin had talked over the attitude of the two newspapers published by Frederick I. Thompson. He added that the Press was established to oppose the newspapers of Thompson.

Martin suggested that Stevens should get in touch with Victor Hanson, publisher of the Birmingham News and the Age-Herald, who would aid him in securing a publisher of the proposed Mobile paper. Stevens said this led to the selection of R. B. Chandler as publisher.

Counsel Healy placed in the record today a number of exhibits dealing with various phases of the investigation into publicity activities of the power utilities.

In one exhibit, S. E. Thomason, publisher of the Chicago Journal and the Tampa [Fla.] Tribune, submitted amended postoffice circulation and ownership returns showing that the International Paper company held investments in the Bryan-Thomason Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the two newspapers.

PROSECUTOR OF ELLER AIDS ASKS JURY FIXING QUIZ

Perjury Blocking Justice, Raber Declares.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson should devote the next five or six months to a vigorous prosecution of jury fixers and perjurers and then justice will once more triumph in the criminal courts, Attorney Edwin J. Raber, who acted as special prosecutor in the recent trials of the Eller henchmen, declared yesterday in a statement commenting on the acquittal of four of the henchmen for the second time within one month.

"Swanson ought to forget about most of the other things and spend the next five or six months investigating and prosecuting jury fixers and perjurers," said Raber. "If he would clean up this situation then we would be able to get verdicts based on the law and the evidence.

Put End to Perjury.

"When Maclay Hoyne was state's attorney [Raber was one of his assistants] he went after the fixers and perjurers and soon witnesses began to realize that to evade the truth meant a term in the jail. This soon put a stop to perjury and fixing, and most of our major prosecutions were successful.

"If Swanson wants to have a successful administration he will have to do the same thing and do it quick. Under present conditions witnesses think nothing of going on the witness stand to commit bold perjury and they get away with it."

The prosecutor refused to comment on the Eller jury directly, but made the general statement that under the existing jury laws it is necessary many times for the state to accept jurors with the intelligence of school boys. He said his future status in prosecuting Ellerites would not be decided until he confers with Assistant State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch when the latter returns from a religious convention in St. Paul.

Swanson Promises Action.

"When I was a candidate for office I pledged that I would not interfere with any of the prosecutions started by Mr. Loesch and I have kept that promise," said Prosecutor Swanson in answer to Raber's charges. "I told Raber that I would go into the jury fixing scandal as soon as the trial is completed and I have assigned Assistants John E. Northrup and William H. Rittenhouse to confer with him today to map out plans for an investigation."

The contempt charge filed against Fred Heiser was continued yesterday by Judge Frank Comerford until June 5. Heiser is charged with having been the go-between in the effort of Paul Harders, Deneen precinct captain, to fix Michael Hepp, one of the talesmen in the case.

BENCH WONDERS IF JUDGE ELLER WILL RUN AGAIN

Politics Eyes Chances for Coalition.

A Republican-Democratic coalition for the election of twenty-two judges next fall may hinge on the elimination of Judge Emanuel Eller as a candidate, several of his colleagues said yesterday. The sitting judges of the Superior court whose terms expire this year would prefer coalition to a contest with both parties having full slates, it was said.

The opinion was expressed that the Bar association would support a coalition ticket providing Judge Eller is not on it. Political leaders, however, were uncertain as to what their position will be.

Judge Eller Refuses to Talk.

Judge Eller refused to say whether he intends to seek renomination as a Republican candidate this fall. Since the dismissal of the criminal charges against him and his father, Morris Eller, city collector and boss of the 20th ward, and the acquittal of their henchmen, the Eller judicial candidacy has been a political problem.

"Judge Eller's candidacy would be embarrassing," said one Republican judge who is a candidate for reëlection. "I hardly think the Republicans in county convention would put him on the ticket. I don't believe he could be elected and I believe he and his father will look at it from a practical viewpoint."

A Democratic judge, a colleague of Judge Eller, said that if the Republicans nominated Eller and the Democrats accepted him, the Democrats would be as much to blame as the Thompson Republican committeemen who control the convention. Rather than have that happen, this judge said, he would favor the nomination of a full slate by the Democrats.

Party Leaders Noncommittal.

"Neither of the Ellers has talked to me about the coming convention," said Bernard W. Snow, acting chairman of the Republican county central committee. "We'll meet that issue when we come to it."

"I'm not interested in judges, but in building roads, just now," said Anton J. Cermak, chairman of the Democratic county central committee.

The terms of twenty Superior judges expire in December and there are two vacancies in the Circuit court to be filled. Superior Judges Wells M. Cook and Charles M. Foell are not expected to seek reëlection. If Judge Eller is not renominated and all the other sitting judges are, there will be places for five new judges.

Officer Keeps Vassar Girl from Making Death Leap

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—For five minutes Miss Helen Whiley, 26, Vassar college student, struggled on the roof of the 18 story Allerton house while Patrolmen William Hermann fought to keep her from jumping to the street. "Let me go, I can't stand it any longer," she cried, but the policeman dragged her from the parapet, and she was taken still protesting to Bellevue hospital for observation.

Question Legality of Bar Against Ford Taxicabs

The ruling of the public vehicle license commission, which prohibits the use in Chicago of Ford automobiles as taxicabs, was submitted to the corporation counsel yesterday for an opinion as to its legality. Under the terms of the ruling, made Feb. 26, 1929, the Ford car is too small to be used as a taxicab. Attorneys for the Ford Motor company on Wednesday asked the commission to rescind its ruling, declaring that it is unjustly discriminatory.

LONDON, May 23.—(AP)—Michael Strange, the former wife of John Barrymore, was married to Harrison Tweed, New York lawyer, here today. The ceremony was performed at the registry office and only a few friends were present. The couple will leave Europe later this summer to make their home in New York. Mrs. Barrymore had filed her divorce papers under the name of Mrs. Blanche Blythe and John Blythe, Barrymore's real name, and received her decree last August.

DEMPSEY FINDS A MILLIONAIRE MINUS MILLION

So He Plans to Quit Mr. Cole.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—The great financial and sporting alliance between Jack Dempsey, Humbert Fugazy, and Mr. Fugazy's personal millionaire, Mr. [illegible] Cole, appears to be on the point of dissolution after a strictly negative career.

The alliance has built several imaginary ampitheaters larger than the Garden at a theoretical cost of $25,000,000, promoted six hypothetical world championship prize fights with a gross theoretical gate of $8,000,000, and come off with a net profit of $4,000,000, which was theoretical, too.

This powerful combination is to be disbanded without prejudice, according to your correspondent's information, which is to say that the boys will part with mutual respect and good will but with an understanding that it would be futile to continue the association owing to the impossibility of obtaining any money from one another.

Just a Misunderstanding.

They seem to have been involved in a three sided misunderstanding which resembles the unforunate alliance entered into, several years ago by a noted athlete and a lady. In this case the athlete married the lady under the impression that she had received a very handsome financial settlement from her last previous husband upon the sundering of the matrimonial bond.

The lady, on her part, was one who had implicit faith in everything she saw in the papers, and she had been reading articles on the sport pages which told of the tremendous earnings of the athlete. If she had only had some newspaper experience, she might have realized that there is no class of people as prodigal and nonchalant in tossing millions of dollars about as sports writers, but that was something she had no way of knowing.

The athlete, himself, never had covered a courthouse run and did not even suspect that there could be divorce lawyers who would exaggerate the amount of a client's divorce settlement in the hope that other restless ladies would come to them for their divorces. Accordingly, friendship ripened into love, as the phrase goes, and presently the athlete and the lady decided that they were made for each other.

Friends of the happy couple first began to suspect a misunderstanding when they were on the boat going to Europe for their honeymoon, for the bridegroom fell to discussing his lady's fine qualities one evening in the bar and said over and over, "I have practically retired from sport as my new helpmate has got so much dough that I will have to drop everything and manage her property."

Bitter Truth Comes Out.

The bride, on the other hand, confided to some of the ladies on board that her divorce settlement had been quite nominal, but that she did not care, as her new spouse was in receipt of a tremendous income.

A romance founded on such a misconception of the facts could not but dash upon the rocks or vanish into the maw of infelicity or something of the kind. So, in due time there was another divorce.

"It was a most regrettable affair in all respects," the manager of the athlete told me some time later. "These two high strung, romantic young people rushed into this thing blinded by love, without pausing to ask for bank references, and now they are disillusioned. My boy will never marry again unless the lady is able to show something better than newspaper clippings. It was just like two good pickpockets thrown together by fate in the subway, and as neither one of them had any dough the best they got was an even break."

In the Dempsey-Fugazy-Cole alliance Mr. Cole was represented as a millionaire himself and spokesman for a syndicate of millionaires. In fact, Mr. Cole himself stated one afternoon to the press that he knew very few people who were not millionaires.

Mr. Cole apparently thought Mr.

BARRETT TRADED; SHIRES REPENTS; RAIN HALTS SOX

Taitt Comes to Hose in Player Deal.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

ART SHIRES.

Outfielder Bill Barrett, who came to the White Sox in the middle of the 1923 season, will have to think up a new speech. For several seasons he has been on the box making complaints about being attached to the Chicago club, and expressing a wish to go elsewhere. He's gone. He was traded to the Boston Red Sox yesterday for Douglass Taitt, also a fly chaser, who, while not a star, may be able to add a semblance of punch to Lena Blackburne's outfield.

The swap was announced yesterday by Harry Grabiner, business manager of the local Sox, who at the same time canceled the game scheduled with Detroit and declared it would be played off as part of a double header next Monday. The same two teams also must labor through a bargain bill tomorrow at Comiskey park.

Shires, Repentant; Asks to Return.

Charles Arthur Shires, the banished bench warming first baseman, also claimed a bit of yesterday's Sox activities. The young man was suspended a week ago for insubordination, also box fighting with Manager Blackburne, but he visited Comiskey park yesterday and insisted he was sorry and would like to get back into the house.

The troublesome athlete talked with both Blackburne and Grabiner, and after the conclusion of the meeting declared he would come back today. He probably will apologize for his unbecoming conduct, whereupon he may be permitted to put on his uniform and resume his seat in the dugout. Mr. Shires doesn't favor the idea of being off the pay roll.

Taitt, the new fly chaser, is expected to arrive in time to show his skill in tomorrow's double header. He will operate in right. Last season he hit .299 for the Red Sox in 143 games, making 144 blows for a total of 209 bases. He drove in 61 runs, which is fair for a losing team. He is 25 years old.

Cissell May Lose Job.

Another possible change in the Sox lineup in the near future is at shortstop. Bill Cissell has been gumming up plays so regularly that Blackburne is almost ready to go back and play short himself. Cissell will be given a few more days of grace, and then if his erratic qualities still are evident the berth will be assigned to George Redfern.

The hurling against the Tigers today will be handled by Ted Lyons. All that Ted must do is to whip George Uhle, who has won seven straight this season, two of which were at the expense of the Pale Hose. Thomas will be used in one portion of tomorrow's bargain bill.

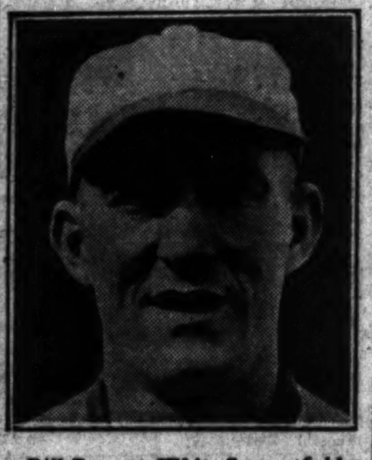
MAPLE TO JOIN SOX.

Corvallis, Ore., May 23.—(AP)—Howard Maple, catcher on the Oregon State college baseball team and former quarter back on the football team, announced today that on June 1 he will sign a contract with the Chicago White Sox and report immediately. Negotiations for Maple's services were completed by Charles Comiskey while the Oregon State team was on tour.

Maple has been performing in stellar fashion this year as catcher and captain of the state college team. His batting average this year is .430 and his three year conference average is .415.

Maple achieved national fame last fall when he piloted the Oregon State college football team to a surprise victory over New York university, eastern champion, in Yankee stadium.

CHANGES SOX



Bill Barrett, White Sox outfielder, yesterday was traded to Boston Red Sox for Douglas Taitt, also an outfielder.

Hold Big 10 Track Trials at N. U. Today

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Preliminaries in 11 of the 16 events of the twenty-ninth annual track and field championships of the Western conference will be held in the Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. Finals will be staged tomorrow starting at the same hour.

Illinois, winner of the event last year, is favored to carry off the honors, although Iowa, which won the indoor meet, is conceded a chance to win its first outdoor Big Ten championship. Since George Bresnahan has been coaching track teams at Iowa, the Hawkeyes have won two indoor titles.

Ohio State with George Simpson, the sprinter, as its ace cannot be figured out of the running. Simpson should win both dashes and Rasmus the discus throw, according to performances this spring. Ohio also should score in other events. Coach Ned Merrian of Chicago has sure point winners in Gist in the half mile, Letts in the mile, Weaver in the shot put, Fray in the high jump and Root in the dashes.

Michigan is expected to score with Eddie Tolan in the dashes, Capt. Ketz in the hammer throw, Monroe in the one mile run and Felker in the running high jump. Wisconsin's aces will be Behr in the shot put, Larson in the dashes, Goldsworthy in the two mile and Moe in the one mile. Indiana, represented by one of the best track teams in its history, is likely to finish well up in the point column. Gordon probably will score in the dashes, Rinehart is certain to win or place in the javelin throw, Fields, Clapham, Bank and Leas should register in the distance runs and Abramson should go into the finals in the quarter mile.

Purdue, Minnesota, and Northwestern do not appear to have the balance of the other teams. Purdue has a great miler in Orval Martin.

TRAIN SPEEDS TO HOMEWOOD TRACK IN 28 MINUTES

Remodeled Race Plant to Open Monday.

The Washington Park race track may be 25 miles away from Chicago's loop, but it was brought within 28 minutes of the Randolph street suburban station yesterday when a test run was made over the electrified Illinois Central lines.

Traveling on the type of cars which will operate to the track beginning Monday the special train carrying President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central system, Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, and other railroad and turf officials in Chicago left the Randolph street station at 2 o'clock. At 2:28 the passengers were unloading at the Washington Park entrance, which is within a hop, step and a jump of the grand stand.

It was one of the most remarkable speed tests made since the Illinois Central electrified its suburban system. The train ran from 12th street to 53d street in five minutes. It was at 63d street in seven minutes. The fifteen miles to Kensington, including three stops, was covered in 17 minutes and the train was at 137th street, Riverdale, in 20 minutes.

Capacity Is Increased.

Aboard the train aside from the Illinois Central and turf officials were newspaper men and a number of Chicago racegoers. At Washington Park they found a racing plant which ranks with the best in America. It was 98 per cent complete, as Gen. Manager C. W. Hay put it. It will be complete when the season opens there on Monday afternoon, he pointed out.

The Washington Park track has been remodeled and its capacity greatly increase. Its wide lawns—120 feet from the grand stand to the fence—being one of the features. The plant is modern in every respect.

The club house is a replica of the George Washington home at Mount Vernon, even to the brass horse on the weathervane. The paddock is directly back of the clubhouse and in a long outlay of buildings near it is a restaurant which will accommodate 3,000 persons, an administration building and a gymnasium and training quarters for jockeys.

The stand has been completely rebuilt, and the surface beneath it and on the lawns filled in to such an extent that it is possible to see any part of the track from any part of the stand or clubhouse.

Gardener Adds Touch.

The lawns and the space beneath the stands and club house have been terraced with red brick. A complete new pari-mutuel department has been constructed and in the club house section the walnut and brass trimmed windows will remind the players of a banking institution.

The stands and club house will seat 14,500 people. There are 400 boxes which will be reserved on Derby day and for other big attractions, but will be open to the public at all other times. It will be possible for many thousands to pack their way on to the lawns and at the same time see the races, while there are wide verandas and promenades back of the stands and club house.

The landscape gardener has added a touch to the plant, which with the many improvements, makes it look entirely different than the Washington Park, which under rather turbulent circumstances, opened the racing season here three years ago, and staged the first great revival of the American Derby.

Berg Outpoints Flowers for Second Straight Time

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Jack Berg, perpetual punching lightweight machine from England, outscored Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle Negro, for the second straight time tonight in the feature bout of the closing show of the season at Madison Square Garden. There were no knockdowns. Berg weighed 137½ pounds; Flowers, 139.

BATTLE OF THE NATIONS

SENORITA D'ALVAREZ. EDITH CROSS. HELEN WILLS.

Senorita d'Alvarez, Spanish star, and her partner, Kea Bouman of Holland, handed the Americans, Helen Wills and Edith Cross, their first European defeat in yesterday's tennis play at Paris. It was a straight set victory.

Mrs. Fogarty to Repudiate Tunney Paper

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—The curtain of denial which Gene Tunney—basking on the sands of Brioni, Italy, sought to draw about his knowledge of Mrs. Katherine (Kay) Fogarty, a plumber's divorcee, was rent today in places.

It cost the erudite champion $27,500 to buy Mrs. Fogarty's claim on his affections last July, according to Billy Gibson, his ex-manager. In exchange Tunney got a packet of letters and the affidavit brandished by his lawyers in answer to Mrs. Fogarty's $500,000 heart balm suit, in which she released him from "any obligations."

Confirmation that Gibson was the go-between in the negotiations last July that preceded the divorcee's surrender, came from Mrs. Fogarty's lawyer, Col. Lewis L. Field, in New Haven today. Field, asserting that Tunney paid for the affidavit, refused to specify the amount.

Gene Pays for Letters.

"Did Tunney pay Mrs. Fogarty $75,000 for the return of his letters?" Col. Field was asked.

"The sum is incorrect," he replied. "He did pay her money to return some letters."

Meanwhile, with Gene still denying, in cabled dispatches from his Adriatic island honeymoon retreat, that he ever knew a Mrs. Fogarty, Col. Field today made it clear that the woman suing for a $500,000 slice of the ex-champion's ring millions will repudiate her affidavit of last August.

The plea of Mrs. Fogarty, who, after being barricaded for several days in her San Carlos hotel suite here, fled tonight with a male friend and a private detective in her automobile will be that she was forced to sign the affidavit.

"Pressure was brought to bear on the girl," said Col. Field. [Mrs. Fogarty's age is 34.] "She was in a highly nervous condition and did not know what she was signing."

No Copy to Mrs. Fogarty.

Field, commanding officer of the 102d Connecticut infantry and a member of Gov. John H. Trumbull's staff, spoke in a clipped, military diction. He made much of the alleged fact that Mrs. Fogarty was not given a copy of her affidavit after it had been bought from her and that George W. Whiteside, Gene's lawyer, ignored Field's request for a copy in a letter written April 29.

The first reinforcements sought by Tunney on this side departed today for Brioni in the person of William B. Powell, New York advertising man and close personal friend of the boxer. Powell, sailing on the French liner Rochambeau, bore a large portfolio, delivered to him on the ship from Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy's law office. Whiteside, Gene's counsel, is a member of that firm. Powell admitted he had hurried his departure for Europe on receipt of a cablegram from Tunney today, which read:

"Please sail to join me by first boat. Utmost importance."

Helen Wills and Edith Cross Lose to Spanish-Dutch Pair

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 23.—A beauty from Spain and another from Holland, who never played together until three days ago, performed well enough to eliminate the American hopes, Helen Wills and Edith Cross, in the quarter finals of the women's doubles of the French championships today.

Señorita d'Alvarez and Kea Bouman, Spanish and Dutch champions, respectively, beat the Californians, 8-6, 6-4, and established themselves as favorites to win the women's doubles championships.

Miss Cross had rather a bad day of it, for later she and Junior Coen were beaten in mixed doubles by the English couple of Gregory and Mrs. Watson, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Miss Wills fared better in her second battle of the day, and with Francis T. Hunter triumphed easily over Mlle. Neufeld and M. Danet, 6-1, 6-4.

Marjorie Morrill and Baron de Morpurgo advanced another round by downing Miss Cole and Paul Feret, 6-4, 6-4.

The pair of youthful Germans, Moldenhauer and Prenn, sprang the biggest surprise of the day by almost eliminating Lacoste and Borotra in a hard fought match which the French pulled out of the fire only by grabbing the fourth and fifth sets after they had dropped the first and third. The bounding Basque and his partner won, 2-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.

Cochet and Brugnon toyed with Grandguillot and Covington, winning in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4 and 6-4, and Count Salm, paired with Timmer, the Dutch champion, advanced a round by beating Menzel and Malacek, Czecho-Slovakian stars, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

The defeat of the Misses Wills and Cross before the large center court crowd was not entirely unexpected since Señorita Alvarez and Miss Bouman are two of Europe's outstanding stars, and Miss Wills is never a great doubles player.

The Spanish girl was especially brilliant today, getting a dozen beautiful placements, and she got plenty of help from her Dutch partner, who camped at the net and scored smash after smash.

The Americans led 5-4 in the first set and seemed on the point of victory, but two placements by the Spanish-Dutch pair coupled with errors by Miss Cross gave the Europeans a love game and evened the score at five all. Miss Bouman and Señorita Alvarez took the next game also at a love score with two more neat placements between them and two outs by Miss Cross.

The Americans retaliated and won the next game, also a love score, for a tie at six all, but against Miss Wills' service the Europeans took the next game by a love score to lead 7-6. It was the fourth love game in succession. The set ended with the next game when the Misses Wills and Cross took turns driving into the net.

The Americans never had a chance in the second set.

AMERICA TAKES DAVIS CUP LEAD

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—A hard fought victory by John Hennessey over Tamio Abe today gave America's tennis forces a 1 to 0 lead over Japan in the semi-finals of the American zone play for the Davis cup. Hennessey met stiff opposition from Abe who forced him to four sets before yielding, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, and 6-1.

The singles encounter between John Van Ryn and Yoshiro Ohta, Japanese captain, was halted at 6:30 o'clock by prearrangement, with the American leading two sets to one and 4-3 in the fourth set.

A gallery of 1,500, including Mrs. Herbert Hoover, gathered at the Chevy Chase club courts for the matches.

St. Louis, Mo., May 23.—Those National league champions, the inhospitable St. Louis Cardinals, this afternoon kicked our Cubs out of first place and stepped into the big spot themselves. The score was: Cards, 6; Cubs, 3.

ANDY HIGH.

There were several reasons why this sad thing happened, none of them very reassuring to McCarthy poise and comfort. Some of these reasons can be itemized as follows:

1. The Cards have a fast, up and at 'em ball club that promises to be in the fight all year.
2. Andy High, the tiny man who is leading the National league in hitting, demonstrated how he's doing it. His homer with one on in the first inning so startled our nine they never were able to regain their composure.
3. The Cubs had no perceivable punch in the pinches. Three times they foozled with the game waiting to be won with a nice little single.
4. What Cub morale didn't lose from Cardinal speed and dash it suffered when with the score tied Hack Wilson made an unbelievable two base muff.

Blake Good in Spots.

Blake was a good pitcher in spots, but never was a standout. He had to work under the stress of a first inning 2 to 0 handicap, and was just beginning to feel good when the Cubs tied the score, only to be upset by the aforementioned Wilson muff.

The gratifying features of the Cub performance may be itemized as follows:

Woody English got a double and three singles in his first four times at bat, and Gonzales and Grimm did their share on the offensive, despite Capt. Charley's sluggishness on the base lines.

Tomorrow our nine will seek to regain the league lead, and Malone probably will be delegated to preside. Sherdel was Manager Billy Southworth's overnight choice, with both Haines and Johnson as possibilities. Haines hasn't lost a National league game since Aug. 16, and Johnson hasn't allowed an earned run in 23 innings.

First Inning Disappoints.

The Cubs' first inning was eminently disappointing. McMillan opened it with a walk and went to third when English doubled to right. The two runners were obliged to hold on while Cuyler tapped to Mitchell. Hornsby got an ovation when he came to the plate, but that was about all. He grounded to Bottomley, who threw out McMillan at the plate. English went to third on the play. Wilson walked, filling the bases. Gelbert picked up Stephenson's grounder and tossed to Frisch to force Wilson.

Blake had to pitch four balls and one strike to give the Cards a 2 to 0 lead in their half of the first. The Sheriff pitched four wide ones to Douthit. He served a strike to Mr. High and Mr. High smacked it into the right field pavilion for a homer, scoring Douthit ahead of him. Frisch then popped to Grimm. Bottomley flied to Wilson and Roettger was thrown out by Hornsby. The score was Cards 2, Cubs 0.

Lose Chance in Fourth.

The Cards' third was a very strenuous session. Mitchell walked amidst the protests of the entire Cub ensemble. Douthit momentarily relieved the temperamental strain by hitting into a double play, Hornsby to Grimm, but High walked and went to third on Frisch's double along the left foul line. Bottomley was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Then Roettger lined to English.

Our boys seemed near a harvest in the fourth, but had to content themselves with one run. Wilson walked.

CARDS WREST FIRST PLACE FROM CUBS, 6-3

EMPSEY FINDS MILLIONAIRE NUS MILLION

He Plans to Quit Mr. Cole.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—The great financial and sporting alliance between Dempsey, Humbert Fugazy, and Fugazy's personal millionaire, Mr. Cole, appears to be on the point of dissolution after a strictly negative career.

The alliance has built several imaginary ampitheaters larger than the ...ian at a theoretical cost of $25,000-, and promoted six hypothetical world championship prize fights with a gross theoretical gate of $8,000,000, and came off with a net profit of $4,000,000, which was theoretical, too.

This powerful combination is to be disbanded without prejudice, according to your correspondent's information, which is to say that the boys will part with mutual respect and good will but with an understanding that it would be futile to continue the association owing to the impossibility of obtaining any money from one another.

Just a Misunderstanding.

They seem to have been involved in a three sided misunderstanding which resembles the unforunate alliance entered into several years ago by a noted athlete and a lady. In this case the athlete married the lady under the impression that she had received a very handsome financial settlement from her last previous husband upon the sundering of the matrimonial bond.

The lady, on her part, was one who had implicit faith in everything she read in the papers, and she had been reading articles on the sport pages which told of the tremendous earnings of the athlete. If she had only had some newspaper experience, she might have realized that there is no class of people as prodigal and nonchalant in tossing millions of dollars about as sport writers, but that was something she had no way of knowing.

The athlete, himself, never had covered a courthouse run and did not even suspect that there could be divorce lawyers who would exaggerate the amount of a client's divorce settlement in the hope that other restless ladies would come to them for their divorces. Accordingly, friendship ripened into love, as the phrase goes, and presently the athlete and the lady decided that they were made for each other.

Friends of the happy couple first began to suspect a misunderstanding when they were on the boat going to Europe for their honeymoon, for the bridegroom fell to discussing his lady's fine qualities one evening in the bar and said over and over, "I have practically retired from sport as my new helpmate has got so much dough that I will have to drop everything and manage her property."

Bitter Truth Comes Out.

The bride, on the other hand, confided to some of the ladies on board that her divorce settlement had been quite nominal, but that she did not care, as her new spouse was in receipt of a tremendous income.

A romance founded on such a misconception of the facts could not but crash upon the rocks or vanish into the maw of infelicity or something of the kind. So, in due time there was another divorce.

"It was a most regrettable affair in all respects," the manager of the athlete told me some time later. "These two high strung, romantic young people rushed into this thing blinded by love without pausing to ask for bank references, and now they are disillusioned. My boy will never marry again unless the lady is able to show something better than newspaper clippings. It was just like two good pickpockets thrown together by fate in the subway, and as neither one of them had any dough the best they got was an even break."

In the Dempsey-Fugazy-Cole alliance Mr. Cole was represented as a millionaire himself and spokesman for a syndicate of millionaires. In fact, Mr. Cole himself stated one afternoon to the press that he knew very few people who were not millionaires.

Mr. Cole apparently thought Mr.

Taitt Comes to Hose in Player Deal.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

ART SHIRES.

Outfielder Bill Barrett, who came to the White Sox in the middle of the 1923 season, will have to think up a new speech. For several seasons he has been on the box making complaints about being attached to the Chicago club, and expressing a wish to go elsewhere. He's gone. He was traded to the Boston Red Sox yesterday for Douglass Taitt, also a fly chaser, who, while not a star, may be able to add a semblance of punch to Lena Blackburne's outfield.

The swap was announced yesterday by Harry Grabiner, business manager of the local Sox, who at the same time canceled the game scheduled with Detroit and declared it would be played off as part of a double header next Monday. The same two teams also must labor through a bargain bill tomorrow at Comiskey park.

Shires, Repentant; Asks to Return.

Charles Arthur Shires, the banished bench warming first baseman, also claimed a bit of yesterday's Sox activities. The young man was suspended a week ago for insubordination, also box fighting with Manager Blackburne, but he visited Comiskey park yesterday and insisted he was sorry and would like to get back into the house.

The troublesome athlete talked with both Blackburne and Grabiner, and after the conclusion of the meeting declared he would come back today. He probably will apologize for his unbecoming conduct, whereupon he may be permitted to put on his uniform and resume his seat in the dugout. Mr. Shires doesn't favor the idea of being off the pay roll.

Taitt, the new fly chaser, is expected to arrive in time to show his skill in tomorrow's double header. He will operate in right. Last season he hit .299 for the Red Sox in 143 games, making 144 blows for a total of 209 bases. He drove in 61 runs, which is fair for a losing team. He is 25 years old.

Cissell May Lose Job.

Another possible change in the Sox lineup in the near future is at shortstop. Bill Cissell has been gumming up plays so regularly that Blackburne is almost ready to go back and play short himself. Cissell will be given a few more days of grace, and then if his erratic qualities still are evident the berth will be assigned to George Redfern.

The hurling against the Tigers today will be handled by Ted Lyons. All that Ted must do is to whip George Uhle, who has won seven straight this season, two of which were at the expense of the Pale Hose. Thomas will be used in one portion of tomorrow's bargain bill.

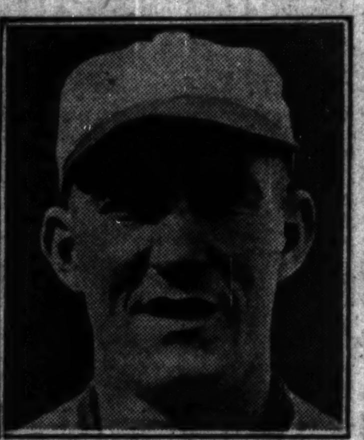
MAPLE TO JOIN SOX.

Corvallis, Ore., May 23.—(AP)—Howard Maple, catcher on the Oregon State college baseball team and former quarter back on the football team, announced today that on June 1 he will sign a contract with the Chicago White Sox and report immediately. Negotiations for Maple's services were completed by Charles Comiskey while the Oregon State team was on tour.

Maple has been performing in stellar fashion this year as catcher and captain of the state college team. His batting average this year is .430 and his three year conference average is .415.

Maple achieved national fame last fall when he piloted the Oregon State college football team to a surprise victory over New York university, eastern champion, in Yankee stadium.

CHANGES SOX



Bill Barrett, White Sox outfielder, yesterday was traded to Boston Red Sox for Douglas Taitt, also an outfielder.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Preliminaries in 11 of the 16 events of the twenty-ninth annual track and field championships of the Western conference will be held in the Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. Finals will be staged tomorrow starting at the same hour.

Illinois, winner of the event last year, is favored to carry off the honors, although Iowa, which won the indoor meet, is conceded a chance to win its first outdoor Big Ten championship. Since George Bresnahan has been coaching track teams at Iowa, the Hawkeyes have won two indoor titles.

Ohio State with George Simpson, the sprinter, as its ace cannot be figured out of the running. Simpson should win both dashes and Rasmus the discus throw, according to performances this spring. Ohio also should score in other events. Coach Ned Merrian of Chicago has sure point winners in Gist in the half mile, Letts in the mile, Weaver in the shot put, Fray in the high jump and Root in the dashes.

Michigan is expected to score with Eddie Tolan in the dashes, Capt. Ketz in the hammer throw, Monroe in the one mile run and Felker in the running high jump. Wisconsin's aces will be Behr in the shot put, Larson in the dashes, Goldsworthy in the two mile and Moe in the one mile. Indiana, represented by one of the best track teams in its history, is likely to finish well up in the point column. Gordon probably will score in the dashes, Rinehart is certain to win or place in the javelin throw, Fields, Clapham, Bank and Leas should register in the distance runs and Abramson should go into the finals in the quarter mile.

Purdue, Minnesota, and Northwestern do not appear to have the balance of the other teams. Purdue has a great miler in Orval Martin.

Remodeled Race Plant to Open Monday.

The Washington Park race track may be 25 miles away from Chicago's loop, but it was brought within 28 minutes of the Randolph street suburban station yesterday when a test run was made over the electrified Illinois Central lines.

Traveling on the type of cars which will operate to the track beginning Monday the special train carrying President L. A. Downs of the Illinois Central system, Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, and other railroad and turf officials in Chicago left the Randolph street station at 2 o'clock. At 2:28 the passengers were unloading at the Washington Park entrance, which is within a hop, step and a jump of the grand stand.

It was one of the most remarkable speed tests made since the Illinois Central electrified its suburban system. The train ran from 12th street to 53d street in five minutes. It was at 63d street in seven minutes. The fifteen miles to Kensington, including three stops, was covered in 17 minutes and the train was at 137th street, Riverdale, in 20 minutes.

Capacity Is Increased.

Aboard the train aside from the Illinois Central and turf officials were newspaper men and a number of Chicago racegoers. At Washington Park they found a racing plant which ranks with the best in America. It was 98 per cent complete, as Gen. Manager C. W. Hay put it. It will be complete when the season opens there on Monday afternoon, he pointed out.

The Washington Park track has been remodeled and its capacity greatly increase. Its wide lawns—120 feet from the grand stand to the fence—being one of the features. The plant is modern in every respect.

The club house is a replica of the George Washington home at Mount Vernon, even to the brass horse on the weathervane. The paddock is directly back of the clubhouse and in a long outlay of buildings near it is a restaurant which will accommodate 3,000 persons, an administration building and a gymnasium and training quarters for jockeys.

The stand has been completely rebuilt, and the surface beneath it and on the lawns filled in to such an extent that it is possible to see any part of the track from any part of the stand or clubhouse.

Gardener Adds Touch.

The lawns and the space beneath the stands and club house have been terraced with red brick. A complete new pari-mutuel department has been constructed and in the club house section the walnut and brass trimmed windows will remind the players of a banking institution.

The stands and club house will seat 14,500 people. There are 400 boxes which will be reserved on Derby day and for other big attractions, but will be open to the public at all other times. It will be possible for many thousands to pack their way on to the lawns and at the same time see the races, while there are wide verandas and promenades back of the stands and club house.

The landscape gardener has added a touch to the plant, which with the many improvements, makes it look entirely different than the Washington Park, which under rather turbulent circumstances, opened the racing season here three years ago, and staged the first great revival of the American Derby.

Berg Outpoints Flowers for Second Straight Time

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Jack Berg, perpetual punching lightweight machine from England, outscored Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle Negro, for the second straight time tonight in the feature bout of the closing show of the season at Madison Square Garden. There were no knockdowns. Berg weighed 137½ pounds; Flowers, 139.

BATTLE OF THE NATIONS

SENORITA D'ALVAREZ. EDITH CROSS. HELEN WILLS.

Senorita d'Alvarez, Spanish star, and her partner, Kea Bouman of Holland, handed the Americans, Helen Wills and Edith Cross, their first European defeat in yesterday's tennis play at Paris. It was a straight set victory.

Mrs. Fogarty to Repudiate Tunney Paper

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—The curtain of denial which Gene Tunney—basking on the sands of Brioni, Italy, sought to draw about his knowledge of Mrs. Katherine (Kay) Fogarty, a plumber's divorcee, was rent today in places.

It cost the erudite champion $27,500 to buy Mrs. Fogarty's claim on his affections last July, according to Billy Gibson, his ex-manager. In exchange Tunney got a packet of letters and the affidavit brandished by his lawyers in answer to Mrs. Fogarty's $500,000 heart balm suit, in which she released him from "any obligations."

Confirmation that Gibson was the go-between in the negotiations last July that preceded the divorcee's surrender, came from Mrs. Fogarty's lawyer, Col. Lewis L. Field, in New Haven today. Field, asserting that Tunney paid for the affidavit, refused to specify the amount.

Gene Pays for Letters.

"Did Tunney pay Mrs. Fogarty $75,000 for the return of his letters?" Col. Field was asked.

"The sum is incorrect," he replied. "He did pay her money to return some letters."

Meanwhile, with Gene still denying, in cabled dispatches from his Adriatic island honeymoon retreat, that he ever knew a Mrs. Fogarty, Col. Field today made it clear that the woman suing for a $500,000 slice of the ex-champion's ring millions will repudiate her affidavit of last August.

The plea of Mrs. Fogarty, who, after being barricaded for several days in her San Carlos hotel suite here, fled tonight with a male friend and a private detective in her automobile will be that she was forced to sign the affidavit.

"Pressure was brought to bear on the girl," said Col. Field. [Mrs. Fogarty's age is 34.] "She was in a highly nervous condition and did not know what she was signing."

No Copy to Mrs. Fogarty.

Field, commanding officer of the 102d Connecticut infantry and a member of Gov. John H. Trumbull's staff, spoke in a clipped, military diction. He made much of the alleged fact that Mrs. Fogarty was not given a copy of her affidavit after it had been bought from her and that George W. Whiteside, Gene's lawyer, ignored Field's request for a copy in a letter written April 29.

The first reenforcements sought by Tunney on this side departed today for Brioni in the person of William B. Powell, New York advertising man and close personal friend of the boxer. Powell, sailing on the French liner Rochambeau, bore a large portfolio, delivered to him on the ship from Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy's law office. Whiteside, Gene's counsel, is a member of that firm. Powell admitted he had hurried his departure for Europe on receipt of a cablegram from Tunney today, which read:

"Please sail to join me by first boat. Utmost importance."

Helen Wills and Edith Cross Lose to Spanish-Dutch Pair

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 23.—A beauty from Spain and another from Holland, who never played together until three days ago, performed well enough to eliminate the American hopes, Helen Wills and Edith Cross, in the quarter finals of the women's doubles of the French championships today.

Señorita d'Alvarez and Kea Bouman, Spanish and Dutch champions, respectively, beat the Californians, 8-6, 6-4, and established themselves as favorites to win the women's doubles championships.

Miss Cross had rather a bad day of it, for later she and Junior Coen were beaten in mixed doubles by the English couple of Gregory and Mrs. Watson, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Miss Wills fared better in her second battle of the day, and with Francis T. Hunter triumphed easily over Mlle. Neufeld and M. Danet, 6-1, 6-4.

Marjorie Morrill and Baron de Morpurgo advanced another round by downing Miss Cole and Paul Feret, 6-4, 6-4.

The pair of youthful Germans, Moldenhauer and Prenn, sprang the biggest surprise of the day by almost eliminating Lacoste and Borotra in a hard fought match which the French pulled out of the fire only by grabbing the fourth and fifth sets after they had dropped the first and third. The bounding Basque and his partner won, 2-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.

Cochet and Brugnon toyed with Grandquillot and Covington, winning in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4 and 6-4, and Count Salm, paired with Timmer, the Dutch champion, advanced a round by beating Menzel and Malacek, Czecho-Slovakian stars, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

The defeat of the Misses Wills and Cross before the large center court crowd was not entirely unexpected since Señorita Alvarez and Miss Bouman are two of Europe's outstanding stars, and Miss Wills is never a great doubles player.

The Spanish girl was especially brilliant today, getting a dozen beautiful placements, and she got plenty of help from her Dutch partner, who camped at the net and scored smash after smash.

The Americans led 5-4 in the first set and seemed on the point of victory, but two placements by the Spanish-Dutch pair coupled with errors by Miss Cross gave the Europeans a love game and evened the score at five all. Miss Bouman and Señorita Alvarez took the next game also at a love score with two more neat placements between them and two outs by Miss Cross.

The Americans retaliated and won the next game, also a love score, for a tie at six all, but against Miss Wills' service the Europeans took the next game by a love score to lead 7-6. It was the fourth love game in succession. The set ended with the next game when the Misses Wills and Cross took turns driving into the net.

The Americans never had a chance in the second set.

AMERICA TAKES DAVIS CUP LEAD

Washington, D. C., May 23.—(AP)—A hard fought victory by John Hennessey over Tamio Abe today gave America's tennis forces a 1 to 0 lead over Japan in the semi-finals of the American zone play for the Davis cup. Hennessey met stiff opposition from Abe who forced him to four sets before yielding, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, and 6-1.

The singles encounter between John Van Ryn and Toshiro Ohta, Japanese captain, was halted at 6:30 o'clock by prearrangement, with the American leading two sets to one and 4-3 in the fourth set.

A gallery of 1,500, including Mrs. Herbert Hoover, gathered at the Chevy Chase club courts for the matches.

St. Louis, Mo., May 23.—Those National league champions, the inhospitable St. Louis Cardinals, this afternoon kicked our Cubs out of first place and stepped into the big spot themselves. The score was: Cards, 6; Cubs, 3.

There were several reasons why this sad thing happened, none of them very reassuring to McCarthy poise and comfort. Some of these reasons can be itemized as follows:

Woody English got a double and three singles in his first four times at bat, and Gonzales and Grimm did their share on the offensive, despite Capt. Charley's sluggishness on the base lines.

Tomorrow our nine will seek to regain the league lead, and Malone probably will be delegated to preside. Sherdel was Manager Billy Southworth's overnight choice, with both Haines and Johnson as possibilities. Haines hasn't lost a National league game since Aug. 16, and Johnson hasn't allowed an earned run in 23 innings.

First Inning Disappoints.

The Cubs' first inning was eminently disappointing. McMillan opened it with a walk and went to third when English doubled to right. The two runners were obliged to hold on while Cuyler tapped to Mitchell. Hornsby got an ovation when he came to the plate, but that was about all. He grounded to Bottomley, who threw out McMillan at the plate. English went to third on the play. Wilson walked, filling the bases. Gelbert picked up Stephenson's grounder and tossed to Frisch to force Wilson.

Blake had to pitch four balls and one strike to give the Cards a 2 to 0 lead in their half of the first. The Sheriff pitched four wide ones to Douthit. He served a strike to Mr. High and Mr. High smacked it into the right field pavilion for a homer, scoring Douthit ahead of him. Frisch then popped to Grimm. Bottomley flied to Wilson and Roettger was thrown out by Hornsby. The score was Cards 2, Cubs 0.

Lose Chance in Fourth.

The Cards' third was a very strenuous session. Mitchell walked amidst the protests of the entire Cub ensemble. Douthit momentarily relieved the temperamental strain by hitting into a double play, Hornsby to Grimm, but High walked and went to third on Frisch's double along the left foul line. Bottomley was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Then Roettger lined to English.

Our boys seemed near a harvest in the fourth, but had to content themselves with one run. Wilson walked,

M'GRAW RETURNS; GIANTS RESPOND WITH 11 TO 4 WIN

Pound 3 Brave Pitchers for 7 Runs in 8th.

New York, May 23.—(AP)—The Giants celebrated John McGraw's return to the bench today by clubbing out an 11 to 4 victory over the Boston Braves in the opening game of the series at the Polo grounds. The home forces bunched hits on Bob Smith in the first and the fourth and knocked him out in the eighth when seven runs were scored at the expense of Smith, Cooney, and Hearn. The seven runs were scored before a man was retired.

Carl Hubbell pitched a strong game for New York, winning his first victory since his no-hit effort against Pittsburgh on May 8. He tossed five hitless innings today. Score:

FIDEL LA BARBA TO FIGHT AS A FEATHERWEIGHT

New York, May 23.—[Special.]—Convinced by the poor showing he made against Kid Chocolate in their ten round bout here last night that he can no longer make the weight and do himself justice, Fidel La Barba, former world's flyweight champion, announced, through his manager, George Blake, today that he had decided to quit the bantamweight division and henceforth will fight as a featherweight.

but was forced by Stephenson, Frisch to Gelbert. Grimm doubled to left center, scoring Stephenson. Gonzales singled to right, but Grimm stopped at third. Mike went to second on the throw in. Blake popped to Bottomley and McMillan flied to Douthit. The score was Cards 2, Cubs 1.

The Cubs tied the score in the fourth. English's third hit was a single which Frisch nailed only to find first uncovered. Woody went to third on Cuyler's single to right and scored on Hornsby's sacrifice fly. Wilson fouled to Bottomley and Hornsby was out trying to steal.

Hack Boots One.

Hack's two base muff of High's fly opened the Red Birds' fifth. Blake seemed upset by the error and forthwith walked Frisch. Bottomley singled to center, scoring High, but Hack and McMillan put on a great play to get Frisch going into third. Roettger flied to Wilson and Blake threw out Holm. The score was Cards, 3; Cubs, 2.

In the sixth inning, High again figured in the trouble making. English threw out Gelbert, but J. Wilson singled to right and stopped at second when Mitchell did likewise. Douthit fouled to Gonzales, then High singled off Hornsby's glove, scoring J. Wilson. Frisch was out to Grimm, unassisted. The score was Cards, 4; Cubs, 2.

English got his fourth hit with one out in the seventh and went to third on Cuyler's second hit, a single to center. Woody scored and Cuyler stopped at second, while High was throwing out Hornsby. Hack rolled out to Bottomley. The score was Cards, 4; Cubs, 3.

Cards Rub It In.

A double play ended a Cub bid for a run or two in the eighth. Stephenson singled off Frisch's glove but was forced by Grimm, Frisch to Gelbert. Gonzales singled to center and Grimm stopped at second. Beck batted for Blake and hit into a double play, Gelbert to Frisch to Bottomley.

The Cards rubbed it in a bit in the eighth inning, though they didn't have to. Guy Bush walked J. Wilson and Jimmie scored on Mitchell's triple. Douthit fouled to Grimm and Nehf went into pitch. High singled, his third hit and his fifth safe arrival at first, scoring Mitchell. Frisch flied to Cuyler.

Polo Makes Bow in Big 10 Tomorrow: Chicago-Ohio

The first Big Ten polo match ever played will be staged tomorrow between Chicago and Ohio State at Columbus. The game is the opening effort in a drive to establish the sport in the conference. Mounts are supplied by the R. O. T. C. units. The Chicago squad is composed of Capt. Louis Levine, Gordon Watrous, Jack Abramson, Orvis Henkle, and Wesson Hertrais.

Big Ten Golfers Start Play for Titles Tuesday

BY HARLAND ROHM.

First of the serious golf tournaments in the central states is the Western conference championship, to be played over the Interlachen course at Minneapolis next Tuesday and Wednesday. Both individual and team championships, the latter for four players, will be decided over 72 holes, two rounds each day.

Both championships are "wide open races" this year. Ohio State, team champions last year, will run into a lot of competition, particularly from Northwestern and Michigan, while Illinois may make the going tough for the favorites.

Johnny Lehman of Purdue, who won the individual championship last year, has been graduated, but Lester Bolstad of Minneapolis, winner in 1927, will be back. His strongest competitors appear to be Bob Goldwater of Illinois, Don Ward of Michigan, and Bill Miller of Northwestern.

Chicago and Northwestern teams will leave Saturday night to play a couple of rounds on the Interlachen course before the tournament begins. The Chicago team will be made up of Fred Mudge, Milton Klein, Roland Scott, and Charles Grosscurth, and the Purple's four will be Doug McKay, Oliver Rogers, John Whitaker, and Bill Miller.

Hamilton club golfers will hold their first tournament at La Grange today, and, given fair weather, fifty or so are expected to play. Fourteen prizes, low gross and low net for 18 and 36 holes, low net foursome, as well as low nets in each of the four classes, will reward the best.

Naval post, No. 372, of the American Legion also will open its season today at Mid-City. The golfers are expected to play any time after 12:30 and stay for dinner, at which the ten prizes for low gross to high gross will be awarded.

Indian Wood, a new daily fee course at Western avenue and the Sauk trail, will open Memorial day. Phil Gaudin, formerly professional at Skokie, is manager and pro.

Olympia Fields will open its competitive schedule tomorrow, with contests every week-end until Sept. 29. The high spots include the qualifying round for the national open, June 10; charter members' tournament, July 18; president's day, July 21; father and son tournament, Aug. 4; qualifying round for the club championship, Aug. 11, and the third Olympian Frolic, Aug. 22.

Fugazy meant what he said when he said he owned several acres of valuable real estate in the midtown section of New York City, on which to build the metropolitan colliseum. Mr. Dempsey believed both of them.

But, as I am given to understand the misunderstanding, Mr. Dempsey went into the alliance with a firm determination to contribute nothing but his public prestige, and the thing finally became a deadlock with three boys sitting around Mr. Fugazy's office waiting for one another to put up some funds.

An associate of Mr. Fugazy tells me Humbert has come to the conclusion that his personal millionaire, Mr. Cole, is a phoney, or table cloth millionaire.

"I thought he was a phoney all the time," my informant stated. "It stands to reason that if he was a millionaire somebody would try to get him away from Mr. Fugazy. But nobody tries to get him away, and Mr. Fugazy would gladly let him go at a bargain price, although I do not think he would be any bargain at any price."

Gave Dollar for Dollar.

An associate of Mr. Dempsey states that he will soon announce his withdrawal from the alliance and issue cards telling of his transfer to another enterprise, in which his associates will contribute funds pro rata with his contribution of prestige.

As Mr. Cole's associates are all millionaires, and I am not on familiar terms with millionaires, I have been unable to obtain any expression from his associates. Still, I feel safe in saying Mr. Cole has held up his end in the Dempsey-Fugazy-Cole alliance, contributing dollar for dollar with the two other associates, to a total of no dollars, net.

CHAMPAIGN HIGH SEEKS REVIEW OF SUSPENSION

Champaign, Ill., May 23.—(AP)—The Champaign board of education today invited the board of control of the Illinois High School Athletic association to meet with it here to discuss the suspension of the Champaign High school from the I. H. S. A. A. until Jan. 1, 1930. The local school board contends that the state board has not presented sufficient evidence to justify the penalty inflicted upon the local school.

FIELDS-CHASTAIN BATTLE TONIGHT HEADLINES CARD

Griffith-Friedman Bout Is Also Stadium Feature.

The ten round decision fight between Jackie Fields, recognized as welterweight champion by the N. B. A., and Clyde Chastain, hard hitting Texan, tops the card of five bouts to be staged by Promoter Paddy Harmon at Chicago Stadium tonight. Fields and Chastain will meet at 148, one pound over the welterweight limit.

JACKIE FIELDS.

Fields, considered one of the best Hebrew batters ever to pull on a glove, has appeared in Chicago on several occasions.

Wind Up Preparations.

Both fighters wound up training yesterday with light workouts. They are now under weight and in condition.

Another fight attracting interest will be the ten rounder involving Tuffy Griffith of Sioux City, Ia., and Al Friedman of Boston. In his last appearance in Chicago Griffith won a decision from Leo Lomski. Griffith broke a bone in his right hand and he since has been incapacitated. The mitt, according to Manager Jack O'Keefe, has mended. O'Keefe expects his man to win by a knockout before the sixth round. Griffith is a hard right hand hitter. He knocked out Mike McTigue, former world's light heavyweight champion, at the Midway Gardens last summer, and also stopped Chief Elkart at the same place.

In the other ten rounder, two right hand punchers will answer the bell. Armando Santiago of Cuba, who startled the pugilistic world by knocking out Joey Sangor last winter, will meet Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight. Followers of the game do not believe this fight will go the limit. It will be a battle of right hands from the tap of the bell. They meet at 135 pounds.

Battling Levinsky and Mickey Fu-ey, 150 pounders, will open the show in a four rounder. The other bout on the card brings together Kurt Prenzel and Jerry Kucera. They will box six rounds at 150 pounds. Paul Pantaleo and Art Malay also have been signed for the emergency bout.

KAPLAN ARRIVES TODAY FOR BOUT

Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion who meets Louis Kid Kaplan, former world's featherweight champion at Mills stadium Tuesday night, went through his daily training routine yesterday at the Barry gymnasium. The champion boxed four rounds with Bennie McArthur of Saginaw, Mich., and three with Tony Sanders, Chicago 140 pounder.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, who will meet Ted Ross of South Chicago in another ten rounder, worked four rounds with Ed Willis, a TRIBUNE Golden Gloves winner.

In the Wake of the News

BIG TEN TRACK MEET.

FOLLOWERS of conference track and field athletics are promised the best championship meet of recent years when chosen representatives from the Big Ten colleges match their prowess at Dyche stadium today and tomorrow.

Not only are eleven of last year's champions out to retain their honors, if possible, but four colleges are held to have a chance of capturing the title and team banner. Often the championship, in advance, has seemed so much at the mercy of one, or at best two institutions that the element of college rivalry, a great producer of enthusiasm, has been lacking. Such is not the case in 1929.

Again, the defending champions of 1928 laurels are not only titleholders but unusually tried performers, and they will meet rising performers just as eager to upset the dope as they are to maintain it. So qualified an authority as Walter Eckersall asserts it is possible for six records to be broken under favorable weather conditions.

The Wake advises those with interest in track or field athletics and those desirous of encouraging such sport to be present at Dyche stadium. We intend to follow our own advice, even though Skokie's fairways have not yet lost their customary divots from our efforts this season.

Division Beats South Chicago for 'Y' Title, 6-2

The Division street department captured the city Y. M. C. A. indoor baseball championship last night by defeating South Chicago, 6 to 2, at Englewood Y gym. The Simon brothers composed the battery for the winners, while South Chicago also had a pair of brothers, the Rouseff boys, for their battery. Simon struck out 14 batters.

This Mary Lou Wins Her First 500 Yd. Swim

Mary Lou Quinn went after her first long distance swimming title last night—and got it. In the 500 yard Central A. A. U. championship at the Illinois Women's Athletic club, she outstroked Isabelle Smith, defending champion, to win by four yards and incidentally shattering the record by more than 33 seconds. The former C. A. A. U. mark was 7:41 1-5. Mary's time was 7:7 2-5.

No one ever has denied Mary Lou's speed, but until last night many doubted her ability to go the route. Her slim physique seemed unsuited for a long grind. But those last forty yards told the story. Starting the final lap with a slight advantage, she drew away steadily and was four yards in front of Miss Smith at the finish. Dagny Van Maarth was third. All three are members of the Illinois Women's Athletic club.

After a few minutes' rest, Mary Lou came back and won the 100 yard free style, with Dagny Van Maarth second and Emma Shematis third. Miss Quinn's time was 1:05 4-5.

Last night's races brought to a close the Central A. A. U. indoor championships held at intervals during the winter and early spring. The Illinois Women's Athletic club won first, second and third places in every event.

In the low board diving event Jane Fauntz, national champion, was judged the most successful. Her sister, Ruth Fauntz, and Molly Miller also competed.

The fifty yard men's junior free style C. A. A. U. championship went to Proctor Brown in :27 1-5. Brunon Bielinski was second and Cyril Nelson third. All represent the Midwest Athletic club.

GO AWAY, SPEEDY AND UNRELIABLE, WINS AT AURORA

BY FRENCH LANE.

Slim Jim Owenby and his cronies cashed in to the tune of nearly 4 to 1 in the best race offered at the Aurora race course yesterday when the inconsistent Go Away came with a rush in the stretch and beat a stylish band of sprinters about as he pleased by four lengths.

Most people from Aurora had backed Capistrano, owned by William Stahler, the Kane county turfman. They supported the aged sprinter so stoutly he was the favorite at post time. He flattered all the fans from Aurora and Elgin by leading into the stretch. At that stage he hoisted the distress signal and Go Away came along and was running so fast he was going away and the winner by four lengths when the finish came.

It's Peoria Day.

It was Peoria day at the Aurora course and Mayor E. N. Woodruff, and many leading citizens were in the audience from the city down on the banks of the Illinois river. It was a wet afternoon—not because the Peoria delegation was present, but because intermittent showers fell throughout the afternoon and frequently drove most of those in the crowd of 6,500 to shelter.

Jockey R. Ayruad, who has developed into one of the most skillful saddle artists here sent Go Away to his victory. In the early stages the fleet Miss Lester made the pace. Capistrano was right at her saddle girth and they ran each other into submission by the time Go Away started his rally at the head of the stretch. After they started shortening their strides it was a picnic for Go Away to romp far ahead of them and he was only cantering as they passed the line of finish.

Rain Irks Form Players.

Go Away won the first race of the season here. He has tried on numerous occasions to win another but could not turn the trick until the crowd came up from Peoria and gave him a loud cheer as the stretch run was beginning. His time over the slow track for the six furlongs was 1:17 1-5.

The showers caused many withdrawals from every event. They also caused the form players to give up in despair before the afternoon's sport was finished for favorites were overthrown in nearly every number.

Isoard did fairly well by them when he won the fifth race in an easy gallop from Know Me Gnome and Big Sink by something like five lengths. He was in front all the way and paid $6.04 in the two dollar betting.

Theo Fay Beats Cheap Band.

Old Theo Fay, ridden by Jockey Charley Allen, came to life on the dull track and beat Her Answer by a length and a half in another sprint affair. Western Eagle was third. It was the cheapest band this Theo Fay ever faced and he would have been disgraced if he let them show him their heels.

Theo Fay was the favorite but paid $8.50 in the betting. Probably most of those wagers were made on Jockey Allen rather than on Theo Fay's chance of victory.

MAROON NETMEN ADVANCE EASILY

Columbus, Ga., May 23.—[Special.]—University of Chicago entries in the Big Ten tennis championships remained intact this afternoon at the end of the first day's play with George Lott winning both his first and second round singles matches.

Lott easily disposed of Topper, Illinois No. 1 player, 6-2 and 6-3. Later he bowled over Freeborn of Wisconsin, 6-3 and 6-4. Tomorrow Lott plays Okerbloom, Ohio State star, in the semi-final round, while Rexinger, another Chicago player, is scheduled to meet Schoaff, Illinois entry, in the other bracket. The winner meets McMillan of Wisconsin in the semi-final.

Lott, paired with Capt. William Callohan, easily downed their first round opponents in the doubles, defeating Quinn and Nixon of Indiana, 6-3 and 6-3.

KENDALL COUNTY HUNTERS RAID BIRDS' GANGLAND

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Yorkville, Ill., May 23.—The crow population of this county was considerably thinned tonight as squads of weary hunters checked in from their expeditions against crows, owls and other vermin which annually levy a heavy toll on the game and song birds of this territory.

Under the auspices of the Kendall County Crow club, more than 70 hunters invaded the fields and woods shortly after daylight this morning to take part in the anti-vermin campaign which the club stages every spring. With Paul Laylor of Yorkville heading one team of hunters and Clarence Davis of Platteville, the other, the armed forces used shotguns and every type of lure, crow decoys, crow calls and horned owl decoys to fool the wily crows, and late this evening with many hunters and precincts still to be heard from, more than 300 crows had been officially checked in as part of the day's bag.

Business men joined with farmers to participate in this one day anti-vermin campaign. Last year this combination netted slightly more than 500 crows, hawks and owls.

Owls Good Decoys.

Either a mounted great horned owl or a live specimen draws flocks of cawing, excited crows, always eager to mob any kind of an owl. Glenn Palmer, superintendent of the state game farm here, tried this live owl decoy stunt this morning and caused a near panic among the black pirates of the air. Palmer and his shotgun squad soon had a small flock of crows diving and darting at the tethered owl; a situation which produced some sporty shooting for a few minutes and netted an even dozen birds.

Hiding in a dense patch of timber along the Fox river with the captive owl tied to a branch in an open field in front of us, we watched a flock of 12 crows stage a riot about one half mile from our hideout. W. I. Lyon of Waukegan, Ill., president of the Inland Bird Banding association, Scott C. Cutter, and Charles Scheidecker hiked over to the flock to determine what all the fighting was about and found three horned owls being mobbed. All three were bagged by the hunters.

Atrtificial Birds Fool 'em, Too.

Although owls have been used effectively here today by the gunners, young live crows, metal decoys, and crow calls also brought excellent results. Every crow killed counted a point, a hawk 2½ points, and a horned owl, 5 points.

Richman Wins Lap of Pyle Derby in Sun and Storm

Kent, Tex., May 23.—(AP)—Sam Richman of New York won his fifth consecutive lap in the cross country marathon today, running the 56 miles between Pecos and Kent in 7 hours 1 minutes and 2 seconds in spite of a broiling sun at one stage and a severe electrical and hailstorm at another. Giusto Umek of Italy was second, 11 minutes and 48 seconds behind the New Yorker. Johnny Salo of Passaic, N. J., who leads in elapsed time, and Pete Gavuzzi of England, striving to wrest first place from the New Jersey man, finished in a dead heat for the fifth consecutive day and tied for fourth position in today's lap. Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., was third, running the distance in 7 hours 57 minutes 40 seconds.

"Another par for Jim-and last year he couldn't break 100"

"WHETHER you are trying to break 100 or par, a set of Matched Clubs will help you . . . Mismated clubs and the necessity for making allowances for those that are out of balance cost players of every class many strokes. Thousands are improving their game with Kroydon Matched Clubs."

Kroydon Clubs, Perfectly Matched

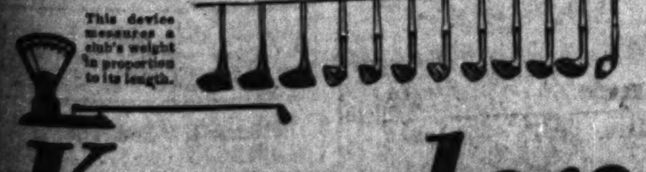
Every club in a Kroydon Matched Set feels alike and swings alike. They are perfectly matched, and the balance of each club is individually measured.

The only Irons that STAY MATCHED

Ordinary irons dent and nick after a few rounds. Filing removes dents, by cutting away metal, but this gradually alters weight and destroys balance. Kroydon irons of hardened steel are dent-proof. They need no filing, and they are the only matched irons that remain in perfect balance.

Twelve piece Super-Matched Set $153.00. Other sets: Irons $48.00 to $108.00, Woods $25.50 to $45.00. Single clubs $4.50 to $15.00.

Sold by Pros and at the best stores. Write to The Kroydon Co., Maplewood, N. J., for "Billy Kroydon's Golf Hints" —it contains practical suggestions for playing every club.



This device measures a club's weight in proportion to its length.

What kind of carbon do you buy for your motor?

THE presence of carbon in an automobile engine shows that oil has reached vital areas where heat is most intense. Due to the heat, some of the oil naturally will be burned. But the carbon formed need not be excessive and it must be harmless.

Many oils, fine lubricants in other respects, leave excessive carbon of a hard and flinty nature. The small amount of carbon which forms in an engine lubricated by Shell Motor Oil is soft, fluffy and non-fouling. It does not cling to moving parts or bake on metal surfaces.

Automotive engineers will tell you that the most difficult points to lubricate are the wrist pin bearing and the space between the top inch of the cylinder wall and the upper piston ring.

Shell engineers have developed an oil which reaches these parts—and all parts of an automobile engine. But it leaves only a negligible amount of soot-like carbon when burned.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil report a surprising freedom from carbon troubles . . . fewer carbon removal jobs . . . no power losses due to pitted valves or "frozen" piston rings. But more than that . . . they enjoy the complete satisfaction which comes from a smooth, sweet-running engine.

Shell Motor Oil is today's outstanding achievement in the science of automobile lubrication—the motor oil with all four essentials of complete and thorough lubrication: Little Carbon . . . Soft Carbon . . . Body . . . and Low Pour Point.

Refined by the new Shell-developed, low-temperature process from crude which is produced in Shell's own vast fields. Never scorched or weakened by the high temperatures of ordinary refinery practice. Tested 259 times to check and certify the rich, unvarying quality of every quart.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL —And let the Shell Lubrication Chart be your guide. You'll find courteous salesmen at the yellow and red service stations. Convenient everywhere.

To the man who drives a high-compression engine—we say: "Try Shell for 30 days"

The small combustion chambers of the modern high-compression engines cannot accommodate even a thin layer of carbon. The small quantity and soft, fluffy character of the carbon in Shell Motor Oil make Shell the ideal lubricant for these new-type cars.

400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline starts quickly, burns completely and delivers full power because it's a "dry" motor fuel. Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

WHEAT PRICES ERRATIC; CORN SHOWS STRENGTH

Oats and Rye Both Finish Day Higher.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Outside interest in the grain markets was limited yesterday and prices fluctuated in an erratic manner, wheat having a range of ⅞@1⅛c, with the close ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, May being $1.02⅝; July, $1.05⅞@1.06, and September, $1.09⅝@1.09¾. Corn was somewhat firmer due to fears of wet weather developing over the belt, and closed ¼@⅜c higher with May 85⅝c; July, 87½c; September, 88⅞c, and December, 83⅜c. Oats were up ⅛@⅜c, closing with May at 46c; July, 44½c, and September 42⅜c. Rye finished ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower with May and July at 86¼c, and September at 89c.

Dry weather continues in the Canadian northwest and the forecast was for generally fair and somewhat warmer, but the Winnipeg market was not affected, and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, despite numerous reports calling attention to the lack of subsoil moisture, and rains would be very beneficial in some sections, although the wheat crop is not suffering at the present time. Comments regarding the outlook in the American northwest were generally favorable, and the winter wheat continues to make fair progress toward maturity.

Await Fresh Developments.

As many in the trade see it, bearish influences are well known, while bullish theories are in the making, and there is a disposition to go slow in pressing the selling side on the breaks at the moment; await some fresh developments in the world's situation, as dollar wheat looks cheap to a majority of the trade, regardless of the immense stock of cash grain in this country and other exporters, and the favorable crop outlook. Only scattered showers have fallen in Argentine, as plowing continues delayed in that country, while good rains fell during the day in South Australia with more forecast.

Houses with eastern connections and locals who bought Wednesday were fair sellers of wheat at times, while on the breaks there was commission house buying. Liverpool closed unchanged to ½d higher, failing to fully reflect the upturn in North America on Wednesday, and is due ⅝@½d higher based on the action of the Chicago market today and yesterday.

Cash Houses Buy Corn.

Buying of July corn by cash houses was an outstanding feature in that market, while the pressure was largely on the September. Forecast for unsettled weather over part of the belt had a tendency to restrict selling at times and the undertone was relatively firm from the start. In Iowa 57 per cent of the acreage had been planted by May 20, according to the weekly weather report, or 13 per cent less than normal, but considerable progress was made during the last week, and field work is only 4 days later than usual. Shipping sales aggregated 143,000 bu with the spot bases steady to ½c higher as compared with the July.

LARD HAS SUPPORT

Buying of lard by a western packer and by commission houses and local interests was sufficient yesterday to absorb scattered selling and make a close at net gains of 2½ to 7½c, with September leading. Liverpool was unchanged and exports were 1,447,113 lbs, with hogs in fair supply and prices higher so that the market had a better tone. A little trade was on in clear bellies, with prices 2½c to 7½c higher, September closing at $13.70.

Ribs were unchanged to 5c higher. Cash trade was fair, particularly picnics and hams. Cumberlands and bellies in Liverpool were 2s lower. Exports of bacon were 310,000 lbs. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

With the exception of a few loads of oats sold abroad from the seaboard there was little activity in export circles. Some exporters, however, claimed that the tone of cables from abroad was better. Local handlers sold 30,000 bu wheat; 143,000 bu corn; 55,000 bu oats and 2,000 bu barley to the domestic trade, with 150,000 bu oats to go to store. Deliveries on May contracts aggregated 54,000 bu wheat; 13,000 bu corn; 170,000 bu oats and 90,000 bu rye.

A weak to 10c lower opening in the hog market yesterday brought a rush of buying on local account, resulting in a sharp comeback soon after the start. Losses were quickly recovered, with bulk of business transacted in midsession on a 5@10c higher price level compared with the general selling the previous day.

Extreme top equaled Wednesday's peak at $11.10, while the general average moved up 10c at $10.80, improved quality helping to boost average costs. The three larger houses were among the best buyers late, handling a combined total of 7,500, including 2,900 bought here at $10.50@10.90. Five small packers bought 6,900 at $10.65@11.00 mostly, while shippers took 3,500 and city butchers 2,500, leaving 5,000 at the close.

Increased cattle receipts failed to weaken the strong position of the cattle market yesterday. Most sales were 15@25c above initial day of the week, choice 1,126 lb., long yearlings reaching $14.75, with 1,211@1,373 lb. steers at $14.65 and bulk at $13.00@14.25. Butcher stock showed further strength and 636 lb. heifers reached $14.60. Calves sold mostly steady. Stockers and feeders were scarce and generally unchanged.

Salesmen held fat lambs in line with the previous day despite large supplies on sale yesterday. Receipts this week are running below last week, but above any corresponding period in several years.

The four day total at 223,000 stands 53,000 smaller than a week ago, but 48,000 larger than in 1928 and 38,000 larger than in 1927. Prices show losses of 25@50c since last week's close, except on springers. California springers sold at $16.50@16.75 and Colorado wool lambs mostly at $15.00, with $13.00 the popular price for shorn stock. The loads reached $13.25. Aged and yearling sheep sold steady. Feeder lambs ruled weak to 25c lower.

CRITICIZE RATE FIXING METHOD FOR LIVE STOCK

New York, May 23.—(AP)—An attack on the methods by which the key rate on New York-Chicago live stock was reduced 6.5 cents per hundred pounds, and charges that slaughterers had falsely pleaded the interest of farmers to have the reduction obtained were heard today by examiners for the interstate commerce commission.

The criticisms were made by John J. Ekin, comptroller of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and George P. Boyle, counsel for Kingan & Co., Indianapolis packers, before Chester E. Stiles and A. S. Parker at the conclusion of the New York hearing on the application of the railroads to have the higher rate of 56.5 cents restored on southern and eastern lines in the area north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi river.

Ekin declared the testimony of W. A. Mayfield, statistician employed by Swift & Co., before the commission in 1925 and 1926 did not take in account empty car movements. Boyle accused the slaughterers of having obtained the rate reduction by pleading that the farmer would be benefited. He branded this argument as ridiculous, and added that the rate charged between Chicago and New York was absolutely of no benefit to the farmer.

June 18 was selected as a compromise date for the next hearing at Washington.

POLE CITES NEED OF NEW BANKING POLICY FOR U. S.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23.—(AP)—Pointing to the loss of 79 banks from the national banking system in the last six months because the banks found it more advantageous to operate under state charters than under the national bank charter, Comptroller of the Currency Pole today told the Maryland Bankers' association a new banking policy to meet present day conditions must be formulated.

Pole said that the old fashioned unit bank which confined its activities to the community in which it originated was finding it more difficult to operate, with costs increasing and income declining. It was a question, he said, whether it could survive. Group banking, he continued, had shown an amazing growth, and branch banking, limited by the federal laws, had expanded under the state laws.

"Within recent months," Pole said, "the trend toward trust company charters by national banks has been alarmingly accentuated. Great bank consolidations of national banks and trust companies are taking place in which the national charters are being given up."

William H. Vanderbilt Is Elected Bank Director

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—Wm. H. Vanderbilt, Rhode Island state senator, son of the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and a great-grandson of the first William H. Vanderbilt, founder of the New York Central railroad company, was today elected director of the Commercial National Bank and Trust company.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Absence of new bearish factors on wheat tend to check selling on weak spots, while every time there is any show of strength the shorts run to cover. This is due to the limited liquidating sales and to fears of damage to the Canadian and Argentine crops from drought. The news from both of these sections is being closely scanned for the time being and the disposition to buy on breaks. The feature yesterday was the absence of big orders on both sides of the market.

A Board of Trade membership sold yesterday at $36,000 net to the buyer. The seller was Harris Hyman, Jr., 61 Broadway, New York. C. H. Thomas of Dallas, Texas, sold his membership on Wednesday at $35,000, the order for the sale coming from New York.

It is said that a large professional trader who has frequently been active in cotton is operating heavily on the short side of the wheat in Chicago, recently covered a very big line.

The open interest in May oats at the close on Wednesday was 3,025,000 bu a small decrease within the week. It is estimated that 75,000 bu were traded in yesterday.

Foreign houses were selling July wheat in Chicago, which although not heavy, was effective in weakening the market.

Winnipeg market will be closed today as it is Empire Day.

LACK OF INTEREST SENDS TIRED BOND MARKET LOWER

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Lack of interest, motivated by the indefinite prospect of higher returns on money in other markets, sent the jaded bond list down to new low levels today. Volume of trading was also substantially smaller, sales totaling only $8,471,000, against yesterday's $11,618,000, par value.

The decline was again apparent throughout the entire quotation table, although United States government bonds gave a somewhat better account of themselves at the close after being decidedly soft throughout the earlier part of the session. At one time Liberty 3½s were at a new low of 97, but they rallied for a net gain of nearly half a point.

Among the rails, weakness was shown by all of the listed Baltimore and Ohio issues, Carolina Clinchfield and Ohio 5s and 6s, Great Northern 7s, Kansas City Southern 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, the New Havens, St. Louis and San Francisco 4½s and 4s, some of the Pennsylvania bonds, and the Wabash obligations. Canadian National 4½s, Central of Georgia 5½s, Boston and Maine 5s, and the Nickel Plate group were firm to stronger.

EASIER TONE IN EGGS

An easier spot market led to selling of the deferred deliveries of eggs on the Chicago mercantile exchange. Trading in the May delivery will cease next Wednesday. The latter closed ¼c higher at 32c, while June was off ¼c at 31¼c, and the November lost ¼c for the day and closed at 35¼c. Sales were 204 cars and receipts 26,861 cases. Stocks in cold storage at the 4 leading points of accumulation are about 400,000 cases less than last year. Production of butter during the last week was about 10 per cent in excess of last year, according to reports, and the December delivery declined ¼c and closed at 43⅞c. Sales were 65 cars with receipts 6,800 tubs.

OKERS' LOANS AG; NO CHANGE N REDISCOUNT

Gloom Is Chased from Wall St.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The gloom that hung over Wall and Salle streets on Wednesday as the of the sharpest break in the market in several years was by two rays of sunlight yesterday. The New York Federal Reserve bank made no change in its 5 cent rediscount rates and the federal reserve board reported a decrease $45,000,000 in brokers' loans in the week.

Opinion had been about equally divided on whether the New York bank would advance its rate to 6 per cent. Both the New York and Chicago institutions several times recently have sought authority to make the increase. The directors of the Chicago bank will meet today and if they, too, make no increase in the rediscount rate, big and little speculators will heave a deep sigh of relief.

Word came from Washington that the reserve board was deadlocked over the issue of permitting higher rediscount rates. Simultaneously, the Chicago reserve bank announced receipt of notice that the treasury department will announce about June 7 an offering of government securities to be dated June 15.

Discuss Mellon's Attitude.

Chicago bankers pointed out that in the event of a deadlock of the reserve board on any question of policy the views of Secretary Mellon, who is a member of the board ex-officio, would have considerable weight. In view of the impending treasury financing, it would be natural for Secretary Mellon to oppose an advance in rediscount rates, which would tend to stiffen open market money rates and so force the treasury to offer higher interest on its new securities. Even with money rates at current levels, it is expected the treasury issue will bear 5 per cent, which would be the highest rate on such obligations since 1921. Treasury maturities next month will aggregate $545,000,000 and still other maturing issues in September and December total more than $1,255,000,000.

The decline in brokers' loans was expected in view of the decline in stock market prices in the last week. However, it was the first decrease in [illegible] weeks and brought the total to $5,520,000,000, although this is $1,064,000,000 above a year ago. The $45,000,000 recession was entirely due to the banks withdrawing funds, probably in preparation for the month-end commercial demand for credit. The New York banks reduced their own loans by $33,000,000, bringing their loans $420,000,000 under a year ago. Interior banks drew down $74,000,000 but still are lending [illegible] more than a year ago. On the other hand, corporations and other lenders increased their loans by [illegible] and now are lending $1,[illegible] more than a year ago. Thus, they are responsible for the entire expansion in the last year and they are furnishing 55 per cent of total loans.

Position Stronger.

Finally, the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night, revealed further strengthening in the financial condition. Borrowings of the member banks declined $10,[illegible], now standing at $904,426,000; holdings of bankers' acceptances receded $8,121,000 and government securities sagged $2,539,000. Deposits dropped $40,997,000 and note circulation fell $7,104,000. Gold reserves increased $3,779,000 but total reserves declined $3,392,000. But the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 75.9 per cent, compared with 75.1 per cent last week.

The New York reserve bank made exceptional improvement. Loans to member banks dropped $57,047,000, now standing at $197,325,000. The New York city banks reduced their borrowings by $55,000,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $7,674,000 and deposits declined $18,090,000. Reserves expanded $49,520,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 84.4 per cent, compared with 78.9 per cent a week ago. At Chicago loans to member banks expanded $10,216,000 to a total of $98,720,000. The Chicago banks increased their borrowings by $9,000,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $2,088,000 and deposits fell $10,891,000. Reserves declined $12,731,000 and the reserve ratio eased to 85.3 per cent, compared with 85.9 per cent last week.

Sees Room for Higher Steel Output from Chicago Area

BY SCRUTATOR.

The growing importance of the Chicago metropolitan district as a producer of steel and iron is evidenced by the figures for the first four months. Those furnished by the Chicago Association of Commerce show that Illinois-Indiana in the first four months had a steel output virtually as large as the Pittsburgh district and in fact was the leader in March and April in actual gross tonnage.

These four months have been a period of intense activity in the whole industry, and although there has been something of a letdown in the pressure to buy recently, the Iron Trade Review reports that on some structural products promises for delivery will not be made here on less than a fourteen week margin.

Despite the high capacity of the mills here it seems apparent that the consumers of the rougher products have to go outside for some of their supplies in times of general activity like the present. And it may be suspected that some fabricating industries in the east are not working at as rapid a rate as those in the central states territory. Even with this district's mills producing as much as they can, the easterners, particularly those along Lake Erie, are able to make shipments here by water. A couple of shiploads arrive each week.

Distribution Complicated.

The distribution of Chicago steel is complicated. Some companies find their principal markets, particularly those whose product is alloy steel, in the automobile manufacturing towns like Detroit and the others in Michigan. They compete there with Pittsburgh on almost equal conditions, so far as freight rates are concerned. Other companies with mills on the south side find their sales territory in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana.

One of the biggest customers of the mills is a plant in Milwaukee, often referred to as one of the most completely modern mechanized in the world. Its requirements for automobile bodies and for pipe—it is the lagest manufacturer of electric welded pipe—are numerous. It was reported in February that it had in orders for 1,200 tons daily for plate alone, to be used in its pipe operations. This concern recently obtained an order for a large part of a 150,000 ton pipe line in the south.

Looming large among the consumers of steel is the automobile industry; but last year, it was estimated, it took only about 18 per cent of the total production. During the first part of 1929 the percentage was somewhat higher, between 20 and 25 per cent, but even an anticipated falling off in its demand during the summer may not cause a great falling off in totals.

Building construction has been comparatively slow, but railroad equipment orders have been heavy and the Iron Trade Review reports that contracts for nine steel vessels, to take 60,000 tons, have been placed subject to shipping board approval.

In Basic Industry.

Steel is one of the greatest of the basic industries in the Chicago territory. The territory for sales is not so wide as the mills in the east, due to favorable shipping conditions to the Pacific coast and to other countries. This would not seem to matter a great deal while the production here needs supplementing with outside shipments. It may be a matter of great importance if production is increased.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—The Commonwealth and Southern corporation has been formed by the Bonbright interests to acquire working control of three of the country's principal public utility systems, whose assets now exceed $1,042,000,000, it was learned today, and will have the largest share capitalization of any company in this country, totaling 62,000,000 no par shares.

The new company will begin its existence with assets valued well in excess of $250,000,000 at present market levels, and will own more than 40 per cent of the common stocks of the Commonwealth Power corporation, the Southeastern Power and Light company, and the Penn-Ohio Edison company.

At today's closing prices, the stock holdings of the new company, based on exactly 40 per cent of the common shares of each corporation named, were valued as follows:

Southeastern Power and Light, $79,604,389; Commonwealth Power, $104,283,520, and Penn-Ohio Edison, $24,436,758, or total stock holdings of approximately $208,325,000 at today's close. In addition, the new company will have at the start $45,000,000 in cash.

The largest single stockholder of the new corporation will be the American Super Power corporation, which is also the largest institutional holder of United Corporation of Delaware stock, furnishing another parallel between the two companies. The names of the officers and directors of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation will be announced soon.

Goes from Forge to Head Van Sweringen Combine

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—John J. Bernet, former blacksmith and now president of the Erie railroad, will become ranking head on June 1 of the $2,000,000,000 system of railroads assembled by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen. He will then resign from the Erie and become president of the Chesapeake and Ohio and its controlled roads, the Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette. The C. and O. is to be placed at the top of the consolidation of eastern railways the Van Sweringens have under way.

Climax to Career.

Today's announcement was the climax to a step taken by Mr. Bernet in 1916, when he relinquished a position as vice president of the New York Central to become the head of the Nickel Plate, a third class railroad built largely for purposes of sale.

Mr. Bernet built the Nickel Plate into a standard dividend payer and on January 1, 1927, resigned to undertake a similar task with the Erie. As a result the Erie directorate plans the payment of dividends this year for the first time since 1907.

As president of the C. and O., Mr. Bernet will become, in effect, a consultant for the entire Van Sweringen system. The C. and O. is now in a prosperous state and Mr. Bernet's accession to its headship is significant, chiefly because of the fact that the Van Sweringens consider that their merger plans have advanced sufficiently to make it necessary to organize a permanent management for a unified railroad structure.

The Van Sweringens bought the Nickel Plate from the New York Central in 1916 for $2,000,000 in cash and promises to pay $650,000 yearly for ten years. The total price of $8,500,000 represented the market value of the stock at the time. They then acquired the services of Mr. Bernet. Comment at the time was that the Van Sweringens had made a mistake in turning from Cleveland real estate to railroading and that Mr. Bernet had made a mistake in leaving the New York Central board. But Mr. Bernet bought Nickel Plate stock and subsequently saw it soar to many times the purchase price and at the same time pay him handsome dividends.

PREPARE FOR BATTLE.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23.—(AP)—The Taplan group of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad was digging tonight in preparation to combat the injunction issued to the Van Sweringen group which restrains the Taplin officers from gaining control of the road.

Attorneys for the Taplins were preparing to take retaliatory steps in common pleas court, where the injunction petition was filed by Van Sweringen attorneys after the Taplins had elected their own board of directors and officers for the railroad.

The Van Sweringen officers continue to function, however, until further order of the court.

New York, May 23.—Word from Washington that the federal reserve board had gone into a deadlock over the proposal to raise the rediscount rate to 6 per cent here and at Chicago caused great excitement in Wall street this afternoon and operations on the stock exchange were resolved into something of a "free-for-all betting match" on the outcome.

Apparently a majority of traders were convinced that the present rate would be allowed to stand for at least another week, for good buying appeared in nearly every group of the list and the gains far exceeded the losses in the price final, both as to

CHICAGO STOCKS START ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Borg-Warner Rises on Stock Dividend News.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Chicago stock prices started on the road to recovery yesterday on the changed belief that no revision would be made in the rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve bank and that brokers' loans would show a healthy decrease, all of which was borne out after the close.

Borg-Warner shot up 3⅝, reflecting the declaration of a 50 per cent dividend. The cash dividend of $4 annually will be continued on the new stock but the 8 per cent disbursement in stock will be discarded. Net earnings for the first four months of 1929 totaled $3,099,651, equal after preferred dividends to $4.05 a share on the 744,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

Bendix Gains 5 Points.

Bendix recovered five points and Bendix Aviation advanced two points. Allied Motor Industries was up 1½. Allied Products eased 1⅜ and Unit corporation preferred was down a point. Winton Engine preference was off a point. A syndicate headed by August Belmont & Co. of New York and John Burnham & Co. of Chicago will offer today 33,000 shares of Winton common at $73 a share. The common stock was listed on the Chicago exchange on Wednesday.

Net earnings of Winton for the four months ended April 30 totaled $239,552, or $3.22 a share on the outstanding common stock. In the year ended Dec. 31, 1928, net was $415,254 or $5 a share on the same amount of common. Current assets are carried at $2,129,723 and current liabilities at $844,426.

U. S. Gypsum was a feature of the general list, moving up two points on the announcement by the company that patent litigation which has been a disturbing factor in the industry for some time has been settled. Kalamazoo Stove advanced 3½ and A. M. Castle was up 2¼. Merchants and Manufacturers class "A" stock gained 1⅝.

Lynch Glass Machine was unchanged on small sales. The company announced the receipt of an order for four additional machines from the Hazel-Atlas company of Columbus, O. Lion Oil gained a point and Commonwealth Edison was down two points. Yates American Machine advanced three points.

On Five Day Week.

Grigsby-Grunow recovered 2½ points on announcement that the company is now operating on a five day week and will be producing 4,400 radio sets daily by Monday, compared with 4,000 sets a day in the preceding peak period before the company opened its new plant. Raytheon and Wextark Radio Stores were up a point and two points, respectively. Atlas Stores was down a point and U. S. Radio gained a point.

Introduction of the specialist system of trading on the exchange will be made Monday when forty traders on the floor will become specialists in 117 active issues on the exchange.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Remained quiet and responsive mainly because of fluctuations in cotton. Considerable weakness developed early owing to liquidation that was encouraged by the more favorable weather news and the active positions touched new lows for the season. Toward the close, however, the rally in cotton influenced more support, and after showing net losses of 12 to 19 points prices rallied partially and closed at net declines of 10 to 15 points. Sales, 5,000 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot, 9.50c; May closed 9.40c, July 9.65c; September, 9.89c; October, 9.90c; December, 9.71c.

Mr. Geo. W. Codrington, President of the Company, has summarized his letter to us as follows:

Business: The Company manufactures the well known Winton Diesel and gasoline engines. As one of the pioneers in this field it has devoted a large proportion of its resources to development work, and its position in the industry is largely attributable to this policy, plus stress on quality of material and workmanship.

The business is divided into the following classifications:
(a) Marine Diesel and gasoline engines for use as main power plants.
(b) Gasoline engines for rail motor cars.
(c) Diesel and gasoline auxiliary power plants for marine use.
(d) Generator sets.
(e) Stationary engines of both gasoline and Diesel type for industrial use.

The various usages of the Company's products provide a diversification of markets that has proved notably valuable in stabilizing earnings. Normal sales volume is divided among ultimate users approximately as follows: 30% to railroads; 30% to owners of yachts and commercial vessels; 25% to the United States Government; 15% to industrials.

Improvements in Diesel design making for reduced weight per horsepower, coupled with operating economy, are developing new uses for this type of engine. The Winton Engine Company is organizing a subsidiary, The Winton Aviation Engine Company, for the development of Diesel engines for aircraft.

Earnings: The following tabulation is based upon the earnings of the Company and its predecessor company for the three years ended December 31, 1928, as certified by Messrs. Arthur Andersen & Co., after all operating expenses, including depreciation and provision for Federal Income Taxes at current rates, and after restoring to income certain non-recurring charges aggregating $59,939. for the total period, consisting of interest and amortization charges on funded debt to be retired through this financing and losses on rentals not assumed by the present company. Earnings for the four months ended April 30, 1929, based on the Company's books, have been similarly adjusted, such adjustments amounting to $24,065 for this period.

Annual average three years ended December 31, 1928	$335,047	$3.77

Results of the Company's policy are becoming continually more evident and are reflected in earnings for the first four months of 1929 which were at the annual rate of $9.66 per share on the common stock. Shipments during this period plus unfilled orders on hand May 1 were over 50% in excess of total sales for the previous year and indicate operation at capacity for the remainder of the year.

Purpose: 25,000 shares of Common Stock included in this offering represent new financing on the part of the Company, and proceeds thereof will be used to retire an aggregate principal amount of $992,500 Ten Year 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures and to provide additional working capital. The balance of the offering has been purchased from individual stockholders.

UTILITIES FORM RAINBOW AS SUN SHINES ON CURB

Stocks Rally After Selling Storm Is Over.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 23.—The sun was out again today on the curb market with the worst of the selling storm over, and traders coming out of the holes into which the rain of falling prices had driven them. Utilities were the rainbow sign, indicating that a recovery was due, and showed the way to a general comeback. Covering by shorts played an important role in the rally, which took place in a somewhat irregular market in which a deal of selling was still evident.

Such active issues as United Gas Improvement, St. Regis Paper, Northeastern Power, American Super Power, and Electric Bond and Share led the upturn, scoring gains ranging from 2 to 9 points by the middle of the afternoon. Oils also were active, with an underlying tone of strength. Humble firmed and Gulf Oil made up early losses around midday.

Aviation shares were mixed, with Douglas still going strong. An initial block of 10,000 shares of North American Aviation appeared on the tape, with no change in prices. Bendix Aviation, a heavy loser on the week, snapped back 2⅝ points. Aviation Corporation of America, Fokker, and Western Air Express all forged ahead.

Some high priced shares sustained further losses. Tubize selk dropped 11 points, Deere 14, and Libby Owens 3. Other losses were United States Freight and Transcontinental Oil preferred, which dropped back beyond its spurt of yesterday with a slump of 23 points. Goldman Sachs, an investment trust, closed below 100 before it started up, but still closed off.

A meeting of stockholders of the Indiana Pipe Line company will be held June 25 to vote on a plan to provide for a three for one stok split.

A two for one splitup of the stock of the Alleghany Gas corporation is planned by the directors of the company, who have recommended that the authorized common stock be increased from 150,000 to 300,000 shares.

M. A. Hanna.

L. M. P.—M. A. Hanna company reported net income of $381,739 for the first quarter of 1929, against a loss of $111,766 for the corresponding quarter of 1928.

Earnings for the quarter were equal to $3.40 a share on the $100 par first preferred stock and 22 cents a share on 542,929 shares of no par common.

In spite of poor markets for soft coal and generally none too favorable conditions for pig iron, the company reported profits for 1928 of $19.92 per share on the first preferred stock, against $9.94 the year before.

Particularly substantial recovery was indicated for the December quarter. Floating debt was reduced and there is hope for further payments on the first preferred, on which dividends were resumed March 20, 1929.

Net income for 1928 was $2,231,221, against $1,112,957 for 1927.

Earnings on the common stock in 1928 were $2.20 a share, against 14 cents in 1927.

Profit and loss surplus at the close of 1928 was $4,772,625, against $2,425,997 the year before.

Current assets were $21,427,496 and current liabilities were $7,871,802 as of Dec. 31, 1928. This left a net working capital of $13,555,694, which compares with $12,891,639 at the end of 1927.

Brisk competition has forced the company to make heavy capital expenditures to reduce costs of operation. During 1928 more than $1,500,000 was spent for new construction, improvements, and additions to property, and more than $1,000,000 was invested in affiliated companies and in establishing new connections to fortify earning power.

No dividends are reported on the second preferred or common.

Golden State Milk Products.

Net income was $757,577.

After provision for payment of dividends amounting to $514,676 there remained a surplus of $242,901 for the year.

Earnings were equal to $1.74 per share on 435,091 shares of $25 par stock outstanding.

Current assets of $3,892,391 and current liabilities of $1,902,403 as of Feb. 28, 1929, left a net working capital of $1,989,988, which compares with $1,215,217 the previous year.

The company recently announced the acquisition of West Coast Dairies, Inc., a milk and cream distributor in the Burbank, Glendale, and San Fernando section of southern California.

Dividends are at the annual rate of $1.60 a share. In addition occasional one per cent stock dividends are declared.

The capital stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific.

J. M. S.—Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company is issuing $3,370,000 5 per cent equipment trust gold certificates, series "J," dated June 1, 1929, and due annually June 1, 1930 to 1944, inclusive.

It is provided that these certificates shall represent not more than 75 per cent of the cost of the new equipment. This equipment will be leased to the company at a rental sufficient to pay the principal amount of the certificates as well as dividend warrants, taxes and charges. They are guaranteed unconditionally as to principal and dividends by the company.

They are a sound investment.

Class A Stock and Class B Stock have equal voting rights. The Class A Stock is non-callable. The Class B Stock is entitled to no dividends and in the event of any voluntary or involuntary liquidation of the Company is entitled to no distributive share of the assets of the Company. Class B Stock is convertible share for share into Class A Stock whenever the net earnings of the Company before any deduction for Federal income taxes or dividends shall amount to $525,000, or more in any one of the first three fiscal years of the Company, or in any one fiscal year thereafter, during the continuance of the Management Contract referred to below.

Mr. Isidor Goldberg, President of the Pilot Radio & Tube Corporation, has summarized his letter regarding the Company as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: Pilot Radio & Tube Corporation (hereinafter called the Company) was incorporated in March, 1929 and proposes to take over a business which has been continuously operated under the present management since 1911. Its immediate predecessor, the Pilot Electric Manufacturing Co., Inc., was organized in 1922 with a paid-in capital of $5,000.00 from which modest start it grew to its present position with no additional contributed capital.

The Pilot Radio & Tube Corporation proposes to manufacture every part necessary to the assembling of a radio receiving set, as well as other electrical articles, and proposes to begin production of similar parts for television receiving sets, as well as complete television sets for home use. The Company has contracted to acquire from the predecessor company a Federal Radio Commission license to broadcast television, and its broadcasting station is in operation at the present time (call letters W2XCL, wave length 143.5 meters).

The predecessor company's products are widely distributed, about 40% of its production being sold abroad, in Europe, Africa, South America, and the Orient.

The bulk of its domestic sales are to the large chain store systems and mail order houses, including Sears, Roebuck and Company, Montgomery Ward & Company, S. S. Kresge Company, W. T. Grant Company, S. H. Kress & Company and Neisner Bros.

EARNINGS: The net sales and net profits of the predecessor company available for dividends for the two years ended December 31, 1928, after all charges including depreciation and Federal income taxes at the present rate of 12%, and after eliminating non-recurring charges for salaries and interest of $6,618.45 in 1927 and $24,162.33 in 1928, as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells, Certified Public Accountants, are as follows:

	Net Sales	Net Profits
1927	$ 857,171.74	$161,039.19
1928	1,419,141.44	322,621.80

Net sales and net profits for the first quarter of 1929, after all charges including depreciation and Federal income tax as certified by Messrs. Haskins & Sells were:

Net sales	$407,703.43

which is a substantial increase over the first quarter of 1928.

MANAGEMENT: The management of the company remains in the hands of the parties responsible for the successful operation of the predecessor company since its inception, who will be the owners of a very substantial amount of Class A stock and all of the Class B stock of the company.

Mr. Isidor Goldberg has agreed to act as general manager of the company for a period of three years under a management contract by the terms of which all of his future activities will be confined to the business of the company during the term of the contract and any renewal thereof.

LISTING: Application has been made to list the Class A stock on the New York Curb Market.

SMALL CHANGES IN COTTON

Sentiment in the cotton trade was rather bearish yesterday with the volume of business limited and the range of prices declined to about 20 points. News and sentiment was inclined to the bear side, yet trade buying of nearby deliveries developed on weak spots and there were moderate rallies at times. The weather conditions were more favorable and the disposition of traders is to sell on all hard spots. At the close Liverpool was 16 points net lower with spot sales of 4,000 bales.

Weather on the whole was rather more favorable. Toward the last buyers appeared more disposed to take hold, and the close in Chicago was unchanged to 7 points higher, May being the strongest. Other markets were unchanged to 10 points higher. Spots are unchanged with New York 19.76c; New Orleans, 18.85c, with sales of 807 bales; Houston, 18.85c, and Galveston, 18.80c.

Expectations are that the report on spinners' takings today will be rather smaller than a week ago; will compare with 251,000 bales the previous week and 235,000 bales last year. Prices follow:

STOCK TRADERS GAMBLE UPON RESERVE ACTION

Pillars of Strength.

Included among the day's pillars of strength were General Electric, American and Foreign Power, Woolworth, Allied Chemical, Packard, Wright, Columbia Gas and several others, all up 5 points or more. United States Steel rallied for a net gain of nearly 5 points while Radio came back for 4. Various specialties moved up sharply in the last hour of trading.

According to Washington dispatches the rate increase problem has been referred to Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, for decision, the reserve board splitting three to three on the issue. Mr. Mellon's views on some phases of the credit situation are known to be not entirely in accord with those of members of the board and the uncertainty as to his course in the present dilemma seems to have appealed to a large element of the trading community as a good sporting proposition. There was considerable direct betting on the result in brokerage houses after the situation became known in the afternoon.

As on other days when sentiment has been seriously disturbed over the money market outlook activity was very largely of a professional nature. Bear operators made a number of more or less determined efforts to break the market anew but powerful support was forthcoming for the individual issues or group leaders attacked in each instance.

Reports of merger negotiations, dividend plans, earnings and other special developments helped a host of issues scattered throughout the list.

Packard Benefits.

One of the outstanding beneficiaries of this classification was Packard, which advanced nearly 3 points following the announcement of its extra dividend of $1.50 and its five for one stock splitup. Columbia Graphophone came to the front with a rush in the last hour on the strength of revived reports of a prospective merger with Radio. It was up 7¾ points at the close. A rumor that Sinclair is about to take over the Pan-American holdings now owned by Standard Oil of Indiana was followed by a wave of good buying in both the first named issues.

Favorable earnings statements helped a number of the rails. New York Central led the forward moving procession in this quarter of the field, advancing more than four points. Atchison advanced nearly 3 points. A weak feature of this division was Central of New Jersey, which sold off 7⅛ points.

The utilities did pretty well. American Power and Light moved ahead 6⅝ and International Telephone and Telegraph recovered more than four points of its Wednesday's losses.

Better Tone in Coppers.

The coppers developed a better tone, with Anaconda and Kennecott moving ahead briskly. Greene Cananea was the weak member here, dropping back for some 4 points. Merchandise shares were in good demand.

Traders had nothing to complain about on the score of the money supply today. Funds literally poured in as a result of yesterday's break and it was said early this afternoon that approximately $50,000,000 was being offered on the floor of the exchange with no takers. The rate held at 6 per cent all day. Volume of sales totaled around 3,808,400 shares.

The Scripps-Howard organization does not nominate itself a judge of what other newspapers should or should not do. But it does emphatically subscribe to the right of every newspaper reader to know whether or not his newspaper is a free agent; free to view all issues and events impartially; free to print all the news without biased interpretation.

Today, as from their beginning, the SCRIPPS-HOWARD Newspapers are owned from within . . . by the men and women who make them. They have no "special interests" to favor or conciliate. No public utility corporation or other vested interest owns a single share of the SCRIPPS-HOWARD Newspapers.

The Scripps-Howard papers are free of all entangling alliances. And that is why their editors can be, and are, the sole sovereigns of their columns. Free of all dictation. Free from fear. Free from the anxiety that assails even the most courageous editor working on the "secretly controlled" newspaper.

Nor do Scripps-Howard workers have to look outside these newspapers for their own investments. Every proven Scripps-Howard employee is given an opportunity to acquire Scripps-Howard stock . . . and pay for it out of earnings. That gives him an impelling incentive to make worthy newspaper work his sole business interest.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is crushed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has just lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey hear of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

TO LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY.

Travers gave one of those noncommital grunts which, as his mother remarked, not without impatience, are one of the privileges of being a man. For if a woman, asked a question, were to take out a match and light a cigaret, produce that "M'm," then blow out that match and say no more, would it be considered an answer, either adequate or polite? Certainly not. Men, however, get away with it—constantly, maddeningly.

"Rex," I said, "isn't it such a good thing that she's got you, then?"

Rex Travers said, "Hm! She may bar the idea of being rushed, even—even by me."

"Pooh, dear; pooh! If you're thinking Joy would mind the wedding being sooner, don't worry for another instant. Not for another instant need you worry. The child will be glad."

Travers gazed at the one woman whom he did not regard as mechanism. "Mother, what makes you seem so sure? Why should you think——?"

"I don't think; I know. The poor child has been simply flurried. Overwhelmed. Overworked, I think. And your fault. I know you have not meant to be inconsiderate. But really, what with all these letters about villas and patients and passports and Percival Arthur's clothes and everything else, the poor child has been worn to a shadow. I don't want to interfere or to gnat it, but I knew something was worrying her and for a moment I really got such a terrible fright. I thought she might not be wanting to get married after all. I asked her, straight out."

"You didn't? Upon my word," said Rex Travers, smoothing his hand back over his blond hair, "it seems my fate to be surrounded by enfants terribles. What with old Locke, the boy, and now you——"

"Well, I'm very glad I did, very," declared Granny Travers rebelliously.

"Aren't you going to touch your nice egg, miss, that's as fresh as fresh?"

"Because nobody would tell me anything that I wanted to know, and now I know for certain. She said, 'Of course I want to get married' in a tone there was absolutely no mistaking. She agreed that the long engagement would be terrible!"

"She did, did she?" muttered Rex Travers.

At that moment he told himself he could not afford the luxury of considering the girl's feelings. What he had to consider was her use to his career and to the boy. [Although he was a man usually sincere with himself, there was, too, a factor he did not acknowledge because he was not conscious of it. At the bottom of his consciousness lurked masculine pride, making the secret, silent demand: "What leads this girl to suppose that I am not to be looked upon as a man?"]

. . . .

At that moment, down by the side of the Thames, Geoffrey Ford was tearing up one letter he had already written to Joy and planning a better way of putting it.

. . . .

"So the sooner you are married and settled down happily together on the Riviera the better!" summed up Granny Travers. "What do you say, Rex?"

This time Rex Travers actually gave her a prompt and definite answer.

"I think you're right." He thrust Miss Simpett's letter back into his case. "I shall go off now and see about that special license."

Mrs. Travers, little knowing to what events she was now hurrying her son, said happily, 'Do, dear!"

That hour before the wedding is often enough one of panic for even a satisfactorily plighted pair; fortunately no census has to be taken of those who, given the chance, would at the last moment back out.

Not on that list in any case would you have found the name of Miss Joy Harrison; no, nor that of her bridegroom, Dr. Rex Travers. Both of them were feverishly eager to get the marriage over. Notice, each of them thought of it in these terms. Over! An end to this grotesque hell of an engagement. An end to the intrusions of other people. An end to all the questions and the nervous dread lest relations and friends might think we were not doing much with our rôle of the happy engaged. Hurray for the finish of it! Hurray for the getting away to France! Married people don't attract the fierce limelight that beats upon the betrothed!

"Aren't you going to touch your nice egg, Miss, that's as fresh as fresh?" Mrs. Cope, Joy's landlady, hovered maternally above the breakfast table—her last breakfast in her Chelsea rooms. Come, this won't do. Have to keep up your strength as I always say, be it a wedding or be it a funeral. All your things packed and ready? That's good. So you've plenty of time. Nice going-away dress, too. Not going to taste my home-made marmalade neither? Dear, dear. For the last week you haven't taken no more than would nourish a sparrow. But there. Getting somebody to look after you now, he won't let you play none of these tricks with your inside!"

"What's the time?" asked Joy. Cynically she remembered the terrible little play, "Eight o'Clock," with Russell Thorndike's magnificently grim performance as the condemned murderer. That man had clung, up to the last instant, to the hope of a reprieve. Flashed up the thought in Joy, "I hoped for a reprieve quite a long time, myself. Whole days there were when I still thought—'Even now there may be a letter from Geoffrey saying something, something that will put an end to all this.' I might have known he wouldn't. I've had my last letter to my unmarried name!" thought Joy Harrison [and there was nothing to tell her of just one more letter addressed to that unmarried name of hers which was not too far off, either, which was in the hands of a landlady in the oilcloth scented passage of a house opposite, who said, 'No one here by that name!"].

It was Granny Travers who had considered that a registry office was sordid, dear, sordid. I shouldn't feel as if you were really married! But do as you like," whereupon her son, Rex, had done as she liked, and had arranged for the wedding to take place at Old Chelsea church, within a stone's throw of Joy's rooms and set in the midst of so many picturesque London features—the barges gliding slowly down the Thames beyond fluttering plane trees of Chelsea embankment, the calling gulls, the clockhouse, the other houses where celebrities have lived or do live, and the red coated, white whiskered pensioners that pass slowly up and down the paths of the Royal hospital gardens.

No one was to be present except Granny Travers, Percival Arthur as a matter of course, and though at first there had been no thought of inviting him, Dr. Saxon Locke. "Naturally I am coming. I should hope so! How like Rex, ungrateful hound, to bag my car to take the luggage and all of them to Victoria and then to leave me out of anything that's to be seen. Who else did you want to give away the bride?"

Now here was his big blue car purring up to the door of the rooms. It stopped. Out loomed the Decoy Elephant wearing in the buttonhole of his gray frock coat the white carnation appropriate to the bride's father.

You may carve it on his tombstone,
You may cut it on his card,
That a young man married
Is a young man marred!

"Does that apply to a young woman, too?" Joy asked with a Spartan smile as she took her seat in the car, but Dr. Locke assured her that in this case—only in this case—he didn't consider it would be true of either; that was why he quoted it, and herewith he took up, from under the seat and handed to the girl in her light traveling suit, a large, blatantly advertising, underlining bouquet of orange blossom and white heather.

This the dazed Joy held during the wedding service which, Rex Travers had seen about that, had been cut down to the minimum. All vague and dim as were her feelings now, her voice was clear and steady as she pronounced the lines, "To love, honor, and obey."

Dr. C. B. McAfee New Moderator of Presbyterians

He Says Churches Aren't Political Weapons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—[Special.]—The fundamentalist vs. modernist controversy was ended as a political issue in the 141st general assembly of the Presbyterian church by the overwhelming election today of Dr. Cleland B. McAfee of Chicago as moderator.

In nominating Dr. McAfee's opponent, Prof. Robert Dick Wilson of Princeton Theological seminary, Dr. William E. Biederwolf, Evangelist of Monticello, Ind., vainly hurled the ancient battle cries into the election as he told of Prof. Wilson's war on the higher criticism of the Bible. A like argument for Prof. Wilson was made by the Rev. John C. Barr, New Orleans fundamentalist.

With the election of Dr. McAfee the assembly is likely to become a "Chicago affair,' according to various leaders. Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, and a member of President Hoover's law enforcement group, in his speech seconded the nomination of Dr. McAfee. He said Chicago, of all places on earth, was in need of a moderator. Neither Dr. Josiah Sibley, Pasadena, Cal., in his nominating speech for Dr. McAfee, nor Mr. Loesch mentioned the fundamentalist issue. It is freely predicted that Mr. Loesch is slated for the vice moderatorship, or else, appointment to the important chairmanship of the committee on bills and overtures.

In a keynote speech as moderator elect, Dr. McAfee declared:

"It is not the church's business to make laws, nor directly to participate in their making. Likewise, it is not our business to enforce laws, nor to enter into their enforcement. It is our part to spread the spirit of observance of all law.

"It is not some one law in which we are particularly interested. We have in the White House at Washington a clear mind who sees through a smoke screen like that. We are interested in all laws, because law has its seat in the very heart of God, and it is the binding force of the social order."

The new moderator also spoke of world peace and brotherhood. "St. Paul is the home of Secretary Kellogg," he said, "and the Kellogg pact has been put in a precarious position due to a failure in the development of the spirit of human brotherhood."

"The union of Christian churches, particularly among Presbyterian groups," he said, "should be advanced in this assembly."

The future wellbeing of civilization rests upon the shoulders of adults and not on the younger generation, was the declaration of Prof. Norman Richardson, newly appointed head of the department of religious instruction at the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago, in his address tonight.

Prof. Richardson declared the childish theology of most adults, together with their desire to recall the religious thrills of their childhood, tended to make the closed minded fanatics, who virtually drive the younger people from the churches.

Dr. McAfee's Career.

Dr. C. B. McAfee has held the chair of systematic theology in McCormick seminary since 1912. He was born in Missouri, the son of the Rev. John A. McAfee, then president of Park college, which became Dr. McAfee's alma mater. In 1888 he was graduated from the Union Theological seminary in New York, was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry and accepted a professorship in Park college. Westminster college, Missouri, conferred on a him a degree of Ph. D. in 1892; Park college, D. D. in 1897, and Tusculum college, LL. D. in 1921.

His pastorates have included the First Presbyterian church in Chicago and the Lafayette avenue church in Brooklyn. In 1924 and 1925 he traveled in the orient as a lecturer of the Joseph Cook foundation in Syria, Egypt, India, Siam, China, Corea, and Japan. He also was active in war work, being head of the religious work department of the Y. M. C. A. His candidacy as moderator was recommended by the Chicago presbytery.

Michigan Students Hail Retiring President and Take Rap at Opponents

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 23.—Five hundred men and women of Michigan filled the ballroom at Michigan Union to overflowing at a banquet tonight to honor their retiring president, Dr. Clarence Cook Little. Admission was limited to students, faculty and townspeople being excluded.

The main speaker was Thomas Koykka, a junior law student, who likened Dr. Little to a man who was stoned to death by his people when he came back from a journey to tell truths against the established order.

Concluding the program after he was presented with an overstuffed armchair as a token of appreciation, Dr. Little said the outlook for the future was far from barren, for the last few months had made him realize for the first time the strong feeling of sympathy for the new and progressive among Michigan students, and that gave him hope for the future.

"A few stones," he declared, "have been cast at this concrete head of mine, but they have bounced off. No damage has been done and if I have been able to stir in you a spirit of opposition to blind acceptance of old ideas, I am happy."

George Rich, captain of the 1928 football team, was toastmaster, and three other students spoke in addition to Henry Grinnell, a graduate of last year, who represented the Detroit alumni. Martin Mol, president of the Student Christian association, was chairman of the committee arranging the affair. Elizabeth Wellman said Dr. Little had gained the liking of the women on the campus by his example of fighting for ideals.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Frank J. Blazek, 1433 South Komensky avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you agree with Ald. Toman that civil service employés should live in Chicago?

The Answers.

James H. O'Hara, 6138 Ingleside avenue, artist—That's all right, if it does not deprive the city of valuable employés. Of two equally capable men, one living in the city and the other living in an outside city, it would seem proper to choose the one living in the city. But if an irreplaceable man lives even in Lake Forest, then keep the Lake Forest man.

Mrs. Helen Hallet, 220 West 65th street, housewife — That would be a limitation or a hardship, one or the two. Every day more and more people are moving out of town to live, though they work in the city. It's the wish of most everybody to live where the air is pure. I would live outside of Chicago if I could.

Arthur Bowen, 4531 North Ashland avenue, advertising—That sounds ridiculous, in a sense, because how many of the people making up Greater Chicago live within the city limits? Of course, one of the arguments is that a city employé should live, pay taxes, and otherwise contribute financially and morally to the city that supports him. But this is a narrow view.

Miss Katherine Allen, 7 South Dearborn street, secretary—It is only natural that preference should be given to those living in Chicago. One's interest is with the community in which one lives. Nevertheless efficiency demands that the best men and women be obtained, regardless of place of residence.

Julius E. Mairson, 1528 South Trumbull avenue, printer—The alderman is right. Living within the city, such employés are more familiar with conditions; knowing conditions and being affected by them, they have the incentive to act in the best interests of the city.

Chicago Bill for Playing Nation's Largest

Survey Compares the Expenses for 1928.

Chicago park departments spent $5,461,039 for public recreation in 1928, according to the year book of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, which was released yesterday. This is more than was spent for this purpose in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco combined. It is nearly three times New York City's outlay for public play.

Three and a third millions of Chicago's expenditure was for land, buildings, and permanent equipment purchased by the municipal bureau of parks and playgrounds and beaches, the south park commissioners, and the west park board. The various park boards reported a total of 424 names appearing regularly on their pay rolls.

New York City's 1928 public recreation expenses totaled $1,868,000, as contrasted with Chicago's $5,461,039. Chicago has 158 playgrounds, New York has 613; Chicago has 5 municipal golf courses, New York has six; Chicago has 590 public tennis courts, New York has 501, and Chicago youths use 42 swimming pools as against New York's 26.

The Playground and Recreation association received reports from 872 cities in the United States and Canada showing a total expenditure in 1928 of $31,740,851 for public playgrounds, athletics, dramatics and other play activities. Cities that spent more than $500,000 each on organized recreation are:

Chicago ..	$5,461,039	Los Ang'l's	$1,381,000
New York.	1,868,000	Phil'd'phia .	724,000
Detroit	1,507,000	S'n Fr'cisco	608,092
Cleveland .	1,490,000	Milwaukee.	545,309
Boston	1,412,000

The total spent for parks and playgrounds in the United States and Canada was slightly less in 1928 than in 1927, but last year's aggregate was $11,000,000 more than the 1924 outlay.

Agnes Scott College, Ga., Gets Offer of Half Million

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Decatur, Ga., May 23.—A gift of $500,000 to Agnes Scott college here on condition that the college raise $1,000,000 was voted today at a meeting of the general education board of New York, a Rockefeller agency, according to telegraphic advice received by Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the institution.

CHICAGO'S BEACHES MAY HAVE THAT CHIC AIR OF DEAUVILLE

The city fathers had front seats at a bathing costume review at Illinois Women's Athletic club last night after its annual swimming contest. The review was really partly given in their benefit, that they might see the prevailing modes in beach wear and thereby know what to incorporate in the pending new city ordinance regulating beach costumes.

If the ordinance is drawn up according to the opinion of the aldermen present last night plain and athletic suits reaching to 12 inches above the knee, tiny trunks with blouse in sunsuit style, suits with porous backs, suits without backs, all will pass muster as the season comes on.

Ald. W. A. Rowan, chairman of the subcommittee which is to draw up the new ordinance, Ald. Dorsey Crowe, and Ald. T. J. Bowler sat in judgment, with Walter Wright, director of small parks and playgrounds for the city, and Hermann Fischer, director of playgrounds for the board of education, in close consultation.

The models were instructed to circle directly in front of the quintet of men, there turning slowly so that not a good or a bad feature of the costumes could be missed. The response of the aldermen, by applause, would tell their opinion, said Mrs. Richard S. Folsom, chairman of the club's athletic committee, who announced the event.

The review began with mid-Victorian, full skirted, long stockinged costumes, then ankle length bloomers and elbow length sleeves, still later a gray, heavy gathered costume with sailor collar, four inch sleeves, and full rubber cap which fulfilled exactly the requirements of the existing city ordinance on bathing wear, passed, by the way, in 1917.

Then came what is being sold today in Chicago leading stores, backs out, backs in, futuristic coloring, striped shorts, black velvet single piece with four inch cutouts below deep slashed armholes. There were gasps from a few women now and then as a striped beach cape came off, revealing narrow suspenders holding on a tiny bodice and diminutive kilted shorts, but the aldermanic trio remained unshaken.

"Just so they are practical to swim in," Ald. Crowe explained. "Not this stuff," he indicated as a gorgeous long panted beach lounging costume in pale blue and gold revolved slowly before him. "No kick for its modesty, of course, but beach suits aren't what we are here to see. Now this is something like——"

"This" was a snappy and very tiny black and white one piece suit.

The very new shorts, in gingham, silk and jersey, with tiny pants that are pleated, giving a slight skirt effect though of extreme brevity, did not quite suit their fancy. "Just how would they look wet, I wonder," mused Ald. Rowan. "I can't quite see the idea of that. The regulation one piece suits, like those worn by men, are the best. Nothing immodest about anything that is practical, as they are."

A pale green suit with a white porous back found extreme favor with the gentlemen. A black and orange in futuristic patterns, with shorts modishly buttoned, pleased, the applause showed. There was none, however, for elaborate beach costumes of satin and silk crêpe with flaming capes and robes and lacquered, high heeled bathing sandals. Blondes were in preference, whatever the costume.

The new ordinance should be ready in two weeks, Ald. Rowan said, adding that everything in the entire show would be allowed on Chicago beaches, if he had anything to say about it.

To Neglect Food in Season Is a Crime, Says Poet

Now Is the Time to Enjoy Current Greens.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

To neglect what is just in season is a crime, was a statement that flashed into my head the other day when I had traveled somewhat far, and into an unlovely region, to look at what I thought I might and did find: a full display of the current greens, a full display of these wonderful vitamin bearers. I saw them all right, but they were arranged in a very climax of neglect—a fresh and bright hamper of okra (yes, a whole hamper) at one end and a pile of utterly wilted seedling spinach at the other. Such a great variety as there was, including one kind of kale, is seldom to be seen anywhere because few successful dealers in food will bother to take the great care that must be taken of greens to save them from a complete waste. Greens are best off in out of door markets and where, as in France, they get automatic sprinklings.

I had thus traveled and noted this about greens, with the purpose of again taking the subject up this spring, but the idea about the neglect—I was realy misquoting a statement made over two and a quarter centuries ago—made me change my mind about what I would write about this time, particularly as the waste by the ton of that wonderful green purslane ("pulsey"), accounted a garden weed, will not be taking place for a month yet, nor will the most wonderful of all garden greens—that of the red beet—be in season until well into June.

Modernizing the spelling a bit, and of course omitting the long S, we may have the following ancient way of presenting the idea about using seasonable foods and another as well:

"Beauty from order springs; the judging eye
Will tell you if one single plate's awry;
The cook must still regard the present time,
T' omit what's just in season is a crime;
Your infant pease to sparrowgrass prefer——"

Besides the poem this book contains the most entertaining letters, an explanation of the origin of toothpicks, etc. The book has been a mine for smart writers on foods for 200 years, and not all of them have mentioned the origin of the gems of lines to which they have helped themselves.

Famous Lines.

Nearly 200 years after this book was printed a man writing gayly on foods took this from "The Art of Cookery":

"Muse, sing the man that did to Paris go,
That he might taste their soups, and mushrooms know."

And many a writer and speaker has got much credit by a mention of the three doctors greatly commended by Dr. King, "Dr. Quiet, Dr. Diet, and Dr. Merryman." This book may help one to patronize each and all these physicians and how to suit your eatables to every age. He tells how to feed the baby, the prize fighter, the wife who is thinking of a divorce, etc. The book is, besides being so gay, quite unbelievably modern, although so often the author shows up in a satiric way on how nice and exact a balance the happiness of eating depends. Nevertheless, to him eating is a grand affair, and he says that the learned of all ages have not been incurious about it, which can be proven. He states that Homer's heroes all were cooks, and probably that can be proved also, and he knew that "There was a Prince of Lubberland,

A potentate of high command;
Ten thousand bakers did attend him,
Ten thousand brewers did befriend him——"

so it was no wonder that pies and cakes and little roast pigs hung on trees in that land crying to be eaten, as some others have told us in describing the land of Cockcayne.

The Origin of Pie.

This poem contains many a saying about pie, and descriptions of several kinds, including those with live contents which could fly out or step out when the pie was opened, and the fact that "a widow has cold pye." Those who think apple pie is a purely American concoction, listen:

"Trotter from quince and apples first did frame
A pye that still retains his name,
And butter'd right its goodness is allowed."

And this about what a pie should be, which we may interpret as deep:

"Unless some sweetness at the bottom lye,
Who cares for all the crinkling of a pye?"

How to Please with Food.

Dr. King lays down many a rather sound principle about food which he believes should be pleasing, and mentions how great is the cook's task:

"But now the cook must pass thro' all degrees,
And by his art discordant tempers please,
And minister to health and to disease."

And then

"When the market sends in loads of food
They all are tasteless till that makes them good;
Besides 'tis no ignoble piece of care
To know for whom it is you would prepare:
You please a friend, or reconcile a brother,
A testy father, or a haughty mother:
You'd mollifie a judge, wou'd cram a squire,
Or else some smiles from court you may desire."

"The things we eat by various juice control,
The narrowness of largeness of our soul;
Onions will make ev'n heirs or widows weep,
The tender lettice brings on softer sleep;
Eat beef or pye crust if you'd serious be,

. . . . . .

For nature that inclines to ill or good,
Still nourishes our passions by our food.

Many a man at variance with his wife

. . . . .

Tastes From a Quaint Book.

Dr. King would have foods fit and few and dainty, the kitchen properly placed, and "cruel offices be done at night." And then

"'Tis the dessert that graces all the feast,
For an ill end disparages the rest:
A thousand things well done, and one forgot,
Defaces obligation by that blot;
Make your transparent sweetmeats truly nice,
With Indian sugar and Arabian spice:
And let your various creams incircled be
With swelling fruit just ravish'd from the tree;
Let plates and dishes be from China brought . . ."

Note: Have you got a taste of this lovely book? Too bad you cannot feast on its endless curiosities.

A Variety of Table Schemes Is Open to All

New Effects Possible from Old Things.

BY SALLY LUNN.

The clever hostess is constantly evolving new and different ideas for table decoration, as well as for the other details of her household. No matter how handsome her table appointments are, she realizes that seeing them time after time will prove monotonous to guests.

That's all very well, you say, for the woman whose budget is elastic enough to keep pace with her new fancies, but it's impossible to do that without unlimited funds. It's perfectly true that it takes means to purchase new things continually, but that's not my notion of being clever. And I don't think it's necessary to buy all new things in order to give variety to your table adornment. Few people appreciate the possibilities in combining old things to make new effects, nor do they realize how easy it is to achieve a novel effect by changing one or two features of an oft used arrangement.

Renovating Old Things.

If you're the kind of housekeeper who personally superintends the housecleaning process, and if you do some of the repainting and refurbishing yourself, you're probably all in the spirit of doing things over at this season and would like a few ideas as to what to do to the table scheme. Of course, you can't re-do glass and china, but how about changing the linen? If you're handy at dyeing, you can bring old white damask cloths, luncheon sets, doilies and napkins up to date by dipping them. It isn't much of a trick, and most of the commercial dyes are packaged with complete instructions so that you can't fail.

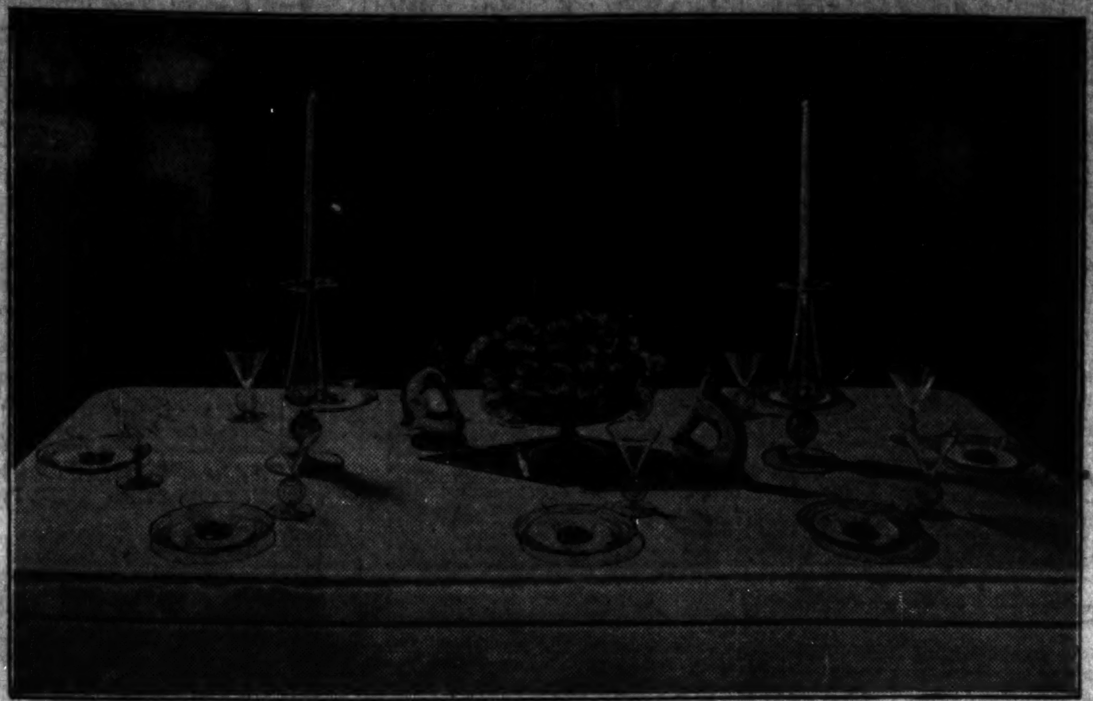
I should always be careful not to make the solution too strong, because, although a too deep color can be boiled out, it is hard on the linen to have to go through the process. The Madeira doilies and tea napkins that were more popular a few years ago than they are now dye most satisfactorily.

Try for the Unusual.

In choosing a color, bear in mind the color of your glass and china and select one that will fit into the greatest number of color combinations. All of the pastel colors will combine prettily with any other color or colors, but you will feel a little more proud of your effort if you achieve an unusual scheme than if you adopt an obvious one. For example, if you have amethyst glass goblets and, say, Wedgwood plates with the lavender design, a pale lavender or orchid cloth or doilies will be very pretty, but that is the obvious combination, and one a little more unusual, such as turquoise blue for the linen, would make an even more pleasing picture.

With a little experimentation in the dyeing line you can create lovely tints by combining dyes. Suppose your glassware is amber and you choose a shade of peach or apricot for the linen. Try putting a little brown dye in with the main color to get a unique color effect. Don't experiment with the linen itself, as dyes are tricky, but use a sample of a similar kind of material.

TABLE OF UNUSUAL CHARM



An unusual color scheme and modern Venetian glass make this table one to be remembered. The glassware is pale amber with midnight blue rims, and the linen and silken cloth is ivory. The diamond shaped table mirror is dark blue, as are the candles, and the ruddy orange of the calendulas makes a glowing center to the ensemble.

All About the Radish Racket! A Scarlet Tale

"Shipped In" Product Is Sold by Roadside.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

It's radish bunching time in the truck gardening land around Chicago. Freshly painted roadside stands are open. The scrap has started between growers and nongrowers who sell vegetables over counters along the highways leading into the city.

If consumers know what garden products are mature and ready to be harvested they are able to buy several kinds of home grown quality products that have only been out of the field a few hours. Here and there along the roadside venders are also out with boxes, barrels and benches covered with "home grown" vegetables that are often a long way from home. Too often these vegetables are wilted crops brought to the central market from southern gardens and picked up for a song at the downtown market the day before. In a withered condition they are taken out to be sold as products freshly harvested from the fields near the local roadside stands.

Wise Shoppers Protected.

Wise highway shoppers are protected if they happen to know that there are relatively few vegetables ready for the market this early in gardens near Chicago. At the present time they are limited chiefly to radishes, rhubarb, asparagus, spinach, onions, and parsley.

Reliable growers, who are limiting their roadside sales to home grown products freshly pulled from the gardens, advise consumers that it is too early to ask for such garden products as tomatoes, sweet corn, green peas, green beans, carrots, bunch beets, cabbage, peppers, eggplant, and green cucumbers. Several of these products are offered for sale at roadside stands but they are not from local gardens; they have been shipped here from gardens where vegetables have a chance to mature much earlier than they do in this locality, according to truckers.

Operators of roadside stands who grow and sell their own vegetables direct to consumers realize that they must compete with the high grade products that are shipped here in a fresh condition from southern gardens and sold by established green grocers in the city and suburbs. In order to compete with southern gardeners many of them are growing high grade varieties such as those raised in the small home garden where the first essential is quality.

Only Half Dozen Ready.

Fred Bestman, a truck farmer who sells practically all of his vegetables over a counter at the front gate of his Ballard road farm near Des Plaines, Ill., one and a half miles west of Milwaukee avenue, is one of the earliest producers in the Chicago area, and he is only able to offer about half a dozen different kinds of vegetables. He opened his stand about three weeks ago with asparagus tips, green onions, radishes and rhubarb.

Mr. Bestman says that years ago, before fresh vegetables were available to city people the year around, local gardeners could sell their earliest crops at almost any reasonable price. Today the products must not only be of the highest quality but as low or lower in price than they can be bought for in the city.

Below are prices asked for early vegetables now being sold by Mr. Bestman. They are typical of the prices asked by other growers. He is selling scarlet globe radishes, 30 in a bunch, at 3 bunches for 10 cents; Spanish green onions, 14 in a bunch, 5 cents a bunch; strawberry variety of rhubarb, 14 stalks, 5 cents.

Mrs. Morris charged cruelty and won a $25,000 cash settlement and the return of her maiden name, Iona Carlson. The Morrises were married on June 11, 1923, and separated in February of this year.

BAKED to a mealy tender brown

There's delight in every mouthful of Heinz Oven-Baked Beans! So delicious, these little tender beans, oven-baked to a mealy brown, and covered with a piquant sauce made from freshly gathered tomatoes.

What zestful flavor . . . and it's the oven-baking that does it. And remember, beans are not baked unless the label says so. Heinz beans are oven-baked—and the label says so . . . another evidence of Heinz quality.

And how reasonable the price is for this quality . . . a quality you will find as well in Heinz Rice Flakes, Heinz Mustard, Heinz Cooked Spaghetti, Heinz Vinegars, or any of the famous 57.

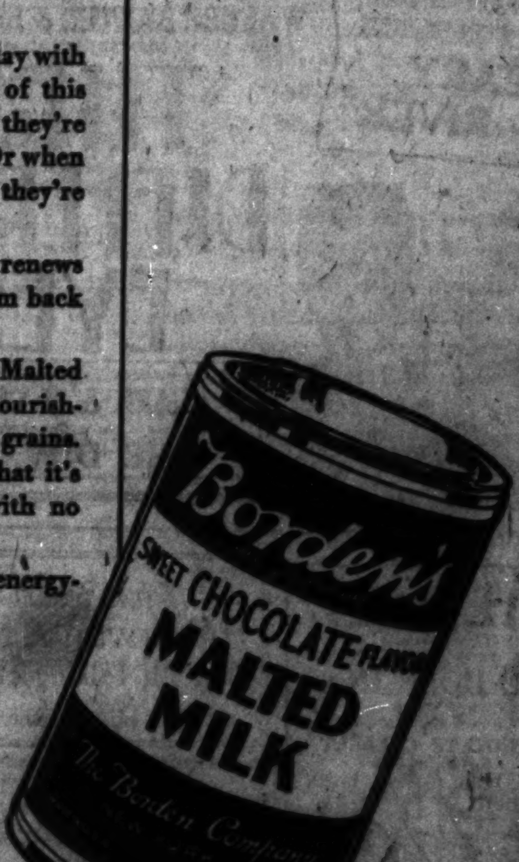
When your children come in from play with a healthy fatigue, mix a tall glass of this extra-energy food drink. When they're drooping listlessly from the heat. Or when they complain between meals that they're hungry.

And just see how wonderfully it renews them in no time at all—brings them back to par!

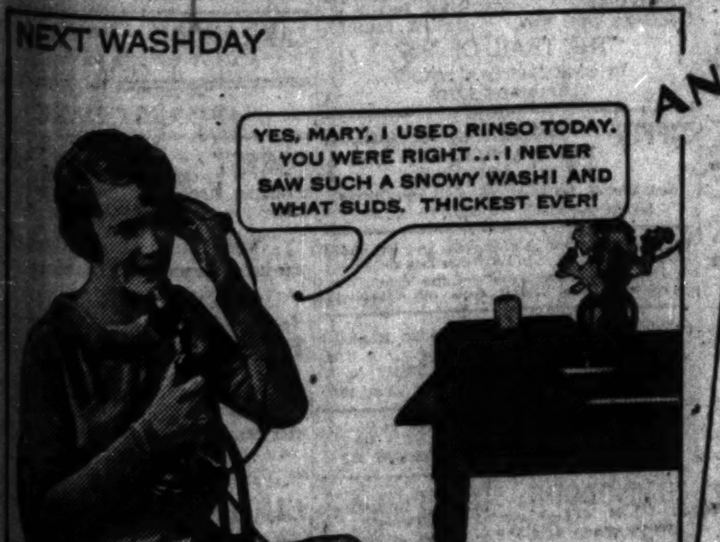
The secret is that Borden's Chocolate Malted Milk is brimming with the healthful nourishment of full-cream milk and choice grains. But in such a light digestible form that it's transformed into energy at once with no tax on little digestions.

It's an energy-making food for energy-spending children.

Modern doctors encourage mothers to give children chocolate malted milk. "It's what growing young bodies need," they say, "to replace quickly the valuable energy that is being burned up all day long." Another important point—it doesn't overtax youthful digestions.



DID YOU KNOW THERE'S A NEW LAUNDRY SOAP THAT SOAKS CLOTHES WHITER THAN THEY CAN BE SCRUBBED?
WHY, MARY, THAT SOUNDS IMPOSSIBLE!
IT'S TRUE! THIS GRANULATED SOAP SAVES SCRUBBING AND BOILING
Rinso
HOW THAT MUST SAVE THE CLOTHES! I'LL TRY IT NEXT WASHDAY



NEXT WASHDAY
YES, MARY, I USED RINSO TODAY. YOU WERE RIGHT . . . I NEVER SAW SUCH A SNOWY WASH! AND WHAT SUDS. THICKEST EVER!

(Thousands write us letters like this)

AND "Rinso is really economical" says Mrs. B. McCarthy of Malden

"Talk about white! Those creamy Rinso suds work magic. The clothes are much whiter now than when I used to scrub and boil them!

"After a good soaking the clothes are so sweet and clean, I never use my washboard any more."

MRS. B. McCARTHY
7 Townsend St., Malden, Mass.

Rinso saves the clothes because it gently soaks out the dirt. There's no scrubbing or boiling. Cupful for cupful, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps . . . because it's granulated, compact. And such creamy suds! Recommended by the makers of 36 washers.

Try Rinso Free

To try Rinso free send your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. N5, Cambridge, Mass. A full-size package will be sent you without cost.

Calls Sectarian College Junior to Big State, Other Universities

Many parents are unwilling for their children to go directly from high school into a big state university, and choose a church school for the first two years, it was said yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Baptist educators after the session of the board of education of the Northern Baptist convention at the Stevens hotel. The formal session of the board, presided over by Dr. Clarence A. Barbour of Rochester, N. Y., and president elect of Brown university, Providence, R. I., was closed to newspaper men.

"We have to recognize it, whether we like to or not," one eastern college president declared. "The tendency is growing to fill our schools for the first two years and slump off for the last two, when students seek specialized work in bigger universities. If we face the situation squarely we cannot help but know that our field is primarily one of the junior college, a fertile field, by the way, for training in formative years."

Miss Mildred Davidson of Chicago was reëlected yesterday as field secretary of the Baptist guild and of the crusade, and Miss Frances P. Greenough of Evanston was renamed as student secretary. Dr. Barbour was renamed chairman of the board of managers. Dr. Emory W. Hunt of Lewisburg, Pa., was made vice chairman; Dr. Frank W. Padelford of New York, executive secretary; Dr. George R. Baker of New York, assistant secretary; Dr. Allyn K. Foster, New York, student secretary; Dr. William A. Hill, New York, secretary of missionary education; Miss May Huston of New York, her assistant; the Rev. Floyd L. Carr of New York, field secretary. Miss Jean Dayton, secretary of the Laymen's league, will replace Mrs. Katherine Condon Foster of New York as student secretary.

Dermatologists tell us that many serious cases of dandruff and falling hair could have been prevented by simple, early treatments.

If you have any evidence of dandruff, go after it with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic. It has checked this humiliating condition for tens of thousands. You simply douse it on full strength and massage the scalp vigorously. Don't expect results over night. Keep it up systematically. Within ten days you ought to see a real improvement.

Listerine checks dandruff because dandruff is a germ condition, and full strength Listerine is powerful against germs,—destroys even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and also kills 200,000,000 of the Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds. Yet it is entirely safe to use, and actually soothing in effect. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—President and Mrs. Hoover are pursuing a campaign of dinner-giving more actively than any other President and first lady. They seldom dine or lunch alone. Their dinner parties are frequently impromptu, and invitations have been known to be given by telephone in the morning for dinner the same evening with as many as twenty guests.

Last night they had not only a young people's dinner, but a dinner to the California delegation in congress at the same time, at different tables, the young people's table being laid in the private dining room, sometimes called the breakfast room, adjoining the state dining room.

This afternoon Mrs. Hoover attended the tennis matches played on the Chevy Chase courts between the Davis cup teams, the finals to be played later this summer in France, where the Davis cup is now held.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann was the guest of honor at luncheon today given by Mrs. Wade H. Ellis at Gray's Hill Inn near Fort Humphreys, Va. It is an historic old place, that was the home of one of Gen. Washington's aides, and once a part of the original estate of Mount Vernon.

Hats Are Powerful Agents of Beauty, Or—the Other Thing

by

Out of the mouths of babes come painful moments for hostess Mammas. Mrs. J's 5 year old opened the door for an afternoon tea guest. She forgot to invite the guest in in her haste to inform Mamma and the already assembled guests that Mrs. J. had a com-i-kull hat on. "AW-fully com-i-kull," she repeated.

And the hat was all of that. One of those "sou'westers" with the brim dipping shoulder length in the back, a conspicuous feature of the season's millinery output. We understand the original was constructed for the benefit of women in the growing pain stage between short and long hair.

Maybe it isn't fair to encroach upon woman's liberty in connection with her bonnets. No other article of her apparel, I believe, is a matter of such purely personal sensitiveness. I know of a perfectly good romance splitting up one evening when the incongruous affair on a girl's head sent the man into a spasm of laughter. She couldn't forgive him for the unseemly mirth over a $32 expenditure.

But can anything add years or take them off a woman like an unbecoming or a becoming hat? I used the word unbecoming when badly chosen would be better. Far more than a frock or jewelry or cosmetics, a hat may flatter. And more than the same things, it may damage one's actual physical charm as well as one's smartness.

It is one the point of smartness, though, that many women make their worst hat mistakes. The visiting guest cited above bought the sou'wester because she was told it was smart. Other women have forsaken the flattering bit of brim for the abrupt and harsh forehead line because this type of hat was numbered among the season's smartest. The point is that becomingness of a hat is smarter than just millinery smartness, although both may be combined, as evidenced in the flatteringly hatted you see on all sides.

A bad hat does such unkind things to the face and, of course, it is the face we are interested in. You and I, both, have chapeaux in our closet that we ought to throw away for the wrongs they commit upon us. Hardness, dulling the eyes, sallowing the complexion, to say nothing of dampening the spirits, are a few of the crimes they may be charged with.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MARY S.: IN EXAGGERATED cases of blackheads, steaming the face is advised. First cleanse with a cold cream. Have two towels ready for the steaming. Apply them alternately after wringing out in hot water. Then remove as many blackheads as you can. Wipe with peroxide or alcohol. Then apply cold water and finish with an ice rub.

K. J.: A HOT BATH LASTING just a few minutes or a hot foot bath is found restful when one is fatigued, but the tepid bath is the most restful of all because of the nervous relaxation induced. They all often induce sleep as well.

1,500 HOUSES ARE FOUND UNFIT FOR LIVING QUARTERS

Kegel Gets Report on Conditions.

A list of 1,500 houses in Chicago unfit for habitation was submitted to Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel yesterday as the first result of a campaign to obtain better housing conditions for the poor and to rid the city of its tenements. Many of the houses are past the stage where they can be repaired, the report stated, and should be demolished. Others can be occupied if rehabilitated.

Despite the deplorable conditions in which the investigators found many of these shacks nearly one-half of them are occupied by families, the report shows. Those that are not occupied are used by hoodlums for a rendezvous and are breeding places of crime.

Show Deplorable Conditions.

The reports to Dr. Kegel were made after a careful investigation by employés of the department of public welfare. They show that the 1,500 houses listed are in various stages of decay and are a menace not only to the occupants but to the community. Sagging walls, leaky plumbing, persons living in basements and under sidewalks are related in the report.

The next move in the campaign, according to Dr. Kegel, will be to have four other agencies inspect the houses on the list and submit a report. They will be three city departments, fire, health, and building, and the Urban league. With five opinions on the desirability of wrecking these shacks, Dr. Kegel said he would feel that there was sufficient backing to the program to demolish them without consent from the owners or other interested parties.

Seen as Boon to Health.

"This campaign will not only eliminate these unsightly places," said Dr. Kegel, "but it will be a step forward in controlling tuberculosis, the conditions which contribute to defects in children, and overcrowding, which results in crime. If any owner or organization tries to stop this program, an opinion in writing will be asked and their reasons made public."

As an example of the conditions found by the inspectors, the commissioner read the report on a building at 1063 West Damon street. The notations were "half wrecked, dangerous, 50 per cent decay, firemen called there seven times in one day, owner said to be unwilling to pay $75 to have it torn down."

Admits Theft to Feed Family; Gets Job Back

Upon his confession to Otto Schnering, president of the Curtis Candy company, 622 Diversey parkway, that he had stolen $135 from the company to keep his wife and three year old baby from suffering, James J. Daly, 32 years old, 2827 Abbott court, was yesterday told by Mr. Schering that he would be returned to the position from which he had been discharged and his family made comfortable. Daly was arrested by Sheffield avenue police who were assigned to the case.

FORMER KAISER'S GRANDSONFORCED TO LEAVE U. S.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 23.—(AP)—"Family interference" with his Hollywood romance has induced Prince Louis Ferdinand of Prussia, grandson of the former kaiser, to give up his work at the Ford Motor company assembly plant here and leave the country. He admitted this as he boarded a train tonight for New York, en route to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

For nearly a month the prince had worked in overalls incognito at the factory as a student laborer. He explained he had been forced by his parents to give up the idea of laboring in a German factory, but expressed keen interest in American laborers and delight at being allowed to work on the machinery. He came to California about a month ago.

The young second son of the former crown prince said he had been transferred to South America upon the request of his family and the authority of Henry Ford. He is to work in the Argentine branch of the Ford company.

Louis Ferdinand, as his name appeared on the company pay roll, has been seen here frequently in the company of a Hollywood film actress, a European whom he met before coming to the United States.

BETTER FREIGHT TERMINALS ASKED TO AID TRAFFIC

Valuable industrial property now covered by railroad tracks could be put to other uses and congestion in street traffic relieved by the erection of additional union freight stations, such as that to be embodied in the new Merchandise mart, James P. Haynes, executive vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday. He advocated also the expansion of the underground freight tunnel system as a means of taking many trucks off the streets.

"One of the biggest factors in our street and transportation problems today," said Mr. Haynes, "is the need for routing trucks all over the city to connect with freight cars at the various shipping stations. Material progress can be made, however, by modernizing freight house facilities through coördination of terminal consolidation.

"Chicago is the only city in the world with an underground freight service. It is unique as well as efficient."

Pick Winners in Zone 7 of County Health Contest

Two 12 year old pupils, Nellie Bellstedt of the eighth grade class in the Thornton school, and Kenneth Stromberger of the seventh grade in the Lansing school, were adjudged the healthiest school children in division 7 of the Cook county school system yesterday in the Glenwood forest preserve. Nellie and Kenneth, who each scored 98 points, will compete with the winners in other divisions in the office of Supt. Edward J. Tobin on June 8 for the title of the healthiest boy and girl in the county.

100,000 CENSUS JOBS ARE CALLED PORK FOR G. O. P.

Senator Wagner Asks Civil Service.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—[Special.]—Proposals to include the army of enumerators and other officials who will take the 1930 census within the civil service led to a lively tilt in the senate today between Senator T. E. Burton [Rep., O.] and Senator Robert Wagner [Dem., N. Y.].

The New York senator, sponsor of an amendment to the pending census-reapportionment bill to require the appointment of census takers from merit system eligible lists, declared the measure in its present form, authorizing the temporary appointment of more than 100,000 employés for periods ranging from three months to three years, is "a Republicans patronage pork barrel proposition."

"It is unbelievable," declared Senator Wagner, "that having made the merit system a part of our government, that such legislation should be proposed."

Burton Warns of Chaos.

Senator Burton warned the senate that provisions compelling the selecting of canvassers by competitive examination would "cause indescribable confusion, without adding any assurance of accuracy or insuring against farud or corruption."

"It is essential," declared Senator Burton, "that the census takers must live in the districts they are assigned to canvass. They should have the feeling of responsibility to their supervisor that follows when that supervisor has been instrumental in their appointment. As a matter of fact, there are about 75,000 persons now on the civil service eligible lists. These people were examined for a wide variety of positions, and in view of the comparatively small salaries paid and the temporary nature of the work they could not be induced to become enumerators."

Will Modify Amendment.

During the debate Senator Wagner agreed to modify his amendment, which will be voted on tomorrow, in accordance with suggestions of Senators W. H. King [Dem., Utah] and H. F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.].

Senator King suggested that the amendment provide specifically against the possibility that the enumerators would be shifted to other pay rolls when the census taking was completed and Senator Ashurst proposed that ex-soldiers be given preference in census appointments.

MERCHANDISE MART TO HOUSE FIVE N. B. C. BROADCAST STUDIOS

The most elaborate arrangement of broadcasting studios in Chicago is planned for the top floor of the new Merchandise Mart now being constructed on the north bank of the Chicago river between Wells and Franklin streets. The studios will be operated by the National Broadcasting company and programs originating in them will be available to the company's nation-wide chain of stations.

According to officials of the broadcasting company, it is planned to have a group of five sound-proof studios so arranged that while a soloist or an instrumental group is giving a program in one of them a whole brass band or a chorus of a hundred or more voices can be accommodated in another, ready to go on the air as soon as the soloist has finished.

The National Broadcasting company has no station of its own in Chicago, its programs being heard by local fans through a number of different stations, including W-G-N, the THE TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. This plan, it is understood, will be continued.

3 Children Vanish from Home in Parents' Absence

Police last night were searching for the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stanfa, 4019 Kilbourn avenue, who disappeared from their home during their parents' absence yesterday. The children, John, Mamie, and Joseph, 13, 12, and 8 years old, respectively, were last seen by their mother yesterday morning when she prepared their school lunches before going to work. The children did not arrive at school. The clothes which they had worn in the morning were found at the house and their new clothes were gone. A neighbor boy told police that he had seen an automobile parked in front of the Stanfa house in the morning.

FUND COMPLETED FOR INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL OF ART

Col. William Nelson Pelouze, president of the Association of Arts and Industries, yesterday announced the completion of a fund to establish an industrial art school in the Art institute. The association raised $260,000 by subscription and will receive $100,000 more from the Laura Spellman fund of the Rockefeller foundation.

Alterations will be started immediately on an east wing of the institute building, Col. Pelouze said, and classes in printing, architectural modeling and furniture design will be opened in the fall. The industrial art school will be administered by an advisory board composed of the directorate of the institute and of the Association of Arts and Industries.

A dinner will be given Tuesday evening in the Palmer house to celebrate the launching of the new school.

JACOB DICKINSON ESTATE'S VALUE FIXED AS $356,000

An inventory of the estate of Jacob M. Dickinson, who was secretary of war under President Taft, was filed yesterday before Leon Edelman, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. It lists assets estimated at $356,000. Mr. Dickinson, a civil war veteran, died on Dec. 13 of pneumonia at the age of 78 years. He had resided at 31 East Elm street.

With the exception of a $20,000 checking account, the estate consists entirely of bonds. Commercial bonds totaled $188,500, utility bonds $61,000 and railroad bonds $106,000.

Mr. Dickinson's will left one-third of his estate to his son, Jacob Jr., and the remaining two-thirds to his other son, Henry, and the latter's wife and two daughters. Several minor bequests were made to institutions in Nashville, Tenn., where the Dickinsons lived for several generations before coming to Chicago in 1899.

Physical Oddities of Children Should Not Be Discussed

Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

He was rather short for his age, the boy of 13, and how he did hate being so. The cousins in the family being tall, somebody was always saying something about it.

I know several girls and boys who are too fat. Do you think any one ever lets them forget it?

Doesn't it make you wince when you see a sensitive child put on the rack through the insensitiveness of older people? I don't like to think of all the boys and girls whose childhood has been made wretched by the constant comments upon some point of difference or deviation from the normal, physically.

Though they may never speak of it, some children suffer tortures from some peculiarity of teeth, or height, or thinness, or fatness. They are sensitively aware of their defects without any one discussing them. Why, then, are people so cruelly careless as to add to this unhappiness?

Happily, there are some children who don't worry about their looks. If they're too tall or too short, too fat or too thin, have too long a nose or too short—it's all the same to them. Even so, it's just as well not to dwell upon their peculiarity. And certainly with the other type of children it is very bad. Their little point of differentness comes to have undue importance to them. They worry, even brood, over it. It frequently destroys their confidence in themselves and gives them a feeling of inferiority. Whereas if it goes unnoticed by others it may eventually lose importance to the child. This is the result we want. The less a person thinks of his defects, the less the world thinks of them. Almost anything that you ignore, other people will.

This holds true of all the fine or beautiful physical attributes of a child, too. If a little girl has lovely hair or a boy handsome eyes, it's better not to talk about them. The main thing is to preserve a child's unconsciousness.

This is not simple to accomplish. Relatives will talk about how John has his father's brown eyes, or his mother's straight back, or how Mary has her grandmother's firm chin or her aunt's broad forehead. That you can't entirely prevent. And also, what other children may say can't be governed very much. We all know what they say even in their pleasantest moments—it's "Spider" and "Red" and "Fatty" and "Shorty," etc., not to mention what they do in real derision.

But aside from the two sorts of things mentioned, parents can control the conversation to a great extent by not ever beginning any discussion of a child's peculiarity before him. Also, if any one else begins it, by letting it drop, or by changing the subject. If you know people at all well, you can sometimes tell them, aside and quite frankly, not to discuss the matter.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Baked Tomatoes.

There are at least fifty wa[illegible] bake them [illegible] baking tomatoes. Stuff them [illegible] halves. Until plain, whole or cut [illegible] shall still be getting autumn comes [illegible] are not quite ripe tomatoes [illegible] serve raw in a salad unenough [illegible] keep them until they ripen, [illegible] These may be just right for baking or best for this purpose because they hold their shape and have a pleasant acid flavor. They are an excellent garnish for almost any meat and are pleasanter in a vegetable plate than are so-called scalloped tomatoes.

Just a plain family way of baking tomatoes is to cut them in halves, put them in a deep baking dish with seasoning, and sprinkle them with either a grated vegetable or bread crumbs and a few drops of melted butter. These will bake in a moderate oven in twenty minutes or at least in one-half hour. In fact, they need hardly more than be well heated through and the oven must not be too hot. If they are baked whole it is customary after washing and wiping them to gash them once or twice across the blossom end.

In baking the halves of tomato for quite elegant service we may prepare the following standard seasoning. By "standard" is meant one that may be used for seasoning the tomato, or seasoning a stuffing, or one that may be used in a meat sauce. To make this dressing gently saute or fry one medium sized chopped onion in one tablespoon of good fat. We always recommend salt pork fat as the most excellent for this. When the onion is soft add four tablespoons of chopped mushrooms, cook them gently until they have dried a bit and add a little salt and pepper and a grate or two of nutmeg. Cut large tomatoes in half, sprinkle with some of this preparation, and bake them until tender. This seasoning can be made and will keep for several days. It is an excellent way to use up any left-over mushrooms.

Another way of baking tomatoes which we have recommended for the small family or even for one is to wash the tomato, take out the stem end, put it into a custard cup, and bake.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Jimmy and Dannie, little cousins, 5 years old, sat at grandma's birthday dinner when Jimmy discovered they were the only males present.

He leaned over to Dannie and whispered quietly, "Say, Dan, don't you wisht there was some more men at this table 'sides us two."

Six year old Susan usually dropped off to sleep as soon as her head touched the pillow. One night she was annoyed by her two younger brothers romping on the bed and rumpling up the covers.

She asked them to stop and then said, "Now, mamma, I know how you feel when I am naughty." L. H.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

There are decidedly clever, straight lines in this dress with a plaited inset at the left side front which softens and lengthens the silhouette. This inset offers excellent opportunity for contrast in color and fabric. The collar gives the effect of an irregular neckline, fastened at the side with novelty buttons, which appear again in the overlap of the skirt, that secures a flat hipline.

The pattern, 2610, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 40 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 40 inch contrasting, and a leather belt.

Woman Who Set a High Value Upon Herself Was Repaid

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The discussion hovered around the recent marriage of a young woman with what the majority decreed not-out-of-the-ordinary assets. She married well, not only in the usual financial aspect of the phrase, but she married a most worthwhile young man.

"How did she do it?" Those propounding the query were arrested by the remark of one world-wise person present. "That," she said, "is the reward of a woman setting a high value on herself. I know Jane well. And so long as I've known her she has evaluated herself well, and, what's more, she has lived up to that evaluation."

A Frenchman, Claude Anet, philosopher on the heart and its manifold workings, says: 'A woman sets her own price. Her wisest course is to set it as high as possible, if only to flatter men's vanity—'See what I am giving you, and realize what a tremendous victory you have won.'"

We like the word value better than price. But it can well be substituted in the wise Frenchman's remark and serve victorious marriage quite as well with the counsel to set your value as high as possible that man's vanity may be flattered.

I have known women, like Jane of the discussion, whose exterior assets were seemingly commonplace. But like her, they set such a value upon their heads thta they've not only conquered men but held them in thrall of a lifetime. Other women, less gifted with a sense of their own personal value or women who have lowered their rating by giving bargain sales of their favors, if we may so put it, marvel at the success of their rival.

It's simple when you get the man's point of view, as offered by the Frenchman. Victories are won through the flattery of man's vanity. There's a sober thought in this for the young women who take to the road of promiscuity for popularity's sake. What victorious triumph do you think a man feels after an easy conquest? None whatever. What urge of conquest is there where conquest already has been made? What sop to male vanity to simply collect lures without having to earn them or fight for them?

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

It Takes Courage.

"Dear Miss Blake: A nice fellow asked to take me out, and I refused. He has never asked for a date again. Please advise. "PUZZLED."

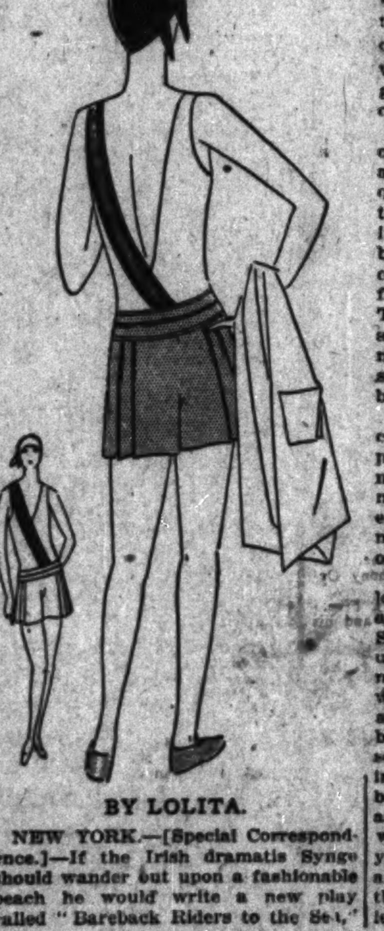
It takes courage to ask for another date after a refusal, Puzzled.

Find a Younger One.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 17 and go with a fellow of 24. Is he too old? "FRANKIE."

Yes. With younger boys there will be common interests which tend to make more agreeable companionships.

Bathing Suits Are Really Sun Suits



BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—If the Irish dramatis Synge should wander out upon a fashionable beach he would write a new play called "Bareback Riders to the Sea," for the decolletage of the present day bathing suit is becoming more extreme by the hour. The costume is often practically backless to conform with the rage for sunburn which has gradually involved the entire anatomy.

For example, we are showing today one version of these short and simple annals of the poor bather. About a quarter of a yard of fabric would seem to be enough to fashion this delightful little model. Brown jersey makes its brief appearance in the shorts and orange jersey—you can see it in the front, anyway—develops the tunic. The trimming is brown and orange and the accompanying coat, for which my old fashioned heart yields up a sigh of thanksgiving, is made of brown jersey.

Indeed, it is small wonder that the coolie beach coat is again coming into prominence. These backward bathers must have a little protection when not actually submerged. A charming example is developed in cotton crêpe modernistically printed in great arcs of rainbow colors.

However, if you don't wish to follow the sunback mode you won't be actually snubbed by Dame Fashion. She still looks with a tolerant eye upon the high cut bathing tunic. It must be smart of line, of course, and worn with shorts. One brave example of conservatism combines a black jersey skirt with a white jersey top inset with tabs stitched down in bright colors to match the colored bands about the waist. Still more unassuming are the plain black suits in washable crêpe with narrow inset yokes and belts. These, one must add, are the most slenderizing as well as the most practical among the new collections.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Fatal Slip.

My brother's wife died and in a short time he married again. They were coming for a visit. I was so pleased [but thought I would miss his wife so much]. But I hoped I would like his new bride.

Then I thought I must be careful not to mention his former wife. What did I do, however, at the first meal, in asking which she would rather have, tea or coffee but call her by his first wif's name. J. M. M.

A Large Audience.

Walking into an office where there were about 100 men assembled, I stepped up to my brother-in-law and pinched his ear. A perfectly strange man turned around and looked up at me.

I could only say, "Pardon me," and turned to discover that the whole office force was having a good laugh at my expense. I dropped into a chair and hid my face, too embarrassed even to run away. J. M. G.

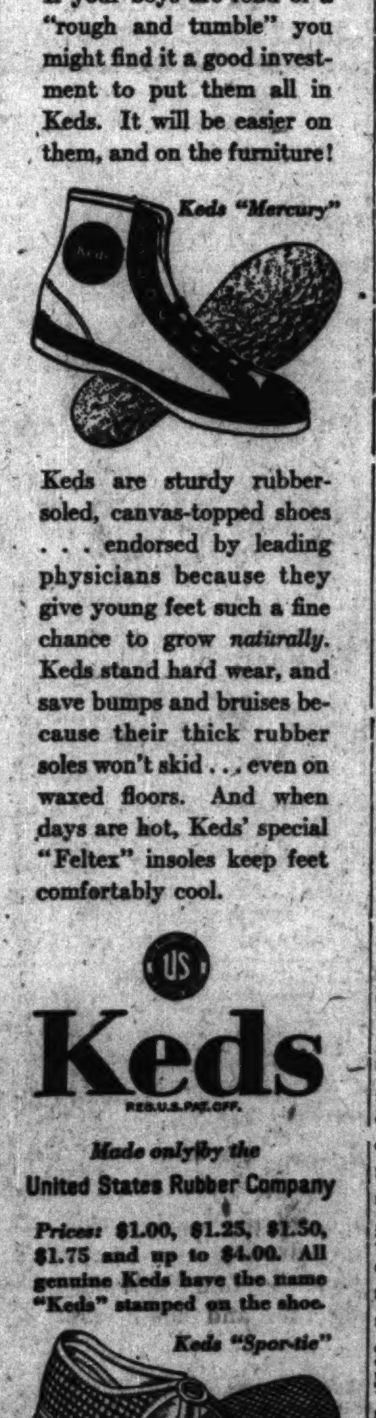
A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Needs Electric Fan.

"I am an elderly woman suffering with high blood pressure. My window is open day and night all winter, and, looking ahead, I see that the coming summer will be a hard one for me. It would help me much to have an electric fan, but I cannot afford to buy one. Has one of your readers one to give? M. R."

With her illness, the summer is sure to be a most uncomfortable time for this elderly woman.



To Mrs. Joseph Zenk and sons

If your boys are fond of a "rough and tumble" you might find it a good investment to put them all in Keds. It will be easier on them, and on the furniture!

Keds "Mercury"

Keds are sturdy rubber-soled, canvas-topped shoes . . . endorsed by leading physicians because they give young feet such a fine chance to grow naturally. Keds stand hard wear, and save bumps and bruises because their thick rubber soles won't skid . . . even on waxed floors. And when days are hot, Keds' special "Feltex" insoles keep feet comfortably cool.

US

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Made only by the United States Rubber Company

Prices: $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and up to $4.00. All genuine Keds have the name "Keds" stamped on the shoe.

A A A 1 OPPORTUNITY

Is offered to energetic men, who live on West or Northwest sides, who want real income and who believe in themselves.

The work of selling automobiles is changing, more and more able men are sensing the fact that the amount of real effort they put into their present work will produce a substantial income in the automotive industry.

Most of our highest paid salesmen gave up routine work and started green.

Automobile experience is not necessary. If you can convince yourself that you have the ability in any line and if you will apply that ability selling the kind of cars the people want to buy—then you are qualified to make big money right away—with no loss of time.

The heavy buying season is about to begin. We want earnest, conscientious men, preferably ones that are now successfully employed.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

When President Hoover was Secretary of Commerce he conceived the idea that it would be possible for some institution to make second mortgage loans on the more modest type of home at a very much lower rate than was then being charged on such financing.

Mr. Hoover took the matter up with Mr. Rosenwald, knowing that Mr. Rosenwald, too, is always interested in the welfare of our citizens and particularly the home owner. Mr. Rosenwald, having been one of the moving factors which was responsible for the organization of The Chicago Morris Plan Bank, turned to Mr. Walling, President of The Chicago Morris Plan Bank, and suggested that if the funds were made available would not The Chicago Morris Plan Bank be the logical organization through which to work out the problem suggested by Mr. Hoover and relieve the burden of excessive costs on the modest home owner of Chicago at least.

There is no institution in this city which has a more sympathetic understanding of the intimate family problems than The Chicago Morris Plan Bank. There is no institution in this city which takes greater delight in tackling any job, no matter how hard, if it is going to help Chicago families to get ahead.

Consequently it gave Mr. Walling, President of The Chicago Morris Plan bank, great delight in undertaking to prove President Hoover's contention that second mortgage rates were too high.

So that is the way we happened to be interested in second mortgages.

For Mr. Rosenwald placed at the disposal of a group of men who are directors of The Chicago Morris Plan Bank a fund of $1,000,000, to be used in this enterprise. The original rates which we charged were from 40% to 60% lower than the rates charged by other in Chicago, but we found that the rates could be even lower, and they have been reduced three times. Today they are 6% accruing interest and a commission of:

$35.00 per $1,000 for 1 year
$65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years
$90.00 per $1,000 for 3 years

It is obvious that any thoughtful thrifty home owner in this community who desires second mortgage financing will find our plan well conceived and scientifically constructed. He will also find that our rates are unquestionably the lowest rates in Chicago.

We will be delighted to have you place your problem before us.

AUTOMOBILES—GASOLINE.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS! BARGAINS!

Every car is backed by the famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge that guarantees 5 days' free driving trial.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM—Late big 6 [illegible] originally sold for close to $3,000. [illegible] driven Sundays and evenings for pleasure. Now it is absolutely like brand new. Equipped with snubbers, driving light, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The expensive upholstery appears unused. Tires have little mileage. The motor was carefully gone over and it is in top-notch condition. The car carries a five day free driving trial and it will not remain long at $585.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN — This late 7-[illegible] car is priced hundreds of dollars under the real market price; formerly owned by a Lake Forest sportsman, who gave it expert attention. It's equipped with 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, heater, spare tire, etc. Finished a handsome color. The motor is just broken in. This is a sensational value at $495.

AUBURN SEDAN—Late model 6 that was [illegible] owned by an actor, who only used it for a short time. It's a beauty. Equipped with 4-wheel brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. This car was taken in on consignment and when it is sold the owner will take out a new Studebaker President. We're anxious to sell it immediately, so we've put the low price of $595 on it. [illegible] this Auburn at once.

STUDEBAKER ROADSTER. Big 6. Here is one of the most beautiful open car buys [illegible]. Was traded in by a wealthy polo player, who gave it exceptional care. Has [illegible] green finish. Has hundreds of dollars worth of extra equipment, including snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Rumble seat is very roomy; has snappy performance and the appearance is unusually attractive. Special for $650.

NASH COACH. A famous aviator owned this car and took care of it personally; he kept it in top-notch condition, for today it looks like a new Nash and the tires have little mileage and the motor has a world of power and pep. The appearance will satisfy the most exacting buyer; has 4-wheel brakes and a wealth of extra equipment; $585.

WILLS STE. CLAIRE SEDAN. This is a remarkable buy. A wealthy family wanted a [illegible], so they sacrificed this car at a low price; every detail of this car is practically new; the tires have little mileage and the interior has not a worn spot; the finish is like new; has a sweet running motor; equipped with 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Today $445.

CADILLAC COACH. Undoubtedly one of the best used car buys today. Was given very careful attention by the original owner and now it's in new car condition; 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, shutter front, etc. The finish is bright and shiny and the expensive upholstery appears unused. Tires have little mileage. Motor has been carefully checked over and today it's in top-notch condition. At $1,085 this is an unusual buy.

BUICK COACH—A recent std. 6. "I only used this car to drive me to the golf links and back," said the retired Elmhurst business man, who formerly owned this car; has extra equipment; 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. The blue finish on this Buick glistens like a new dollar and the upholstery has not a worn spot. At our price of $585 it will sell quickly.

CUNNINGHAM TOURING. This expensive car can be obtained at only a fraction of its original cost. Has shock absorbers, trunk rack, 2 spare tires, etc. It's in splendid condition and it will not remain long at our price of $250.

CHANDLER SEDAN. One of the very latest models. An advertising executive used it for a short time and he gave it wonderful care. 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tires, etc. In splendid condition. It's a bargain at $445.

FLINT BROUGHAM. It's in fine running condition and it surely looks like an expensive car; has 4-wheel brakes, seat covers, bumpers, spare tires, etc. If we priced it at $1,000 you would think it a fair figure, but in order to sell it at once we marked it at only $345.

LINCOLN TOURING. An attractive, fine performing car with very full equipment. This Lincoln is exceptionally clean throughout and it will not remain long at our price of $285.

PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN. 5 pass.; series 36; that will satisfy the most discriminating buyer. Every detail is in excellent condition and there are many valuable extras. Only $345.

ERSKINE COUPE. A recent model Erskine with rumble seat, that is in such new condition that the tires are not yet worn smooth. By acting quickly you can get a practically new Erskine at a tremendous saving. Equipped with 4-wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. At $585 this cannot be duplicated.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. This 1927 Hup was driven so little that today it is the last word for sparkling performance and beautiful appearance. Because of business reasons the former owner told us he wanted a larger car, and that's the only reason he traded in this coach. If you examine it carefully you'll be forced to admit that it's top-notch in every respect. Has very full equipment. Only $650.
